So I started building a bulldozer. It features knife with which you push something. I had to deal with the lack of bricks that led to sacrificing easy access to the battery box – if you want to replace batteries you literally have to dismantle almost entire model. This is the model-C of 42100 that were born in this group. Available now. Sorry, I kept you waiting a long time. I told you it will be free, but I think I will ask for 10 USD. I'm good at building, but not good at... Mehr advertising. If you are a volunteer who feels good about making this, then you post a play and promote it. It is not interesting that the pleasure of model B has diminished. Up coming3kits from next August do not have a model-B. Being able to do a completely different model with limited parts has a different impression than when you made the Model-A, and you have to feel the goodness of LEGO. I like this, so I'd like to continue making model-C with a kit without model-B. Thank you.
