He was almost taught at school, and everyone knew it. And it seems that such scientific knowledge is extremely boring for many people. Thus, the human evolution of Clicker Game: Rise of Humanity will be a fresh breeze, helping many people no longer bored with it. The evolution of human beings from being small cells to being the most advanced species has been described in detail and sequence. In general, there are still funny adjustments that make it an attractive simulation game for many people. But mostly, they are all accurate and attractive. The game is fun and sometimes unreal, so the design also has creativity. With 2D graphics and bright colors, the characters in the game get a fun look, but also describe all the characteristics of real creatures. But later, when you're playing to the point of developing more than the current person, the projects will be 100% creative team. Fantastic images of the human future make you admire. They go beyond the imagination of the players, so stay calm and enjoy the game. Human Evolution Clicker Game: Rise of Humanity is easy because it works in the style of a clicker game. This means that players will experience everything with simple touches on the screen, and the task will be seen in a simple, easy-to-understand process, without riddles. First, you will possess single cells and must combine them to align into a creature of the highest form of life. Then, when life starts to branch out, and there is variety, you have to choose. Find ways to combine many species of animals to create new species. Creatures bred are very diverse, make people feel surprised. Interest is maintained regularly when players want to see what kind of animals they will create - feeling like a god. If the evolution of the body is too slow, then you can buy these crystals for acceleration. You'll see the results of your creations quickly. Evolution does not stand still. Start evolution fun right now! Unlike other evolutionary games, Human Evolution Clicker Game: Rise of Mankind does not bring a meaningless mixing process. The requirement of the game is the creation of a post-human, form of future human growth in the chronology of the game. Going through the stages of microbes, crabs, fish, lizards, seals, dogs, monkeys, troglodytes and ancient humans, players will create different human species such as cyborgs and intelligent robots with different shapes. Sometimes the creatures you create have the same shape and ability as superhero characters; sometimes they will look like mythical gods. After reaching this level of evolution, players can also bring this transcendental species to reach other planets and continue their unlimited development journey.
