Auctioneer Suite provides you with the tools and data you need to make these difficult auction decisions with ease. From shopping to accommodation, Auctioneer Suite provides time-tested tools to allow you more time to actually play your characters or play the market. As you'll soon discover, it's much more than just an Auctioning AddOn, the Auctioneer Suite also shows in-depth information for all gaming items such as those used in quests or recipes, charming, milling, exploration and more. The latest release supports both BFA and Classic. Retail will just work, but there are a few caveats for the classics from the team... Same postal, both games. C) There are additional downloads on the official website. Support for the WoW Classic, with two important caveats: (1) A faction specific AHs have not yet been implemented, for now all scans are treated as one big AH. This way you can only scan one faction of AH at the moment, or at least know that you will cause some statistics problems if you scan both/all three factions of AHs in the immediate vicinity of time. (2) You will need to download outdated addons into a classic customer. At the moment, there is no way to specify the TOC interface, which works both in retail and in the classic, so we will need to make some changes to our build system to support the classic TOCs. We thought you'd better find working add-ons before we wait for us to fix it. No ETA yet on when this will be done. Addons have been an integral part of World of Warcraft since the game was first released in late 2004. They can greatly improve your gameplay and just make your life in WoW easier. And since the auction house is the focal point in the game economy, we decided to give you a detailed look at every WoW Classic auction house addon and more! Please note that we focus only on addons that are compatible with the Classic client, on the basis of which the official servers are based. While they are not as complex as some of their retail counterparts, these addons will inevitably make it easier for you to track your server's AH. Can you use addons in Classic WoW? Absolutely! Addons are a fundamental part of Classic WoW gameplay due to the fact that the vanilla user interface is not as extensive as the one you'll find in retailer WoW. So, the use of addons can improve your gameplay in a variety of ways such as quest assistants, damage counters, status bars, etc. What is a WoW Classic Auction House addon? Classic AH addons are designed to make it easier for players to buy and sell goods on AH, as well as figuring out how to maximize their gold mine in the process. And while you'll still have to visit the nearest AH, these addons come with great extra features that are designed to smooth things out as you make these auction decisions. However, some of these auction house addons are more advanced. Advanced. they have additional features that let them know which mats they need to work out certain things that they can create an auction. Which ones are the best WoW Classic auction house addons? For those of you looking for the best WoW Classic Auction House addon, we've prepared a list of the most popular and best ones out there: TradeSkillMaster 4TradeSkillMaster 4 is the most advanced and challenging AH addon for Classic WoW at the moment. It offers a complete package to use your AH effort through various features. You receive information about all kinds of crafts with an accompanying rank, as well as craft reports and estimated profits. TSM 4 also provides a carefully detailed list of all the necessary materials with a craft queue for added convenience. In addition, this add-on also includes detailed information about your sales, expenses and total profit. All of this comes with a caveat though, as you will initially set aside a significant amount of time to properly learn how to make the best of TSM 4.AuctionatorAuctionator offers simple functionality that is perfect for taking care of your everyday auction house needs. In fact, it will help you sort different stacks of items based on unit prices, as well as current availability and the lowest price of the item. In addition, you can also place multiple items at once and the Auctioneer also allows you to split the stacks for simpler and faster sales. And if you want, you can spam buy a button to buy more than one item of the same type. Last but not least, all the buttons and features are well integrated into the main AH window, which initially appears when you speak to an auctioneer. AuctioneerAuctioneer is a simple AH addon that was first released in 2006 and now, this addon also comes with classic compatibility. This allows you to buy and place auctions and also helps you figure out how to maximize your profits. In addition, this addon will give you detailed information about each item in the game. This includes quest items, various recipes and more! Auctioneer Suite also shows detailed information for all gaming items such as those used in quests or recipes, charming, milling, exploration and more. Are there any external (not in-game) auction houses for WoW Classic? Yes, in fact, we have our own external auction house for Classic WoW. This means you can buy and sell a variety of classic WoW related things - just like you do in the AH game, but with real money! You will find hundreds of different offers on our external auction house under different categories such as gold bids, different and even classic bills. Is there an auction house in WoW Classic? Yes, in fact, there are a total of 9 auction houses in the classic world of Warcraft. You can find all these AHs in official classic servers, although some of them are faction specific. Where is the Auction House WoW Classic? There's an auction house in each of the capitals in the classic, and the three neutral ones distributed by Azeroth.Here are their locations and then, that their respective factions status: AllianceDarnassus (Teldrassil) - Found in Terracelronforge Merchants (Dun Morog) - Located in front of the main entrance (opposite the bank) Stormwind City (Elwyn) City (Tiristal Glades) - Located in the middle ring of the center UndercityOrgrimmar (Durotar) - This is the 3rd building on the right, When it comes from the main entrance, Thunder Bluff (Mulgore) - Found in Lower RiseNeutralAuctioneer Grizzlin (Winterspring) - Found in Everlook, where the bank is the first building on the right (if it comes from the southern entrance) Auctioneer Graves (Stranglethorn Vale) - Found in The Booty Bay, it sits on a drawer near the bankAre auction houses in WoW connected? Yes, they are - all AHs in classic are linked. This means that you can buy or sell items placed by players from both factions, so you can (knowingly or unknowingly) trade with players from the opposite faction. Conclusion There is no doubt that addons are an integral part of almost the arsenal of every WoW player. And when it comes to making a profit by buying and selling on AH, a WoW Classic auction house addon can help you immensely. So what's your favorite AH addon for classic WoW by the way? Let us know by dropping a comment! Displays product information and analyzes auction data. Use/auctioneer scanning on AH to collect auction data. No3.6.1 (Platip) This AddOn is licensed under the GNU GPL recently updated to point out this Git Repository: Here has not played WoW a good year and has just finally returned. Thought I would share some of my auctioneer tricks, tips and maybe even call it a guide. Let's start from the beginning! --- AddOns and auctioneer --- If you're serious about making gold, you'll need this AddOn! It has got tons and tons of great opportunities for making it so easy and efficient to make gold at auction. When you find out this AddOn, it will be no-brainer to make gold! Mail will save you a lot of time in your inbox! If you need to deal with 300 emails a day, it's good to get things automatically and calculated for you. Collecting gold, surpassing, items and expired auctions, Post count gold and prints how much you earned! Bagnon with Bagnon, your 5 bags merge into 1 bag! This little AddOn also supports the search in your bag, it stains your items (common, unusual, rare, etc.) and some other features. Highly recommended for easy search and sorting! Market Watcher is also highly recommended by AddOn! This AddOn will track the specific items you choose to track, and displays the price item in a beautiful view in doing so you can see when the item is most worth it during the week. Will go into it more deeply about how it should be used. LilSparky Workshop This AddOn is also a huge money maker combined with the data auctioneer! What else is great about this AddOn is that it supports many other professions such as Advanced Trading Skill Box (which I use). Skillet and the standard user interface. This will require some configuration, so I'll talk about it more later in this guide. Advanced Trading Skill Window What's special about this little kid, is that he can stand in line! It also has to buy the necessary mats on the supplier, like vials, for example, and it also has a global scan character for this Mata. So if you have a Frost Lotus on your hunter and yours on the Druids, he will say that your hunter has x Frost Lotus. Also works with the bank. But the main feature that I love: the queue. No more waiting for 'This item' to do, queues of items. All you have to do is press one button when this item is made created, then it will move on to this other item! --- AddOn Configuration and Explanations No --- LilSparky Workshop Here's a workshop review: As you can see, left of the elements for craft, there are a number. This number represents (with the letter/symbol) the profit of the goods. Basically, what it does: stands - mats and profits But it's not the default config. It's optional settings, but I prefer those (to bring up the config, right click on the number: For the cost of the price, it uses the value of the appraiser. I hope it makes sense, it's hard for me to explain. What other config does, take the lowest ransom he's seen on AH and use this for the mat list. check ah to see if there's a lot of item, otherwise change it to the market to be 100% price right, but you can skip some good deals. other: experiment and adjust. It will change through auction, disappointment and supplier. Default based on what's worth it most.) As you can see here, I'll be losing gold on the Bloodstone Band and Crystal Chalcedony Amulet, but I'll be making a profit for Craft and DE Crystal Citrine and Sun Rock Ring. LilSparky's Workshop does the calculation on its own, and the price is used by the auctioneer's histogram, which is updated every time you scan. To do this: be sure to do a scan before playing with lilSparky's Workshop. --- 'Fast Review' --- with the auctioneer, lots of new features and to do that, it has to expand the auction house with some new tabs and buttons. Here's a new one when you open the auction house: We've got a search panel, search, appraiser, post and and tabs and set-up. Let's look at the search. Every time you visit AH, you have to do a search. If your computer is fast enough and the connection is stable/ping is low, you can do a super-search that will scan the entire auction house in less than five minutes! It's a good idea to do a daily search in AH. The more searches you do, the more accurate the data that will earn you more profit. Let's take a look at tab searches. At first glance, this can be intimidating, but don't worry. When you find out, it couldn't be easier. On the left we have panels with some different titles: Welcome, search engines, filters, options and settings. I'll be back later, it's just a briefing. Next, the appraiser. When you are going to place your goods in AH, you have the following two options: Mail and Appraiser. I prefer to take an appraiser, but it's entirely up to you! As you can see here, what an appraiser offer is the opportunity to view AH when listing your items. So you don't have to look for the AH that it's worth, the appraiser undermine it automatically. You also always have the option to choose the price yourself. That the appraiser never undermines auctions with 12 hours left or less, and 80% discounted auctions (green labeled!) To the post office! The message is just a poster for your items. Just like the appraiser, if you drop an item that you would like to post, you can see what it is currently selling on AH by clicking Refresh. I'll finish with Bincanter. As you can see here, with Beancounter you can track how much you earned for a particular item. I earned 183g from September 30 to November 3rd on Infinite Dust. It's also possible to see who I sold for how much and what the network was (AH takes a 5% cut every time you sell something there). It's a smart and good way to track what sells good and bad. Do monthly research on your most popular items to track if you lose or make money! --- configurations and explanations and --- I'd like to show you my configuration for the Auctioneer features that I use. You can make a profit on all of them, but as I'm not Scriper, I'm not tuned to Milling for example, but it's pretty much the same as Disenchant Tho. Let's start with ... Spraying! Start by setting the profits you like. This means that when you buy an item, frustration and resell charming mats, it is the profit you will get from it. I like 3g profit, so I also take into account that my Infinite Dust, for example, does not sell up to 100%, but perhaps only 90%. So I'd still make, say, 2g profit. Remember that this is not the maximum profit, but the minimum. You can easily make 10g on one DE. Be sure to check use custom levels yet it will come back with nothing. Min. Skill 325 and max skill 450 will only list Northrend gear. Yours Manufacturer - Resale. This is where you'll make your money. Resale scans the whole AH for things to buy, flip through and make a profit! It will take some time to check the list, but be sure to sort by Pct (percentage). Thus, the most attractive items come first. To do this, to be a huge money producer, you need to know some of your AH prices for the most common things. By the way, don't forget to look after the poisoned items. Someday, you'll find an item that the auctioneer believes is 234225g worth it because someone has poisoned your data by listing it for that amount of gold. Config, as you want, doesn't have much to do here. Set the profit to the value you are satisfied with, 10g works great with me. Now to my favorite - Snatch Long Before the Cataclysm was announced, I made a lot of gold with jewelry. I made these amulets, disappointed them and made a huge profit from dust and essence. Now I just wanted to buy all the rare gems, craft them in sockets and supplier them. Raw gems sold for 3.5g each, and the outlet goes for 4.5g. So what I use Snatch for, is to snatch for all rare gems under 4.49g and list them for me (as you can see right). This means that it will only list gems under 4.49g and it will recommend me either a bet or a redemption on it. I'm doing this, just click the Buy button. What you will config is a list to snatch for, at the price you want. Making a Netherweave bag or Frostweave bag and only looking for fabric just under xx gold? Snatch it! Seller - It's true Yes, these are true people. Some people have listed items in AH less than this vendor value. What this search engine does: it finds all the items that are listed for less value than the vendor, and offers you either to bid or buy on them. It won't be a moneymaker anyway, but you can make some gold for doing almost anything at all. List Configs I don't like to wait for 2 - 48 hours when I bet on something. I want my items now, but if there's a great offer, I don't mind bidding. I configged only a list of 2 hours or below auctions in the category: snatch, resale and general (common, like a regular search, check out the panels on the left). Real Time is a feature that searches while watching AH. You turn it on by clicking on the magnifying glass in the view tab, next to the search. Check out what search you like in real-time search. For example, I grabbed the rare gems. If I did a manual search, with Realtime on, and he founded a gem less than 4.5g for me, he would tell me and give me buy it or leave it. Never use it, I'm better at how to do a full scan and then do manual searches. An informant is all the information you see in the tooltip under your subjects. Check as you like, I like these configs. Not much else to do here. To get to the informant config, there is a slide bar right right Your mini-map. Click on it. It's a section of pruned config. I like to undermine my opponents with 1s1c, but 1c will work just as well. Drag sliders as you want, but 20% below the market and 10% above the market work just fine. 'Point to the cut with the amount of the coin' to choose if it is undermined with a fixed value or pct (1% here). 1s1c or 1c is better. This is a config evaluator, you should really only change the default listing time (12 hours, 24 hours or 48 hours). I like 24 hours, it gives everyone the opportunity to see your item (s) and with 48 hours, the chance to get trimmed is pretty big. Remember that the scale of the deposit fee over the listing time. I personally love EasyBuyout and EasyCancel. With the right click and modifier (Shift), you can oneclick the foreclosure auction or if you've listed a really lot of flasks, for example by mistake, it's easy to undo them all. You can also set the amount of gold to maximize EasyBuyout use so you don't buy a lot of expensive items by mistake. This is the Mail config. As I don't really use it, I don't have a good config for it, so go config as you want. However, I took what I consider most reasonable. The latest extra Config If you don't like the auctioneer spamming your general and shopping channel, you can earn a separate channel just for the auctioneer. I did a small tutorial for you, showing what you should: From now on, all your Auctioneer Related stuff will only spam that channel, so you can oneclick the trade of good deals! It's certainly optional, but I think someone would like it --- Golden Tips/No --- I'd like to finish my guide with some few tips and tricks. This section is dedicated to misc. tips that do not belong directly to the auction and auction house, but still does. Follow along. WoW Toplist Not many people know that Blizzard has a 'Toplist out' section on its web page. This page shows you a list of the best players in a certain category. Below: Auctions SoldSys Dangerous CreaturesGet ItemsToter Items Completed We are interested in Toplist Auctions sold. Set days. 7 for a better view. This Toplist gives you a list of the best-selling auctions in 7 days. It gives you a great place to start, something to focus on. As you can see, Netherweave Bags are quite popular. How in the world should you know that without looking up this list? I recommend checking the list every week to see what sells great. End Thanks for reading my auctioneer/auction house guide! As I put a lot of my free time into this guide, I would really like to get some feedback on it or through or PM. I hope this guide has given you an idea of how the auctioneer works and how you can make easy money with it too! If I get some time, I'll try to clean it up a bit. Have a trick or website to share and want to add it? Please, Please Enjoy the last edited Black Gull; 11-16-2010 at 06:48 pm These ads disappear when you log in. Graz is on having such a huge patience to do it all, but I see no reason for this post - the auctioneer will die if everyone just start doing it. Awesome guide! I've always wanted to use actioneer, but never knew how to do it. This guide helped me and I started using it right away. Thank you glad you guys liked the guide! I just updated the last section with Toplist WoW and will do a further update a little later. And would say a huge part of the community uses already uses this addon, but still I still make tons of money from AH. If you are afraid to give away your tips to make money because everyone will start using them well, you are on the wrong forums! LOL With this being said, that's why ELITE forums exist, so there are things that have very good exploits or very good guides that would be destroyed if everyone knew about them posted there. I think this guide is good though for what it does. Well written and a lot of effort put into it. Thank you a bunch of people. Is there a way to close the Auctioneer after doing business without having to log out and back? As he eats some FPS using 30mb memory. I like the auctioneer while waiting in the BG queue. Thanks, I checked it out a bit last night and now I'm 300g richer just for resale and selling about 10 items. Sweet guide! Helped me a lot! Rep x4! @Rasmus - Can I recommend using Addon Control Panel? Just create two profiles for it: BG Queue and BG Time or whatever you want to call it. Then, when you're queueing up on the battlefield, you just switch to that profile. When the battlefield is ready, you'll just switch the profile again. That's really good. @Rest - I'm glad you liked it. If I see something worth adding, I'll do it last edited by Black Gull; 11-11-2010 at 5:14 p.m. Thanks for helping a lot! Rep awesome that more 3 is a good recommand anyone knows what to dial for a keydown to confirm the box when placing a few items in the appraiser originally published by Black Gull Glad you guys liked the guide!
