Radiation interaction with matter * Spin 1/2 * Adding Angular Momenta * Isotopic Spin * Rotations and Tensor Operators * Identical Particles * Second Quantization * Atoms * Molecules * Relativistic Spin Zero Particles: Klein-Gordon Equation * Relativistic Spin 1/2 Particles: Equation Dirac These lecture notes compromise a three-semester graduate course in quantum mechanics given at the University of Illinois. There are many texts that present the basic topics very well; but since a large amount of material discussed in my course was not available to students in basic manuals of quantum mechanics, I was asked to prepare written notes. Gordon Baym has remained in Illinois since his arrival as a frequent visitor to the Nordita and Niels Bohr Institute in Copenhagen, and has also been a visiting professor at the universities of Tokyo, Kyoto and Nagoya. His main research interests were the physics of condensed matter in systems from liquid helium to neutron stars and high-energy nuclear collisions. He is also the author of lectures on quantum mechanics. Leo P. Kadanoff left Urbana for Brown University in 1969 before joining the University of Chicago in 1978, where he is now John D. T. MacArthur Distinguished Service Professor of Physics. After early research into Green's functions, he returned to study critical phenomena near the phase transition, and then toward urban development models, his research now aims at turbulence and chaos in multi-particle systems. For his work he is a critical phenomenon, he received the Buckley Award of the American Physical Society, the Wolf Foundation Award and the Elliot Cresson Medal from the Franklin Institute. 501 CitationsBoson Wave EquationsSpin-1/2 Dirac Equation © 1996-2015, Amazon.com, Inc.
