One hour of life for mobile devices - RPG, No.1, No.1, quincy Unlike other representatives of the genre, where epic battles, fantasy creatures and fantastic worlds come to the fore, everything looks pretty ordinary. The player will control the character, who will just live his life. At the same time, every minute of real time will be for him a whole year. The main task of the hero is to leave the offspring and supply it with material and spiritual benefits. Description: This is an unofficial extended version of Jason Rohrer's board game One Hour One Life, adapted for Android. We've added additional game modes as well as changes to improve it on touchscreens. We are independent developers and the world of mobile games is in our servers.one-hour-one-life-for-mobile-v1.0.194-mod.apk One Hour One Life for Mobile - it's a great survival game created by Jason Rohrer, an independent programmer. The game is available on Android and iOS mobile platforms. In the game, your character can only live 1 hour or less. Every minute corresponds to one year in your life, which means that your life lasts no more than 60 years. So we need to do something useful. One Hour One Life attracts players with unique gameplay. Unlike other survival games in the game, the player is not the center, but plays a small role in order to advance human civilization. One Hour One Life APK for MobileThe game begins when the player appears as a newborn (sometimes an adult). You will start to grow under the tutelage of another player. Your latest mission is to live as long as possible and with thousands of other players to create a rich society. To do this, you need to learn to hunt, gather to survive. When you grow up, you have to take care of the other kids. The gameplay focuses primarily on prehistoric times with hard life and rough stone tools. Later civilization grows that players will be able to live in the modern world with machines, robots, etc. Many tasks in the game require the unity many people can solve. If you just love working alone, you can't go far in this game. One Hour One Key Life FeaturesOne Hour One Life for Mobile Brings a Lot of Interesting So you'll spend hours exploring all of them. In the game, what you create in your life will be good for other players - your next generation, helping them live happier. It really is a game of survival worth experiencing. Are you perfect for humanity? The answer will come when you play one hour of one life for mobile devices. One Hour One Life for Mobile Devices - This is an adaptation of Jason Rohrer's computer game for devices based on the Android operating system. Those who are familiar with the original version learn both cute, unique drawing of Jason, and sound, and a unique idea. In this world, you will be either the child of another player or a girl, if you have not found a mother. One minute actually fits the year in the game and your character can live up to 60 years. We are not eternal, but what we have time to create is inherited by children and grandchildren. Try to make life easier for those who come into this world after you, and then your family will prosper. You may find yourself in the desert alone. You will have to produce fire, not to freeze, and put traps on rabbits: meat will satisfy you, and from their skins you can sew clothes. Your faithful companion at the beginning of the game - a common sharp stone. Try to find a suitable place to settle and accumulate food - soon you can join other players in the role of your children. They will need to come up until they grow up and begin to help you. You can be born in a thriving city full of farmers, cooks, blacksmiths, shepherds and hunters. You will have to wait for clothes and equipment prepared by other players: perhaps your grandparents or even distant relatives. Maybe you will find friends and decide to create your own settlement. Or maybe you'll inherit your uncle's farm, or you'll hunt bears and wolves. There are countless options, but remember: if you haven't made the world a little better in life, consider what you've lost. In each next life you have to interact with new players. Someone will be more experienced than you, and someone will not. Someone will teach you new things, and from you. Perhaps someone will even want to destroy the civilization you are building, and then you have to deal with them. For a short time, until a new generation changes, the face of the world will depend only on you and those who play with you. When your life in the game is over, you can see your family tree and learn how your descendants do. Rejoice for the younger members of the family who have managed to reach maturity. After all, every generation of your family owes you to some extent: it was you who laid the foundation of your prosperity. Rating: (28 votes, 3.86/5) each person's life lasts an average of 70 years from birth to death. Around the same time, people live, grow, learn and prepare for survival in a harsh world. From time to time, ever since a new man appeared on Earth, in our time when the world's population has reached 7 billion. In fact, when compared to the great universe, the age of man is extremely short. If you are a god, you can live forever, outside the law of nature, the life of every human history is as short as an hour. One Hour One Life is a simulation of a game that allows players to recognize how small they are in the world. Everything happens in a person's life, only packed for an hour. But it brings a lot of emotions to the players. The Double Decade has created a whole new survival game. It prevents people from seeing the vast world without giving them a sense of disorientation in this life. He tells the player to see every scene, every situation, everything that happens in human life. In the future, it will become one of the most attractive games of natural survival. When participating in One Hour One Life for mobile devices, many different players will not have the same start. Because the game is prepared many conditions, many circumstances for the players. And when they start playing their lives, it happens randomly. Like human life, man has no right to choose his beginning for himself. In one hour one life for mobile devices, every year a person lives in a minute and people live up to 60. So one hour in real life is life in the game. You can be brought to the backstory when you can build an ancient civilization of the earth. Or you can be brought to a modern day where you have to work and be swept away in the whirlpool of life. But your only duty is to create value for yourself and prepare for your future generations. Material value and spiritual values are important. It's a mobile game, but one hour one life for mobile was a PC version before being much loved. His players are very enthusiastic and continue the journey of the life of the game after many years. If you're an old player, you will definitely support this version, and if you're a new yo player, u should learn it.
