Leaving in the back door Freezing to breakdown the emotional cold communications overload was across a wall of fire Now I feel like the white ash drill passes on the idea that I'm on the run I keep running out of my shade I'm not the one One Place in the distance taking Someone's flight destination just fade into the light There's so hard and done but afterwards afterwards all the time had come to leave it all behind if you could see it in my eyes you would know I tried to change it all I tried all my life to stand every time I fell if you could see it in my eyes I feel sadnessed up my turn in the future from me I stand here alone with open arms again tomorrow by no strangers to no strangers There will be a lucky star and love will find it in someone's way that Troo would be so tearful No time to be confused is just the echoing of our night song If you could see it in my eyes You would know I would try to change it all I was trying all my life to stand every time I fell if you could see it in my eyes You would see it all I was trying to stand every time I fell if you could see it in my eyes You would see it all I was trying to stand every time I fell if you could see it in my eyes You'd see that love will always wait somewhere outside there is my life a new love that comes If you could see it through my eyes Through my eyes What was it meant forever to break all apart what was meant forever to leave the hole inside my heart which was meant forever we cast it all that was meant forever and forever is not forever and not there was nothing but a game What was meant forever is to break all apart what was meant forever Ухожу через черный ход, Замерзая оп холоде. Связи разрушены, Перегружен эмоционально. Я прошел сквозь стену огня. Я чувствую себя сейчас тлеющей золой. Машины проезжают по автостраде, Мой разум на бегу. Я продолжаю убегать от своей тени. Я не одинок. Где-то в дали Кто-то совершает перелет. Место назначения неизвестно. Меркнет свет. Так много сказанного и сделанного. Но в конце концов Пришло время оставить это все позади. Если бы ты мог посмотреть моими глазами, Ты бы узнал, что я пытался все изменить. Я все свою жизнь старался Вставать каждый раз, когда if you could see with my eyes... I feel the sadness of all over my body. The next time is in my hands. I stand here alone with open arms. Tomorrow is not a stranger. The lucky star will be bright. And love will find its way into a person's heart. It's too late for water in tears. This is no time to be embarrassed. It's just an echo of our night's singing. If you could look with my eyes, you'd know I was trying to change everything. I've tried my whole life to get up every time I fall. If you could see with my eyes, you'd know that love will always wait. A place outside there is my life, a new love that will meet on my way. If you could see with my eyes... With my eyes ... With my eyes ... With my eyes ... What was to say was forever broken. What was so surfing forever leaves an injury to my heart. What has been so forever, we have been cast down. What was meant to be forever was nothing but a game. What was destined for them could be eternal. What was destined to be forever ...
