Cassie & Matt gets married! When Cassie & Matt met at the wedding in the last seven years, they didn't hit it. With some help from their friends and family, they gave another shot. Their first official date was jumping from coffee shop to coffee shop. They don't want to last too long and be those guests. Five hours later, they knew their first impression was wrong. Both of these have been globetrotting since! Marriage Cassie & Matt at The Barn at Wagon Wheel Farm in Burlington is a brunch shed. Their morning ceremony began at 10:30 a.m., followed by a short cocktail clock full of coffee, mimosas and bloody marys. The big brunch followed and there was no empty stomach in the house! Since their ceremony was so early, Cassie & Matt saw each other for the first time coming to the icele. They both said this was their favorite part of the day. Matt says Not to sound the clich , but sees Cassie for the first time running down the icele. Secondly definitely all the nice things people say about me during speeches! Matt's advice to future couples should be brought to heart. It's our own personal philosophy as well. Keep it small and intimate if possible. It's great to be able to stroll to everyone and hopefully they feel part of your day. Cassie's advice was, I was told to enjoy every second, taking it all away, because it went so fast. I hope I will hear the advice leading up to the day. The day was perfect and it didn't need any prior pressure. Enjoy the process because it means in your final you will marry your dream person, and that's what happens! Congratulations Cassie & Matt! All sweet details ... I love the property. Parking is located on the edge. Groom sheds and bridesmaids have a home to use. Huge properties. Real barns and basements and great terraces. You have all weekends to yourself, no overlapping marriages. Posted on 09/15/2020 Eric Geldermann · Married at Service Quality 09/12/2020: Responsive: Value: Flexibility: Professionalism: The best place ever! Wagon Wheel Farm's enclosure is the best place Wisconsin offers. Everything from beautiful winding roads heading to a place, to the place itself is the perfect picture. It sits on a one-acre land surrounded by trees and greenery, and the barn itself is a perfect balance of elegant and rustic. Planning a wedding and getting married during the global pandemic does not The ideal situation, but Chelsea (venue owner) make our experience so less stressful than it should be. He is an absolute joy to work with-he fully supports everything from our unique vision (such as having a pi ata instead of a cake) to accommodate our COVID-related requests. She also did and said little things throughout the planning process that made her very clear that she really and the whole heart cares about the bride and groom's happiness on their special day. We got pretty embarrassed by the weather at our wedding weekend that was initially disappointed, but when we saw that the inner ceremony in the barn would be just as lovely as being outside, we quickly laid out easily (really the ceremony finally became really amazing!!!!). In hindstal back, my husband and I can honestly say we won't change one thing about our wedding day because we have the perfect place. And that's pretty bold considering we're not only married during the global pandemic, but we've also got a hit with bad weather! In fact, we love the venue so much that we are already thinking of renewing our vocals there down the line so we have an excuse for round 2 ... The barn at Wagon Wheel Farm is just a magical place!
