Title: Director of Intelligence, TBWA Chiat/DayAge: 44Has Held Title For: 3 Years With Company For: 4 YearsPrecedable Work: Information DisseministDegree: BA, Social Sciences; MA, Library and Information SciencesWhen account managers at TBWA Chiat/Day want to know something - from what is sexy, how to keep people out of jail - they consult with Central Intelligence. As director of an intelligence firm, Velda Ruddock (velda_ruddock@twachiat.com) leads extensive files on markets, clients and competitors from a high-tech wing at the flashy Venice advertising agency, California headquarters. Why would an advertising agency have its own CIA? Intelligence is not just about providing data or synthesis of information. It's about thinking and linking the right things together to move forward. So intelligence isn't just another name for research? Right. We're detectives. It's about getting over what we know that we don't know, what we don't know, we don't know. How do you know when you're doing something? Hair rises in your arms when all the pieces suddenly fall into place - often just turning the question on its side. For example, when, for United Airlines, we explored different cultural attitudes to flights. I asked how flying fits into people's dreams. Do they fly? Or do they fly? What's best for an intelligence officer? It's in the blood. I ask questions of everyone. I also read a lot of secrets and watch Secret Materials. They are located in distributed data centers over the network, such as the Internet. This paper proposes a new cloud computing model called ITS-Cloud, applied to intelligent transport systems (ITS) to improve traffic performance such as road safety, transport performance, travel reliability, informed travel choices, environmental protection and road resistance. It consists of two sub-models: statistics and dynamic cloud sub-fems. In the first case, the vehicles benefit from the usual benefits of the cloud however; A dynamic cloud that is a temporary cloud is formed by the vehicles themselves, representing cloud data centers.
