A new technique that only the great Leonardo can experience. Perceive the efforts and passion that the artist has put on this unique work in the world! Last Supper. You've seen the pictures, you've seen the reproductions, and you've even seen the parodies. Leonardo's masterpiece is so ingrained in our culture that the tour is absolutely necessary for any visitor to Milan. Santa Maria delle Grazie Leonardo DaVinci Secret within an hour and fifteen minutes, you'll be around the stunning Dominican church of Santa Maria delle Grazie, a fifteenth-century monastery and UN World Heritage Site. It was in the refectory of this church, in the 1490s, the Italian genius Leonardo DaVinci wrote one of the most recognizable works in the Western world. Commissioned by Ludovico Sforza, Duke of Milan, the great patron of the arts, who also gave his name to the famous castle in the city. The tour first takes you around Santa Maria delle Grazie, a breathtaking testament to the glory of Renaissance architecture, as well as the Monastery of Bramante, an oasis of tranquility, green and beauty in the church. Then to admire the masterpiece. Today, having survived almost 500 years of bombing during World War II, and several ill-conceived conservation attempts in the eighteenth century, the Last Supper is in a fragile state. In fact, in 1556 - just sixty years after its completion - Leonardo's biographer Giorgio Vasari found the painting destroyed. Today, restoration work has restored part of the painting's former glory, and copies exist, but access to the original is jealously protected. An extremely limited number of visits are available, making Leonardo's original masterpiece an exclusive treat. With this caveat, you have a guaranteed entrance, without having to wait in line, a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to see one of the most important works in art history. And with the help of an expert guide you will be accompanied at every step by anecdotes about painting, its creation, preservation, meaning and history. A truly unforgettable tour.
