Basic hand-held wheelchairs can be found online for as little as $150.00. But one that fits your specific needs can cost thousands. Despite these high prices, for many with mobility impairments, a wheelchair is the only option. But there's one little trick you can use to get a high-quality wheelchair at a lower price: Have you ever thought about the benefits to be gained by a good wheelchair? Like all good used medical equipment, used wheelchairs are high-quality and much more affordable than new models. Things to consider before buying used wheelchairs Market is awash with thin use of wheelchairs, and many are still as good as new. Used wheelchairs can cost a fraction of the price of a new model, and in most cases, will provide the same excellent service as a new wheelchair. When considering buying a used wheelchair, whether from a private seller or business, it is especially important to make sure that it is in good condition. It's hard to damage a good wheelchair, so it's a chance that you're considering a wheelchair, at least in reasonable condition. However, always check the tires/wheels to make sure they are not too worn! Although, in most cases, they will be replaceable anyway. A former client of my mine found a titanium wheelchair that would have cost more than $2,000. She got it for $400 at a real estate sale! One of the advantages of buying a travel wheelchair is that you can - and should - be ready for negotiation. Where to find used wheelchairs for sale near you Yard Sales You is quite easy to find them at yard sales. Thrift Store Some wheelchairs eventually get donated to a thrift store. St. Vincent de Paul thrift stores are good places to look, and if you are unable to pay for a wheelchair, they may still be able to help you. Goodwill Goodwill also seems to have always used the wheelchairs available. You will be amazed by pedestrians and wheelchairs that turn in goodwill stores. Most of their wheelchairs go for less than $40 and they periodically lower the price of all items until they are sold. Auction houses sometimes sell wheelchairs, but it's easy to get caught up in the bidding process and pay more than you should. More often than not, you will find what you want when you are looking for something else. Medical Equipment Elimination Sales Medic Equipment Elimination Sales can be a useful source for used wheelchairs. Classified Ads Classified in newspapers may announce the sale, but ads are less popular these days because of the Internet. Online you can search for used wheelchairs online, just be careful with shipping costs! How to buy used wheelchairs on Amazon (Internet Shopping) Most wheelchairs listed on Amazon are new, but there are some exceptions! Sometimes the wheelchair is brand new, but has suffered some damage in transit or testing. If the wheelchair is listed as an open box, usually you can get a good piece of RRP off. There are also some wheelchair resellers on Amazon. For example, we are a big fan of Drive Medical Poly Fly Light wheelchair transport. If we want to find an open box or used model, we find the product page and then select an open box from the drop-off menu, or contact the manufacturer directly. From there, we can learn all about the specific model we're interested in: A used DM Light Wheelchair Review of this Combo wheelchair is about $160 cheaper than it is in a box. The marked buy of an open box this chair means that it suffered minor damage either during shipment or was returned for some reason. This 18-inch wide wheelchair is two wheelchairs in one. This model comes with two sets of wheeled locks. One is for use as a standard wheelchair and the other for use as a transport chair. Removing 24-inch wheels is fast and easy, and in seconds you go from self-propelled wheelchair to wheelchair. The back can be folded, and in addition, the chair is easily folded for transportation in the trunk of the vehicle or storage in the closet. Conclusion Because Medicare is less likely to approve the purchase of a wheelchair these days, many older people who desperately need a wheelchair find it very difficult to afford to pay for one of their limited incomes. If you have or know someone who has a wheelchair that they don't use, we encourage you to donate it as well as any other medical equipment to charity of your choice. Wheelchair Facts All wheelchairs fold and fit in a standard car All the footrests remove All wheelchairs come Fully assembled Choice Type Wheelchair First thing you need to know when choosing a wheelchair: you need a standard wheelchair or wheelchair transport. The standard wheelchair features two large wheels at the back and has a smaller caster wheel in front, allowing the nanny to move on its own. Transport or tourist wheelchairs cannot be driven by a nanny only by a companion (all four wheels of a smaller type of caster). They are usually easier to lift and can fold into a tighter space. There are 4 types of wheelchair standard wheelchairs: The standard wheelchair features two large wheels in the back and have smaller caster wheels in the front, allowing the nanny to move on-the-go. Shop standard wheelchairs. Transportation strollers: Transportation, or wheelchair travel, cannot be propelled by a nanny-only companion (all four wheels are smaller than a caster type). They are usually easier to lift and can fold into a tighter space. The shop is a companion wheelchair. Sports wheelchairs: Designed for wheelchair users on ships, beach or track, 1800 wheelchair has a full selection of discount manual bikes and all-chair wheel terrain. Shop sports wheelchairs. Lying back wheelchairs: Lying wheelchairs are wheelchairs that the nanny can recline in a dormant position. The wheelchair weight is lighter than the stroller, the easier it is for the user to push uphill and the easier it is for the companion to lift the ladder or place in the trunk of the car. We have light transport wheelchairs that weigh 14 pounds and standard wheelchairs that weigh 25 Lbs.
