Ashley furniture bedroom sets

If you've ever enjoyed one of our videos and thought: Gee, this mattress looks cozy, but I love this furniture - you're in luck! In this review, I'm going to take a closer look at all the parts you've seen in our reviews so that people looking to live out their sleeping space can get some decoration inspiration! From bed frames to carpets, almost every furniture came from the Coke Taiga collection by article. Article is a furniture company designing modern and contemporary pieces in the middle of the century with an appreciation for simplicity and attention to detail. Founded by four software engineers, an article aims to combine the beauty that surrounds us with an efficiency that calms us down. The TAIGA dresser collection I have in my bedroom are from the Taiga collection — both made of solid American white oak on sniffy iron legs. This rich, dark color is a wooden stain called rustic smoke and has a kind of vintage, minimalist feel that I love. They are about 18 inches tall and 19 inches wide, and weigh about 20 kg. So, they have a heavy, heavy quality. You can find that dresser for $299 a piece. Some of the assembly is required, but according to the people in the article, it should only take about 15 minutes, and of course each piece comes with instructions set up. When we got up the nightstick dresser this time, it only took about five minutes, so I think the guys at the particles overestimate the construction time a little bit. The darker bed frame you saw is also from the Taiga collection, and it's called a queen smoke bed. Made from American White Oak veneered wood on blackened iron legs, this frame is so solid and sturdy that it doesn't actually need to be placed against a wall. It also has a simple, modern aesthetic and I like it leaving enough space underneath to put baskets or other storage. According to an article, it takes about 45 minutes to set, and you can find it on Article.com for $999.To match, Taiga Smoke 4 dresser drawer is also made of solid American white oak on black iron legs. It has a kind of chic industrial aesthetic and again, it's very sturdy and heavy about 75kg. Set up for this dresser should take about 15 minutes, and you can find it for $799 on the Article.com the carpet under the queen smoke bed is called The Grey Dove Crush Carpet and it's 8 x 10. It has a velvety feel and is made of 100 viscose. It was a woven hand, so each carpet may vary slightly in size and color. No installation is required, of course, but they recommend you use a carpet surface to move underneath. You can find this piece for $599.Then there's the carpet for an ivory-skinned lana throw that's my personal favorite. Made from 100% New Zealand and Australian sheepskins, it has a super soft and soft feel. No definite instructions, you just throw it everywhere you think Best! We loved them so much that we had three - two in ivory and one in grey. And because they're all unique, they each have their own shape. You can find these carpets to throw at $369 a piece. In the light next to the bed in the Taiga's bedroom, I have Caddo's desk lamp. I have it in gold but they offer copper and nickel metal finishes as well. It is very stable and heavy, made of steel, marble and plastic. About five minutes of assembly is required to put this lamp together, and it costs about $79.So, because about does it for the Taiga collection in this room, but there are additional styles to be seen on Article.com, so check it out! But for now, let's take a closer look at the Coke collection.CuLLA collection starts with one drawer dresser, this mid-century style piece is from the Coke collection. It's solid, strong, made of speckled American white oak. The article suggests this work in walnut and white as well. Again, quite strong and heavy weighing about 13 kg and nearly 17 inches tall. You can find this piece for about $399.My in the Coke collection is the Oak Bench. He's got a buttoned-up seat on an American white oak frame. I have the Grey Mist with oak style here, but the article offers other padding combinations as well. It has two soft, close drawers that offer plenty of storage, and is very strong at about 40kg. About 15 minutes of assembly is required, and you can find it for about $749 on Article.com.The Coke bed frame is also made of diluted American white oak and coordinates the foggy gray upholstery of the oak bench. It is about 79 inches wide and sits on short, sharp legs. It certainly has a mid-century modern aesthetic, depending on the article's signature style. About 45 minutes of assembly is required, and it costs about $1199 on Article.com.The Culla three-drawer dresser is also made of diluted American white oak, and has a very clear mid-century modern style. Like all dressers on cokes and tying lines, these drawers are soft and close to allow for quiet opening and closing. It's a solid tree with steel runners, so it's very sturdy and quite heavy at 50kg. About 15 minutes of assembly is required, and you can find this piece for about $999.For lighting in the Coke Room, I have a bedside lamp called a black torch table lamp. It has a curved and compact black matte stand that offers an attractive contrast to the brass-colored hue. It has a simple assembly that should only take about 5 minutes, and you can find this lamp for about $49 The other lighting I have in this room has more of a unique style to it. It's called The Road and it's pretty clear where he got his name from! It sits on a concrete base which, once again, provides a nice contrast to the subtle shape of pellets Shell. It is decorated in a contemporary style and a large Edison bulb is included in the lamp. There's no need for assembly and you can find this lamp for about $69.The larger carpet in the Coke room is called the Texa Carpet, and again, it's a woven hand. It is made from a mixture of wool and the same same threads, so it is very soft and soft under your feet. It retains the contemporary style of the article, and because they are hand-woven, each carpet is going to change slightly in size and color. You can find this piece for $499. All these parts and more can be found in Article.com, and can be shipped anywhere within the U.S. and Canada.The people in the article (or as they call themselves, the particles) know that our bedrooms are the places we can feel most relaxed in the house. The cosy-chic style of their furniture is designed to add comfort and durable design to the place you lay your head, as well as add a little more fun to the furniture hunting experience. I recently had the pleasure of meeting with the teams from the land of nods and pottery of the children's barn. We don't do much with children's design (though stay tuned for a playroom makeover in our June issue!), but as I have a preview of the new products they have going out for spring and summer, the only thing I kept thinking was, wow, I want it! Take these storage containers, for example. Sure, they'll be great in a play room, but they'll also look good in a bright, casual living room. This pink bed? Great choice for the drawing room (it also comes in slightly more modest waters). For thos who like beautiful things, the side tables or carpet below will only be at home in an adult bedroom. Along with dark grey, grey or light natural wood, lavender or pale pink can be quite sophisticated. P.S. Nod Land also has a really fun blog, for craftsmen among you.
