I can watch the recently scanned feeds and everything on catching up... but I get 403 bugs when trying to view live channels. It was two and a half weeks old. I logged into the chat a few times and they keep telling me that they dropped it - I have to go out, restart, log on again, etc. but still not a joy. In the last chat, they said they would escalate into the technical team and I have to wait 72 hours - its now a full week later and it still doesn't work and none of the technicals contacted me. Anyone else with this problem or some guidance please? His T95 Android Tv box one suggestion I got was to remove the DSTV app and reinstall - but when I bought this device it was pre-installed and came with a warning never to update the version as it would not work thanks to Hello Everyone else have a problem with DSTV Now Live TV Channels is not working at all? Next time you buy an Ematic/LIT box, then you don't have to sit with issues like this. Well, it's not working right now, so you have nothing to lose. Next time you buy an Ematic/LIT box, then you don't have to sit with issues like this. I'll do it, but only at the last minute ... hoped that I was not the only one with this question, and perhaps someone understood the solution. I just find it really weird that recently considered channels of work, but none of the others do. Its T95 Android Tv box one suggestion I received was to remove the DSTV app and reinstall - but when I bought this device it was pre-installed and came with a warning never to update the version as it wouldn't work thanks to the starting point version of the neighbor has a cheapie Android box, which exhibited the same symptoms, approaching the channel numbers differently with the mouse with the wheel, she was able to scroll down to the channel she wanted to see. I can ask her for an accurate model if you need it, if it is not a registered Google device like the Xiaomi Mi box or Telkom Lit box - the DSTV app is probably the side loaded (hence why they warned you not to update it) I'll never use anything again. If it's not a registered Google device like the Xiaomi Mi box or the Telkom Lit Box - the DSTV app was probably downloaded (hence why they warned you not to update it) I had such a device and got rid of it and replaced it with a Xiaomi Mi box! I'll never use anything again. Get the App again and look for the old version.
