You're in the right place. In my previous post How to write an invitation letter for us Tourist Visa (With Samples) I talked about how to write an invitation letter for someone who intends to visit a friend or family in the United States, and I also gave sample letters to illustrate my point. In this post, I'm going to talk about how to write an invitation letter to attend a conference in the United States. This type of letter is usually written by an organizer of a conference to the U.S. Embassy/Consulate on behalf of a visa applicant, who is seeking a visa to the United States to attend the conference. What is a Visa Invitation Letter? Like all other visa applications, when applying for a U.S. visa, the affected authorities will be sure that you will visit the United States for the purposes you have provided and that you are not going to stay longer than you stated or try to work illegally in their country. As mentioned in my previous posts about what documents you must provide when applying for a U.S. visa, if the reason for your trip is to visit someone, attend a conference, medical purposes, workshop, summit, seminar, attend a university etc, you need to show an invitation letter from the welcoming person or organization as may be the case. As the postal title implies, we will focus on invitation letters to attend a conference. Also remember that the visa applicant is seeking a B1/B2 visa, as this type of visa also covers to attend conferences in the United States. How do you write an invitation letter to the conference? Here are the main the invitation letter for visas when attending a conference: Date embassy name, address, phone number. Opens greetings. Invite person/organization name, address, phone number, email ID. Applicant's name, Passport number. Reasons for invitation. Registration number for the organizer of the conference. Details of enclosures/attachments (conference brochure). End greetings. The body of the letter shall cover the following necessities: Whether the costs and expenses of the guest will be covered by the host. Where the guest will stay. A detailed itinerary for the conference dates. And other additional information.
