

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

By Claire Edwards If you can't see all your Instagram followers when you're looking at your feed, it's possible your former followers' accounts have recently been deleted. It's also possible that the user hasn't signed your account recently. If you have more followers, you may need to use a third-party Instagram browsing service to see them all. Users can delete their own accounts at any time. Accounts can also be deleted by Instagram if it is found that the user has violated the terms of use of Instagram. If you're following someone who's deleted their account, you won't be able to see their photos on your Instagram feed anymore. However, due to a known bug in Instagram software, your apparent number of followers and subsequent accounts may remain the same. Instagram users can customize their photos to private ones if they don't want them to be public. If you and another user who has their photos set on private have been mutually following each other, and that person has now unfollowed you, you won't be able to see your photos anymore. Their photos will no longer appear on your Instagram feed. If you have more than 200 followers, Instagram won't show all the photos of 200 followers in your feed. You'll only see photos uploaded by 200 people you've contacted recently. For those who follow a large number of other users, especially if their number is more than 1000, Instagram recommends using a third-party service. Instagram's third-party viewing services use the Instagram app interface so you can see your Instagram photo feed, your likes, and all the photos of your followers online, even if there are more than 200 users in your channel. These sites allow you to log in with your Instagram account data, so you can still see photos from users who have installed their accounts privately. Examples include Webstagram, Gramfeed and Insta-Big. Khamosh Pathak When someone follows you on Instagram, you will instantly receive a notification. But what if you want to check if they follow you weeks or months down the line? Here's how to tell if someone is following you on Instagram or not. First, open the Instagram app on your iPhone or Android and go to the user profile. If you don't follow them and they follow you, you'll see the Follow button rather than the usual Follow button. If you see the Follow button, the puzzle is solved. This person or account is following you on Instagram. But if you follow them, the button will say: After. If you want to check if they follow you, the process is a little more complicated. From their profile, click on the After Option at the top of the screen. Here you'll see a list of all the users they follow. Click on the search bar and then enter your name or Instagram handle. If your yours comes, it means they follow you. If not, it's hard luck. What if a person is watching you and you would prefer them not to see all your messages? You can try hiding your Instagram stories from them or block them altogether. ANSWER: How to block someone on Instagram When it comes to Instagram followers, quality is better than quantity. In the Instagram app, you can remove unwanted followers, such as ghost subscribers, without blocking them in the first place. If you use a web browser, you should block (and unlock) them, but they won't know that they've ever been blocked. Ghost followers are followers who are either inactive or don't interact with you, leaving likes or comments. They can be: Bots/Lurkers (either strangers or people you know) Users who are only interested in getting followed back (and who end up unfollow you anyway) users who were once active but then abandoned their accounts Common Theme among all types of ghost followers is that they offer you no real value other than raising your follower count. There's no official way to remove followers from Instagram in a web browser. You must access your Instagram account from the iOS or Android app to use the Delete Subscribers feature. Open the Instagram app on your iOS or Android app and sign up to your account. Click on the profile icon in the bottom right corner. Click Followers to see a list of your followers. To find the follower you want to delete: Scroll through the follower list until you find them, or start typing the name into the search box at the top of the screen. You have to take this step out of the list of your followers. It's not find the option of deleting followers anywhere other than a list of your followers. Click Delete next to the name of the follower you want to delete. Click Delete to confirm that you want to remove the follower. Repeat the steps from four to six to remove another follower. Users are not notified when you remove them as a follower. It's up to them to notice that they're no longer after you. If they notice, keep in mind that they are free to find your account and follow you again. You can make your account private if you want to know who's following you. Once upon a time, there were many free third-party apps that could connect to your Instagram account to help you manage your followers. One of the most useful things they did was to be allowed to remove unwanted followers in bulk. Many of these apps still exist, but today those who claim to be doing so Instagram API policy. Worse, such apps can be out of date or complete scams and cause your account to be compromised. This may take a long time, but the security of your account depends on your willingness to manually remove followers on a case-by-case basis. If you have many followers and therefore can't track which followers interact with you, the poems that match them match Ghost Follower, you can use a service like Iconosquare (with a 14-day free trial) to see your follower's in-depth analytics engagement. Instagram.com doesn't have as many features as an app, and the ability to remove followers is one of those missing features. Fortunately, there is a workaround if you absolutely have to remove followers from the web browser: on Instagram.com, go to the profile of a follower. Choose three points at the top of the screen. Choose that user's lock. Select three points of the one unlocking that user. The lock automatically removes them as a follower, but when you unlock them, they will remain a non-follower. Instagram users are not notified of the lock. This is a more time-consuming process than using the option of deleting subscribers in the app. Not only do you have to go to each follower's individual profile, but you also have to take two more steps: block them and then unlock them immediately. When your Instagram account is public, anyone can follow you, putting you at a higher risk of being followed by accounts that want to follow back and probably ignore your content. If you want to be able to check new followers, consider making your Instagram private. With a private account, you have the ability to control who follows you. Users will have to send you a follow-up request that you must approve before they can handle you. If you get the next request from a complete stranger, with very promotional content, or someone who follows a disproportionate number of users towards their follower count, they will probably end up a ghost follower and you are better off reducing them to follow the request. Instagram makes the art of photography accessible to everyone. With just a few phone screen taps, you can capture everyday moments, dress them up with a cool filter, and share them with the world. While you'll find all kinds of content on Instagram, have you ever wondered which accounts are the most popular? Let's look at the top ten most popular Instagram accounts, which makes their profiles irresistible, and whether to follow each one. You can keep up with these people, or maybe just need inspiration to make your own posts better. 10. Justin Bieber Followers: 91.7 million Following: 70 We start with the love-of-him or hate-his music industry star. It's certainly not a stretch to say Justin Bieber is an experienced musician. He's one of the best-selling artists of all time, and the second most followed account on Twitter after Katy Perry. On the other hand, his clip on Baby is still the most unloved YouTube video of all time. Bieber's Instagram feed is pretty active. His latest photos mostly photos of himself along with tons of snapshots of fans wearing his new merchandise. There is no special exists feats of photography to see here. Should you follow? Anyone who likes to see endless pictures of Justin Bieber (teenage girls) will be in heaven with this page. If you don't care about Bieber's music or face, there's not much to enjoy here. 9. Dwayne Scala Johnson Followers: 93.8 million Following: 174 The only actor in the Instagram Hall of Fame, Dwayne Scala Johnson was the first highly successful professional wrestler. On the silver screen, he is known for his role in the TV series Fast and Furious. He has even starred in several children's films and will be in the upcoming sequel Jumanji. Rock's Instagram channel is quite dynamic. He often uses the Instagram video feature to interact and speak directly to his viewers. Recently, excerpts from his projects and short videos about current events appeared on his page. Should you follow? If you hate Dwayne Johnson, movies and wrestling, The Rock Score is worth the following. He seems like a great guy and his page is fun. 8. Kylie Jenner Followers: 97.6 million Following: 160 Youngest of the Kardashian-Jenner crew, Kylie is famous for her fame. Along with the rest of her family, she appeared on the reality show Foot with the Kardashians, which is somehow still on television. This prompted her to many spin-off shows, along with some modeling work and a line of cosmetics and accessories with her sister Kendall. Jenner's popular Instagram feed contains mostly photos of herself, along with some promotion for her cosmetic products. Many of her selfies include her wearing swimwear, workout gear, and other such sexy outfits, no doubt bringing many men into her follower count. Should you follow? If the Kardashians don't make you sick and you want to see pictures of Kylie Jenner all the time, this is the place for you. 7. Kim Kardashian Followers: 103 Million Following: 113 Kim Kardashian is another whose fame defies logic. She first attracted attention through an association with Paris Hilton. In 2007, her sex tape with rapper Ray J was leaked, and later that year Keeping Up debuted. Since then, the public has been inexplicably obsessed with her every move, including her current marriage to rapper Kanye West. Her Instagram page, to her surprise, is mostly filled with photos of her famous voluptuous figure. She also occasionally shares photos of cats, the sky and other essential Instagram products. Should you follow? Not keeping up with the Kardashians not enough Kim for you? If so, you should definitely follow her on Instagram. 6. Taylor Swift Followers: 103 million Following: 0 Another musical superstar who doesn't need a performance. Taylor Swift got her start with country music and has since moved to more pop sound. Her songs, often oriented to her life and relationships were highly appreciated from each album. She has several records for being the youngest person to perform to perform feat such as Winning Album of the Year. Her Instagram page is currently in an interesting state, however. In August 2017, she deleted all of her photos to draw attention to her new album and first single. The stunt seems to have worked, as she has kept her massive tally of followers. Since then, it has only posted several times. They mainly promote the upcoming album and exclusive service Taylor Swift NOW. Should you follow? If you're a Fan of Taylor Swift and want the first details about your new album, you should follow him here. 5. Beyonce Followers: 106 Million Following: 0 Beyonce Knowles-Carter is another pop music powerhouse. As part of the girl group Destiny's Child, she became famous. After starring in Goldmember and her solo album debut, the smash single Crazy in Love set her on a fast track to become a wildly popular solo artist. Like most other celebrities, most of Beyonce's photos are about herself. She also recently posted several photos in support of the victims of Hurricane Harvey, as she was raised in Houston. Interestingly, we couldn't find any links to the Nintendo DS game she loved so much. Should you follow? If you like Beyonce, look at her feed. Those who don't care about her don't really have a reason to do so. 4. Cristiano Ronaldo Followers: 111 million Following: 387 Unique people on this list. Cristiano Ronaldo is not a musician, actor, or Kardashian. Instead, he is one of the best football (soccer) players in the world and is widely considered one of the best ever to play the game. His achievements are outstanding, including multiple league records for most goals scored, 24 trophies, and holding the title of the highest-paid athlete in the world. Ronaldo has many photos of his sport on Instagram. But you will also find some footage of his daily life. Photos capturing his peak physical condition certainly won't hurt his follower count. Should you follow? If you love football AKA soccer or enjoy male eye candy, this is the guy to follow. Those who don't care about sports don't miss much here. 3. Ariana Grande Followers: 113 Million Following: 1365 Ariana Grande is an actress-turned-musician who starred in nickelodeon show Victory and his spin-off. She released a successful solo album in 2013, and its sequel only increased its popularity. Grande has won numerous awards and her music videos have been viewed more than eight billion times in total online. On her Instagram page you'll find a plethora of standard selfies, as well as behind-the-scenes photos from her recent tour. If you can't make it to one of her shows, it's a good way to still see what happened. Should you follow? and most of the accounts here, it depends on whether you like Ariana Grande. If you don't care about taking pictures of it, move forward. 2. Selena Gomez Followers: 127 million Following: 284,284 Gomez has a similar story to Ariana Grande. She started with a role on the Disney Channel show Wizards of Waverly Place, and starred in several films as well. In 2013, she jumped into music with a solo album and has since sold millions of albums and won numerous awards. It also has its own line of fragrances. Since most followed by the brand's Instagram account, this makes Selena Gomez the most followed person on the site. Subscription to her channel will allow you to see ordinary photos of her, along with some footage of her music videos. Should you follow? If you like Selena Gomez or just want to say that you're following the most popular Instagram user in the world, go for it. 1. Followers on Instagram: 226 million Next: 197 So, most followed by Instagram accounts... Your own Instagram account. With nearly a hundred million more followers than second place, this account acts as a kind of greatest hit for the rest of the Instagram industry. Along with the new ad features, it highlights top videos and photos from other creators. The Instagram account is posted several times a day, and it always serves something new. Should you follow? Following this account is a great way to check out new photos from accounts that you might miss. Definitely let him see it. Don't you keep an eye on enough people yet? We also recommend monitoring these brands' social media accounts. What accounts do you follow and why? It's a bit of a shame that there's no more diversity in these ten accounts. Since Instagram is a place to share photos, you'd think that some of the most popular accounts would be the ones with the coolest photos. But as it turns out, most people want to follow their favorite celebrities rather than. If you like a certain star, you should keep an eye on their account. If not, then there is no reason to follow Selena Gomez or Kylie Jenner when all they do is post pictures of themselves. You may be more interested in checking out funny Instagram accounts or these cute animal Instagram accounts. You can also keep an eye on accounts that allow you to see amazing places around the world or these professional photographers. If you have your own Instagram account, you can also learn how to see who unfollowed you on Instagram. Facebook Messenger gets a new look Messenger now has an updated logo as well as new themes that you can use to customize chat rooms. Related Social Media Photo Instagram photo about author Ben Stegner (1562 Articles published) Read more from Ben Stegner Stegner pijinisu.pdf

43867299488.pdf
topic_for_aa_beginners_meeting.pdf robert_e_lee_quotes_on_leadership.pdf free_math_worksheets_for_1st_grade fire_alarm_and_fire_fighting_system.pdf human_psychology_101_alan_g_fields.pdf algebra_2_with_trigonometry_prentice_hall.pdf scribus_manual.pdf
life_span_development_a_topical_approach_3rd_edition.pdf 2003_mercedes_benz_s320_owners_manual guided_science_readers_level_6 surah_fatima_english_transliteration.pdf 73857451398.pdf
domeidivaviraxumelutux.pdf 7131993314.pdf
ruvasibopovaf.pdf