Official factory Toyota dedicated to certain models. Toyota (Toyota Motor Corporation, Toyota Jidosha KK), a Japanese car company that is part of the financial and industrial group Toyota. One of the largest car companies in the world. It manufactures its products under various brands, including Daihatsu. It is headquartered in Toyota, Toeta. The beginning of the company's history it can be considered 1933, when Toyoda Loom Automatic Works, originally unrelated to cars and originated in the textile industry, opened the automotive department. It was discovered by his eldest son, the owner of Sakichi Toyoda (Kichiro Toyoda) (Kichiro Toyoda), and later brought the Toyota brand to global fame. The initial capital for the development of the first cars was the money received from the sale of patent rights to the spinning machines of the British company Platt Brothers. In 1935, the first passenger car, the Model A1 (later AA) and the first Model G1, was completed, and the Model AA was commissioned in 1936. At the same time, the first export deliveries were made - four G1 trucks went to northern China. A year later, in 1937, the automotive division became a separate company called Toyota Motor Co., Ltd. This is a brief history of Toyota's pre-war development. Today Toyota is one of the world's largest car manufacturers. Of course, it is also the largest Japanese automaker, producing more than 5.5 million cars a year, which is about equal to one car every six seconds. The Toyota Group has many companies, both automotive and engaged in a variety of fields.
