They were one of the first hardware partners to develop Chromebook. Chromebooks are a laptop or tablet powered by Chrome OS based on Linux as an operating system. They use the cloud to store most applications and data rather than the machine itself, as a typical laptop would. It wasn't until 2013 that HP released its first Chromebook, a couple of years after the first Chromebooks hit the market. They released HP Pavilion 14, the largest Chromebook on the market at the time however. In the same year they released Chromebook 11 and HP Chromebook 14. They released updated versions of both lines the following year. The 14-inch models are equipped with a Nvidia Tegra K1 processor, and the 11-inch model comes with an Intel processor. They have released several iterations of 11 and 14 inch models over the years and in 2019 released a 15.6-inch Chromebook. The HP Chromebook 15 costs less than $470, weighs less than 4 pounds and has a full-HD display according to CNET. Released in 2020, the HP Chromebook 14 was one of the best Chromebooks of 2020 by TechRadar. hp chromebook 14 g5 service manual
