can say that you better go to the doctor, usually in colloquial English. It will be concluded with you better go to the doctor. So we contracted the theme Andy had, especially when it's a protoun like me it has it. But we can also use it for names. So if I say imagine my friend John or Antony, say Anthony, my name. If I say that Antonia better visit his parents, because he has not seen them for a long time, Antonia better visit his parents. I can tell you my aunt needs a better job. Can you hear that? And we need to do better. So I contracted for both me and had to become on necessity and needed to better visit his parents so we could even contract the names. This is quite common, especially in colloquial English. Let's look at the second thing that should be noted, as I mentioned in the first lecture is better similar to the should, but not quite the same. Use was better to say it's a good thing to do now, and use should say it's a good thing to do overall. So look at these two examples of the sentence. It's going to rain soon, we better take an umbrella, so it's a good thing to do right now in this particular situation. It happens at this point. But look at the second example of wet rains. You should always take an umbrella. This is not a specific situation. That means it's a good thing to do. All in all, you should always do it when it happens. You see, for the first example, this is a specific situation. The second one is a common thing. Let's look at the third thing we should point out better is always used to talk about the present or the future. So, look at these two examples. Come on, we better leave, or we'll be late. So we are talking about the present. You can see the word now it's we better go now. That means we now have to go. We have to go at this point. The second example is talking about the future. We haven't seen my parents in months. We better visit them tomorrow. So tomorrow's word indicates what it says about the future. So it's an important thing to point out because it's better, although there was a tense verb in the past. If the past time is off there, but better not past time at all. He never talks about the past. It always speaks of a present or future that does not confuse the verb, if it is actually nothing to do with the past, always the present or the future. Now let's on the last thing you should mention. We often use, um, or otherwise, to say what will happen if we don't follow the advice. So look at this example. You better stop eating trash trash every day, or you'll get fat. You can also tell otherwise you will get fat. Yes, otherwise you will get fat. So they're trying to say if you don't follow my advice, it's going to happen. So it's a really important thing to point out, because using these words can expand your sentences when using it was better to use it anyway or otherwise say what will happen if you don't follow this advice, let me give you another example just to make the all clear. Imagine a new movie coming out next week, and I'm going to tell my friend that we better book a ticket, Ali. Otherwise we won't get the place you see. The bad thing that can happen is that we don't get a seat, so I used to. Otherwise I might as well use it anyway to make us better book early, otherwise we won't get a seat. The meaning is the same. So use these words to extend your sentences when using was a better 3. If it were better to speak practice (Master): speaking practice is better to listen to the sentence. Then pause the video and repeat behind me. Think about the structure we have studied and train your brain to master better. Start. Later it will be very hot and sunny. We better bring sunscreen and sun hats. You better set two alarms. Otherwise you won't wake up early tomorrow. Who else are we going to invite to the wedding? We'd better invite. Wouldn't Joan otherwise she be very upset. The new Marvel movie is out tomorrow. ID is better to book tickets now. Otherwise we won't get a movie theater place. Wouldn't you rather call your mother? You promised to call her today. You better close the windows and lock the door when you get home. Everyone is tired after a long journey. We better stay today and relax. Sam better not take my car without asking again. Otherwise I'll be very angry. Kahn is very busy there. You don't have to bother him for a while. You haven't paid rent in the last month. You'd better pay soon. Otherwise the landlord will be annoyed. The new Turkish restaurant is so popular. We better book a table early. George, your cool work and homework aren't good enough. You better try. Otherwise you won't understand the university. This meat looks bad. We don't want to eat it. Your car is completely dirty. You better clean it before you pick up Uncle Lee. The computer continues to crash and delete all my work. We better fix it. We haven't seen your parents in months. We better visit them soon. 4. If it were better to listen to practice (Master): listen better listen to me say sentence. Then pause the video and record what you hear. Click the game to see the text on the screen and check check Train your brain to master better. Start. My vision is getting worse and worse. I'd better check my eyes and buy new glasses.
