Aquasana's entire home filtration systems are a household solution designed to reduce harmful contaminants from your family's tap water. Whether you use city or well water, we have a device to meet your needs. We offer a 600K and 1M gallon Rhino whole home system for urban water designed for the last 6 years and 10 years, respectively. Our 500K gallon Rhino system is the entire home made for private water well, and is designed for the last 5 years. Our entire home filter system is easy to maintain over time, and come with a sediment pre-filter that catches rust, silt and other sediments present in your water. The water then passes through two filters: an activated carbon filter and a copper-zinc mineral stone filter designed to reduce chemical compounds such as pesticides and water-soluble heavy metals, respectively. The benefits of a whole home water filter system When you invest in the entire home water filter system you get healthier water flowing from every tap of your home, which means cleaner water for cooking, doing laundry, bathing, drinking, and more. Our 600,000 gallon RHINO unit is NSF tested and certified to reduce up to 97% chlorine, and all of our units have been tested to reduce harmful pollutants from your drinking water. Here are some of the benefits of Aquasana's entire home solution: Reduce the contaminants in the water Get healthy skin and hair Improving the taste and quality of your food and drink Provide healthy water for your pets and plants Improving indoor air quality from reducing pollutants in the water Update your entire home water filtration system You can upgrade your entire home unit by adding salt-free conditioning to prevent scale free of harsh chemicals or salt, or add an upgrade to the UV filter for bacteria and virus protection. Our pro-class installation kit offers upgraded brass that make your system easier to install and maintain, more pre-filter, and a post-filter that catches any remaining sedimentary or carbon penalties that may have gone through filtering. For additional protection, combine the entire house water filtration system with a drinking water system. Choosing a whole The water filtration system for your home is an important decision to make for you and your family.
