Warriors name generator silverpelt

Looking for a Warrior name to role-play with? or one to use as a username? Or need a name for a fanfiction? This Warrior Cats Name generator can help you find the name you're looking for! The name in the generator is taken directly from the book. This is not to say these are the only names allowed! I just chose to put the previously used words in this generator. But you can always choose your own words that have never been used in books. Yes and will never have a 'default' or 'canon' list name allowed for a name. Erin can only come up with a lot of names after all! Simply click the create button and it will select a random pre premedo and the pre-empress was previously used in the book to make a name! But again you can always change it with your own words and be creative :). Each name from the Prestor and Factor page is in the generator. However, generators do not include the premedo 'Thunder', River, Wind, Shadow or Sky as these are real names that should only be used by the original Clan Leaders of their respective clans. The generator is only for Clan Warrior, or perhaps the name Medicine Cat, so the 'kit', 'paw' and 'star' smoothies are also not included. I've also set it up so that the premedox and the premedo can't fit, so there's no Leafleaf or Splashsplash! Special Thanks to Squirrelpaw from the Warriors Wish forum who compiled this list of canon names, see the original page here: Warriors Wish forum. So click away and luckily find a name you like! Your warrior cat name will appear here! Spoiler Warning ----- This site may contain spoilers on the Warrior Cats series. I tried to keep the main information in the 'Inside The Story' menu. Kittypets and Loners/Rogues receive names like ours, they are often chosen by their parents, or by a Kittypet's Twolegs/Housefolk and often won't make much sense. However, Clan cats and to some extent Tribe cats pride themselves on their names, and while sometimes only normal or random, they can often have profound implications for them. Clan cats all have unique names, they can range from simple, silly to very meaningful. Clan cats can be proud of their names in a special way when named Warrior or Medicine Cat, which is a great honor for them and an important moment in their lives. When Clan cats are born, they are usually named by their mother and/or father. Their names will always end in 'kit' while they are still in the nursery. Their name will usually mean something, based on the color of their skin or after their personality, or again can only be chosen randomly by their parents. For example, a cat with a bushy tail can be named Squirrelkit, a white cat that can be named Snowkit or a slightly lesser cat that can be called Rowdykit. Or in various cases they can be named after a cat that may have passed away and is very important to parents. But in other cases, the name can actually be a normal or just random name like Breezekit or Bramblekit. Some parents will always be more creative than others when it comes to names. When the kit is six old moons, they become an Apprentice or Medicine Cat Apprentice in a ceremony specially made by Clan leaders. During this ceremony, they will be named their Apprentice, where the end of their name is changed from 'kit' to 'paw' (Squirrelkit will become Squirrelpaw). Once an assn. completes their warrior training, they become a warrior and the name of a warrior in another ceremony. A Warrior's name differs from Kits and Apprentices because they are always different. The 'leg' ending is changed to another word chosen by clan leader, the new word can mean something like the way they were originally named, after their appearance or character or it can only be chosen because it fits well, or again can be a name plucked from the beginning of the Clan Leader at the time! For example Squirrelpaw can become Squirreltail, Squirrelflight or Squirrelfur. Medicine Apprentices also has a new name. When they go to share tongues with StarClan on the half moon, their mentor will perform a ceremony where they will give them their full medical cat name. This is done in the same way as a warrior's name and like their name may or may not make sense. Once the name is received, they will continue to serve with their mentor as a full Medical Cat, even if they are still treated like their Apprentice sometimes. When a Cat becomes a Clan Leader, they must share their tongue with StarClan, when StarClan will perform a special ceremony where they will give them their nine lives and their Clan Leader name. The last part of their name will be changed to 'star'. For example Squirreltail will become Squirrelstar. Exceptions However, there are a few exceptions to this. In some cases, a name may be changed if the cat and Clan Leader agree their old name no longer represents them. Their names can be changed in a special ceremony conducted by Clan Leader. For example a Warrior may want to change their name after an accident such as losing an eye, perhaps because they lost their eye in a life-changing battle. They can change their name from something like Squierretail to Oneeye. There are also special cases where a name can be given before it will usually be given. This usually happens when an orthothotho person is dying. Clan Leaders can perform a special ceremony in which they name their Warrior Es learned early, so that they can travel to StarClan as a warrior. It can also be done if an Apprentice is injured and cannot become a warrior. They may be given a Warrior name to represent the Warrior they will get. Another exception is when outsiders join clans. There are a few cases where a former Kittypet or Loner has asked to keep their own name even after becoming a Warrior. This can be frowned upon by other cats as not actually becoming a warrior. In SkyClan, many KittyPets joining the Clan compromise by mixing their Kittypet names with warrior mestixes, such as Billystorm. The history of the Tribe is a mystery and the way the cats inside them have been named has changed over time. Only Naming style is known. The Tribe Of Rushing Water's cats also have special names, however their names often remain the same throughout their lives. Tribe cats are often named by mother, and was named after the first thing the mother saw after she gave birth to them. For example a cat can be named Wing Of Swooping Eagle. Due to the length of their full name, they often shorten them to the first word when referring to each other, so the above example will be called 'Wing'. The naming of tribe cats is also problematic because one would think that a breastfeeding kit-mother would be trapped in her burrow resulting in a lot of Kits called 'Stone Wall Of Cave'. However the Tribe cats seem to have many different names, so this may seem a bit strange. The main exception to this is when a cat is selected as a Leader. In this case, they are named Teller Of the Pointed Stones or StoneTeller for short. They can also be called Healers (Unlike clans, Tribe Leaders take on the responsibility of leading the Tribe and are Healer as a Medical Cat in Clans). The only other exception is in the rare case of an outsider joining the Tribe. In this case, they will usually keep their own name, and not receive a name like that of other Tribe members. The Ancient Tribe Cats, (ancestors of modern Tribe Of Rushing Water) seem a little different from their modern descendants. Little is known about their way of life when they lived by the lake before becoming The Tribe Of Rushing Water but they seem to live together in the same way as Clans and Tribe. All that is known about the names of old cats is that they are taken mainly after nature. Examples include things like Half Moon and Fallen Leaves. They appear to be a shorter version of The Tribe Of Rushing Water's way of naming cats. However it is not known how the name was chosen, whether by the mother as the Modern Tribe or by other means. It seems that although they had a leader, their name did not stand out from any other cat and followed the same two from nature-based models. The only other form of ranking known as 'Sharpclaws' seems to be equivalent to Clan Warriors or Tribe Prey Hunters/Cave Guards, however like their name Leader does not stand out and seems to follow the same pattern as the rest using two words nature patten. No other rank or special name is known to have been used. Rock is the oldest known cat to have existed, and was thought to have been a leader of a tribe (believed to be one of the three tribes that existed at the time) long before the clans were born. It is believed that these tribes were the ancestors of the ancient tribe of the rushing water tribe. The name Rock is all that is known by the names that the tribes may have used. Is that always his name? How was it chosen? Does it make any sense? We don't know. Spoiler Warning ----- This site may contain spoilers on Warrior Cats.
