With Box, you can safely store files in the cloud. You can also access information wherever you are at any time. This intuitive app syncs information from your desktop and phone. It is a handy tool when you are in meetings or away from your desk. With Box, you can share the necessary files with your colleagues or update documents from your mobile device. There's also the ability to view different types of files and enjoy full-screen quality. When you install Box, you get 10GB of cloud storage for free. You can add extra security to more sensitive files with file-level security controls. You can access your information and folders offline for added convenience. You can view documents and stored files using a real-time search tool. There is also an easy way to share large files with friends and colleagues. This is done through the link-sharing method. All you have to do is copy the automatically generated link and you're good to go. It's a versatile cloud storage program because you can save photos and videos too. The download speed is slow at times, but in most cases it depends on your network connection. Box is a secure, fast, and user-friendly system to manage important files wherever you are. If you have a phone, you have access to all your important information and folders at the touch of a button. Where can you run this program? This app requires Android version 5.0 and up. Is there a better alternative? No. Box is a reliable cloud storage system for Android phone users. DropBox works in a similar way, but with less space. Switching to cloud storage makes it easier to access files. Box is a safe and secure place to store your information. It's an effective tool and a top-notch folder management option while you're out of the office at any time. Should you download it? Yes. If you find yourself away from your desk and need critical information on the go, this is an effective system to use. It's probably true that kids shouldn't keep expensive smartphones or tablets. They have a penchant for destroying these things. However, if you are brave, your mobile device can be a small window into the world that can entertain your kids for hours and sometimes it can even help educate them! Here are the best Android children's games. AndrobabyApp's children's gameFisher-Price gameFooFoo KidsGoKidsPrice: Free / Options (usually about $1.99)Androbaby is a developer on Google Play. They did quite a few children's games. Some of them are perfect for small Some of the games include First Words for Babies, Baby Farm Games, Baby Flashcards, Animal Sounds, and Color Training for Babies. They have games for the elderly too, such as 2048. Most games are free with advertising. You can usually remove ads at a nominal price. Those who subscribed to google Play Pass get most of the Androbaby games for free. App's Child GamesPrice: Free/Options (usually about $1.99-$2.99) App quiz is another developer on Google Play. They also have a decent amount of good children's games. Some of the titles include Baby Puzzles, Baby Musical Instruments, Baby Balls, Toddler and Baby Games, Car Wash for Kids, and a few more. The games are simple, colorful and noisy. They are essentially just mobile versions of real life children's toy games. Every game is free to download. There is an advertisement if you stick to the free version. Paid versions remove ads. Fisher-Price Child GamesPrice: Free/$2.99 EachFisher-Price is a huge name in children's entertainment. They make a lot of toys that you've probably seen before. They also have a bunch of children's games on their mobile phone. Most games range in price from free to $2.99. This makes them easily accessible, even for those with a tighter budget. Free, usually, have no advertising either. There are games that have nursery rhymes, hide and look, counting, and sound games. Several games contain multiple games in one. They don't all work at home. However, most of them have to work very well. FooFoo KidsPrice: Free/Options (usually about $0.99)FooFoo Kids is another app developer on Google Play with a bunch of children's games and games for older kids too. It may take some searching to find the child's appropriate games. However, they have super simple things like a balloon popping and coloring app that should require virtually no effort for kids to play. All FooFoo Kids apps are free. Some are in the app purchases, but we haven't found one that cost more than $0.99. This is a worthy generic option for children's games. GoKidsPrice: Free / VarietiesGoKids is another developer that makes a lot of children's games. Most of them are not educational. They can find some educational things thrown out as well. Their biggest games include Animal Farm, Baby piano zoo, learning form, and Ocean Bubbles Pop. Most games are free to play with advertising. Usually you can pay to remove that ad. Some are for older children. It's just something to keep in mind if you run into one that's too hard for your child. GunjanApps StudiosPrice: Free/Options (usually $1.99-$3.99) is another developer on Google Play who makes children's games. There aren't as many as some other studios. However, they seem to be doing very well. Some of the best games include balloon pop, preschool kids, alphabet for kids, baby shapes, and Baby First Words. Some of them work very well. Others have a few mistakes that affect the gaming experience. We recommend checking user reviews to see what is what. Most are free to download, but the free version may have advertisements. The premium version of these children's games is usually relatively inexpensive. KidLandPrice: Free with Buying ($4.99 per month)/$39.99 per yearKidLand is actually one of the best mobile children's games available right now. It boasts over 300 mini-games, interactive videos, nursery rhymes, stories and more. Most things can be downloaded for offline use. In addition, no version of this app has advertising. However, it has many different ways of paying. You can buy things as individual purchases in the app. There is also a subscription service that gives you access to all of this. The app is fairly good with a lot of things to do. We understand if this subscription price seems like a bad idea, however. We're definitely not fans of it, either. However, this one offers more than some developers offer throughout its catalog, so it's worth looking at. Lively Mind is another developer on Google Play with a bunch of children's games. They now have about half a dozen titles. They cover topics such as singing songs, simple puzzles, rhymes, music, and some common things like animal sounds, fireworks, balloon popping, and more. The games are relatively simple and most kids should have no problem with them. Apps also work without too much trouble. Unfortunately, the free version contains ads. However, premium versions are inexpensive and they remove advertising. Magic Joy DoodlePrice: Free /0.99Magic Joy Doodle is a simple drawing app for kids and adults. You draw things in bright, neon colors on a black background. Then you can play the whole sequence back and re-watch what you have drawn. There are several different color variations, different doodle drawings, and you can save images to share on social media later if you want to brag. The color of randomization and ease of use make greater for younger children and the premium version is also pretty cheap. Talking Tom GamesPrice: Free Top PlayOutfit7 is one of the most popular developers on Google Play. They do Talking Vulture series games. Some of their titles include My Talking Tom, My Talking Angela, and many others. Each game is a little different from what it was before. Their latest name, My Talking Hank, is actually a game where you take care of a puppy named Hank. It's all very charming. It may be too much for some kids. However, they are free to download. Make sure your password protects your Google Play account. They have in-app purchases. If we missed any of the best children's games for Android, tell us about them in the comments! You can also click here to check out our latest Android app and game lists! There are a bunch of different types of car games. Some of the simulation, other racing games, and others are still puzzle games. This genre has grown quite quickly on a mobile phone and it is one of the most popular genres in all mobile. Racing games especially have some of the best graphics of any mobile mobile. So it's a great genre for eye candy as well as customization. There are a bunch of car games out there. Some of them are pretty good. Some of them are great. Let's take a look at the best car games for Android.Aspalt 9: LegendsCarX Drift RacingCSR Racing 2Dirt Trackin 2GRID AutosportPrice: Free to playAsphalt 9: Legends is the latest game in one of the most popular racing franchises on mobile phone. You get a metric ton of campaigns and spin-off missions to complete along with a pretty competent multiplayer. In addition, the graphics are pretty good, there is a ton of unlockable content and you can team up with other riders in the clubs. The controls are a little easier than previous games, and that's good or bad depending on your preferences. It's a fantastic arcade racer, though. You can also try Asphalt 8: Airborne and Asphalt Xtreme if you want something a little different. CarX Drift RacingPrice: Free to playCarX Drift Racing is a drift racing game. It has a bunch of content for the simplicity of the room. This includes campaign mode, more than two dozen cars to unlock, ten tracks to play through, and ghost mode. Ghost mode allows you to race your best time on the tracks you have completed. He has flaws. There is not any cloud saving and that sucks. It's also not a very big game. It doesn't make it bad, but it's something to keep in mind. CSR Racing 2Price: Free to playCSR Racing 2 is one of the most popular drag racing car games on your mobile phone. The meat of the game includes a campaign mode that is becoming increasingly difficult. It also includes a bunch of cars to unlock as well as online multiplayer mode. The cars are also customizable and upgraded for a better look and faster race time. Like most freemium games, it has things like an energy system that you have to wait for from time to time. The graphics are fantastic, but the endgame of the game leaves much to be desired. Dirt Trackin 2Price: $3.99Dirt Trackin 2 a little diamond in the rough when it comes to car games. It has solid mechanics, controls and settings. The game also comes with five car models, the real world, as well as fictional tracks and career and drivers, a career mode of five cups, three management schemes and adjustable difficulties. Races can be long, but they are rarely annoying, and we like it. The graphics are clearly old school compared to most games on the list. You definitely don't play that eye candy. However, everything else about it is just great and it is one of the few good car games with one price tag. GRID AutosportPrice: $9.99GRID Autosport is one of the new car games on the list and it is also one of the best. This is game for one price tag, so we already like it. The game also comes with more than 100 cars, over 100 races, scalable difficulties, and different types of racing. This is the port of the original GRID GRID The game is from Xbox 360 and PlayStation 3 days, and this version comes not only with a full game, but all DLC as well. It works with hardware controllers and it's basically as good as it gets in the automotive gaming genre. Hill Climb Racing 2Price: Free to playHill Climb Racing 2 is one of the most casual car games. The game uses 2D graphics. The controls are easy to learn as well. There are about a dozen vehicles to unlock and customize, upgraded car parts, and a bunch of races to play. This includes daily activities and community leaders too. Hardcore car lovers can be left wanting. However, we were told that it was a more casual experience of car games. It's also a freemium game, for what it's worth. Motorsport Manager Mobile 3Price: $3.99 with purchases in the Motorsport Manager Mobile 3 app is one of the best motorsport simulators on a mobile phone. You play the role of manager for the racing team. This means that you hire and train drivers, formulate pit stop strategies and even react to changes in the weather on the track. Players can watch the race or participate themselves if they want to. Also, elements of deep game strategy can keep you going for a long time. This is one of the good people, there is no doubt about it. Need for Speed No LimitsPrice: Free to playNeed for Speed No Limits is the last mobile game in a well-known racing franchise. This one is not as good as its console counterparts. However, this is not bad for casual racing fans. There are a bunch of cars to unlock, a bunch of race spots, and over 1000 race campaigns. A lot of this is pretty repetitive, but at least there are options. Don't let the name fool you. There are limits to this game. However, it's not half bad for a freemium title. Real Racing 3Price: Free to playReal Racing 3 is one of the most popular car games out there. It has also been around for a long time. The game includes over 140 cars, time tests, online multiplayer, and 17 tracks to race through. The game boasts more than 4,000 career events. However, with only 17 tracks, it will get repetitive after a while. This is one of the largest, most extensive racing games on a mobile phone. It should provide fun for a while. Just be careful on multiplayer. There is a bit of pay for winning there. Top Speed 2Price: Free playTop Speed 2 is the latest game in the popular racing franchise. This includes decent graphics, lots of content, and it revolves mainly around drag racing. You can customize and upgrade your cars, unlock more than 70 real car models, and participate in additional If you want to. Some other features of the game include three different cards, different difficulties, and leaders. However, the real story here is the setting. The game has thousands of car parts combinations, decals, colors and other settings. It's far from perfect, but most people seem to really like it!
