It's probably true that kids shouldn't keep expensive smartphones or tablets. They have a penchant for destroying these things. However, if you are brave, your mobile device can be a small window into the world that can entertain your kids for hours and sometimes it can even help educate them! Here are the best Android children's games. AndrobabyApp/yz children's gameFisher-Price gameFooFoo KidsGoKidsPrice: Free / Options (usually about $1.99)Androbaby is a developer on Google Play. They did quite a few children's games. Some of them are ideal for young children. Some of the games include First Words for Babies, Baby Farm Games, Baby Flashcards, Animal Sounds, and Color Training for Babies. They have games for the elderly too, such as 2048. Most games are free with advertising. You can usually remove ads at a nominal price. Those who subscribe to Google Play Pass can get most Androbaby games for free. App's Child GamesPrice: Free/Options (usually about $1.99-$2.99) App quiz is another developer on Google Play. They also have a decent amount of good children's games. Some of the titles include Baby Puzzles, Baby Musical Instruments, Baby Balls, Toddler and Baby Games, Car Wash for Kids, and a few more. The games are simple, colorful and noisy. They are essentially just mobile versions of real life children's toy games. Every game is free to download. There is an advertisement if you stick to the free version. Paid versions remove ads. Fisher-Price Child GamesPrice: Free/$2.99 EachFisher-Price is a huge name in children's entertainment. They make a lot of toys that you've probably seen before. They also have a bunch of children's games on their mobile phone. Most games range in price from free to $2.99. This makes them easily accessible, even for those with a tighter budget. Free, usually, have no advertising either. There are games that have nursery rhymes, hide and look, counting, and sound games. Several games contain multiple games in one. They don't all work at home. However, most of them have to work very well. FooFoo KidsPrice: Free/Options (usually about $0.99)FooFoo Kids is another app developer on Google Play with a bunch of children's games and games for older kids too. It may take some searching to find the child's appropriate games. However, they have super simple things like a balloon popping and coloring app that should require virtually no effort for kids to play. All FooFoo Kids apps are free. Some are in the app purchases, but we haven't found one that cost more than $0.99. This is a worthy generic option for children's games. GoKidsPrice: Free / VariesGoKids is another developer who lots of children's games. Most of them are not educational. You can find some educational things thrown out as well. Their biggest games include Animal Farm, Baby piano zoo, learning farm, and Ocean Bubbles Pop. Most games are free for With advertising. Usually you can pay to remove this ad. Some are for older children. It's just something to keep in mind if you run into one that's too hard for your child. GunjanApps StudiosPrice: Free/Options (usually $1.99-$3.99) is another developer on Google Play who makes children's games. There aren't as many as some other studios. However, they seem to be doing very well. Some of the best games include balloon pop, preschool kids, alphabet for kids, baby shapes, and Baby First Words. Some of them work very well. Others have several errors that can affect the gaming experience. We recommend checking user reviews to see what is what. Most are free to download, but the free version may have advertisements. The premium version of these children's games is usually relatively inexpensive. KidLandPrice: Free with in-app purchases/$4.99 per month/$39.99 per yearKidland is actually one of the best mobile children's games available right now. It boasts over 300 mini-games, interactive videos, nursery rhymes, stories and more. Most things can be downloaded for offline use. In addition, no version of this app has advertising. However, it has many different ways of paying. You can buy things as individual purchases in the app. There is also a subscription service that gives you access to all of this. The app is fairly good with a lot of things to do. We understand if this subscription price seems like a bad idea, however, we're definitely not fans of it, either. However, this one offers more than some developers offer throughout its catalog, so it's worth looking at. Lively Mind is another developer on Google Play with a bunch of children's games. They now have about half a dozen titles. They cover topics such as singing songs, simple puzzles, rhymes, music, and some common things like animal sounds, fireworks, balloon popping, and more. The games are relatively simple and most kids should have no problem with them. Apps also work without too much trouble. Unfortunately, the free version contains ads. However, premium versions are inexpensive and they remove advertising. Magic Joy DoodlePrice: Free /0.99Magic Joy Doodle is a simple drawing app for kids and adults. You draw things in bright, neon colors on a black background. Then you can play the whole sequence back and re-watch what you have drawn. There are several different color variations, different doodle drawings, and you can save images to share on social media later if you want to brag. The color of randomization and Use to make great for younger children and the premium version is also pretty cheap. Talking Tom GamesPrice: Free Top PlayOutfit7 is one of the most popular developers on Google Play. They do Talking Volume series games. Some of them are their include my talking Tom, my talking Angela, and many others. Each game is a little different from what it was before. Their latest name, My Talking Hank, is actually a sim where you take care of a puppy named Hank. It's all very charming. It may be too much for some kids. However, they are free to download. Make sure your password protects your Google Play account. They have in-app purchases. If we missed any of the best children's games for Android, tell us about them in the comments! You can also click here to check out our latest Android app and game lists! Desktop games have been around for a long time. The oldest board games date back to 3500BC and have since traveled a long way. Most of us can remember playing classics as a monopoly on more modern games like Pandemic. If you want to use your Android device to play them, here are the best board games for Android! Price: Free/$0.99 each AAI Factory Limited is a developer on Google Play. They specialize in basic board games and card games. They have exclusive versions of chess, checkers, backgammon, reversi, going, Sudoku, and even tick-tosh. The designs are a bit basic. However, the games function much better than the average. They are also inexpensive and free versions are usually more than good enough for most. This is the place to try first for basic things. You can also buy a super basic chess set for less than $30 if you want the real deal. CatanPrice: $4.99 and $9.99Cathane is one of the classic board games. It's also a favorite of our own Gary Sims! Each player must make calculations on the board. The goal is to make the longest road with the largest army. Each settlement is adjacent to resources with numbers. Every time the dice hits that number, you get this resource. The game also has original game tincture rules, online multiplayer, various extensions (available as in-app purchases), and more. This is a seriously good infused game and you can check out the real Catan (along with all its extensions) on Amazon here. Elder Sign: OmensPrice: $3.99 and $2.99 for DLCElder Sign: Signs is one of the old mobile board games. It's a mysterious game. You are looking for a board for various clues, secret items and other things. There's only so many things on the board. Each player has to compete to get the most out of it. This exacerbates the problem. The point is to beat the final boss. Setting up the complexity of the game determines the end boss. The game includes multiple complexity ratings, additional content (like in-app purchases), and more. It's a rough game sometimes, but it's part of the fun, probably. You can find physical copies on Amazon here! Fleet BattlePrice: Free /Up to $5.49Fleet Battle is a variant of the popular tincture game Battleship. The premise is almost the same. You will place your ships around the map, just like your opponent. First man to sink all boat boats Some of the game's other features include online PvP via WiFi, Bluetooth, or online. You will also get quick matches, medals (achievements), chat, and more. It's not as charming as the original. However, it's about as close as it gets on a mobile phone. You can find the real Battleship Hasbro game on Amazon here. Galaxy TruckerPrice: $4.99 and $4.99 for DLCCGalaxy Trucker is one of the new board games comparatively speaking. Players build ships to survive the harshness of space. You just draw tiles and place them to build your ship. You also have to dodge obstacles and fight the bad guys. The game also has local multiplayer, online multiplayer, campaign mode, and multiple game modes. The basic game costs $4.99. There is an additional DLC available for an additional $4.99 as an in-app purchase. A physical copy is also available on Amazon.Mini MetroPrice: $4.99Mini Metro is a simple game with a simple premise. You're basically designing a subway map for the city's transit system. The game includes 18 cities, various upgrades, and three game modes for different games. It's not too different from a trip ticket. Both require you to build a transit infrastructure. This one just has simpler graphics and a slightly different set of mechanics. We especially like the color blind mode, night mode and minimal graphic style. It's $4.99 without in-app purchases or ads. This game is also available for free to Google Play Pass subscribers. Mr. Jack PocketPrice: $2.99 Gm Jack Carman is another old infusion game on a mobile phone. This game has two main modes of play. One of the players is Jack Carman. The job of this player is to avoid the police and avoid capture. Another player plays the role of Sherlock Holmes and Watson. Their goal is to capture Jack Carman. This is a surprisingly good game in the mystery cat and mouse. The game also includes three difficulty modes, leaders, and a solo offline. It works for $2.99, but you get the whole game at that price. As usual, you can find a physical copy on Amazon here! One Night Ultimate WerewolfPrice: Free /$14.79 for the actual card gameOne Night Ultimate Werewolf is actually a companion app for tincture games. The game is actually a lot of fun. Players are assigned different roles in the game. Some are villagers and others are werewolves. The app tells players what they need to do. Then the players spend a few minutes trying to figure out who the werewolf is. This one technically requires the actual parts of the game to be played. However, players can make their own cards and use the app to control everything. We recommend getting the actual game, however. It's good to creators, and you can buy a basic card game here. Pandemic: GamePrice Tip: $4.99 and $1.99-$2.99 for DLCPandemic is definitely one of the best board games ever. The game turns players into CDC members. Their job is to travel the world and disease before the disease becomes a pandemic. Each player gets his own role, which has its own ability and fall. It supports up to four people with a pass and play local multiplayer. There is also additional content available as DLC. It's a really fantastic infusion game. The price fluctuates so beware of this. That's $4.99 at the time of writing. There is a physical copy on Amazon here, but we actually recommend the Pandemic Legacy version if you get a physical copy because it's much better. The Elier ExplosionPrice: $3.49 and $1.99 for DLCPotion Explosion is one of the new Android board games. Each player has a set of potions to make. They collect ingredients, make potions and score points. The game has three levels of difficulty for the mode against AI along with online multiplayer. The basic game goes for $3.49 and you get the whole game. There is an extension available as an additional $1.99 in-app purchase. It includes more potions, ingredients and playable characters. It was a bit of a rough run, but it's pretty decent now. You can find a physical version here if you prefer to have it. SplendorPrice: $6.99Splendor is one of the simple board games. Players collect different items. The goal is to be the largest jewelry collector in the game. The game also has individual offline mode, local multiplayer and multiplayer game modes. In addition, it has a quick tutorial, various challenges to complete, achieve, and leaders. Problems require a player to do certain things in a certain number of moves. This is a great example of a real life infusion game mixed with a proper mobile gaming experience. The real version is a bit pricey, but people seem to really like it. Ticket to RidePrice: $6.99 and $4.99 for the DLCTicket ride is one of the most popular board games right now. Players control the railway. The goal is to build the longest railway and complete most of the tasks. The player with the most point at the end wins. The game includes seven cards, a solo game, local and online multiplayer modes, and even leaders. DLC contains additional cards and options to play. This one is excellent on both mobile or in real life. It's not too hard to learn and it's fun to play. There are a bunch of physical versions of this game. You can find them here. TokaidoPrice: $1.99Tokaido is one of the new and cheapest board games on the list. It has roots as a real real game and it's just a digital version of the video game. The game also includes a solo game, a multiplayer online player and a local multiplayer pass and pass for a variety of game options. This best with two or five players. Each player is a traveler and the goal is to cross Tokaido, one of the largest roads in Japan. It's a good, traditional real game with a few fun elements. Its $1.99 1.99 The tag makes it great for players on a budget too. The physical version is minimal and beautiful as well. TsuroPrice: $0.99 Tsuro is a tile-style tincture game. The game board is different every time you play. Players install tiles as they move to continue playing. They also lay tiles to try to frustrate their opponents. The game includes solo mode, cycle combat mode, and the longest path mode. It supports up to eight players through local or online multiplayer modes. It's also one of the cheapest board games on this list. Like the cherry on top, there are also 50 achievements to collect. This is actually one of the cheapest physical board games we've seen as well. Words With Friends 2Price: FreemiumWords With Friends 2 is the third game in a well-known board game franchise. This is one riff from the popular Scrabble game. You and your friends take turns putting words on the game board. The man with the highest point at the end wins. This version of the game includes online multiplayer mode, single player mode, and various challenges to complete. It also has a fairly large library of words that includes pop culture and other things. It's a freemium game and it's not great. However, it's still the best Scrabble-style game on a mobile phone. You can always opt for the actual Scrabble game as well if you want to! If we missed any of the best board games for Android, tell us about them in the comments!
