Apparently, the queen is closely following Prince William and Kate Middleton to make sure they are at their best and not doing anything that could tarnish the reputation of the monarchy. At least, according to the royal author Tom queen. Speaking on the Channel 5 special about the royal couple, quinn said (via the Daily Mail) that senior members of the royal family are concerned William and Kate will not repeat the mistakes made by other young royals in the past. It's unclear who they mean, but as anyone who has watched the Crown knows, the younger generation of the royal family always has a slightly rebellious streak. The queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will be watching very closely, said quinn, especially given that young members of the royal family in the past have got things very badly wrong and they don't want it to happen again. William and Kate have a heightened focus on them thanks to Wills being the direct heir to the throne (he will become king after Prince Charles), but they have largely stepped up during the corona, so not sure the queen has much to worry about!
