This is the first book in a series of secondary biology. The book has been updated in accordance with current trends in the method of classification and other advances in science. The chemical naming system was also standardized. Content in five broad topics, namely: Introduced in a simple and precise language and is associated with knowledge of basic sciences, namely: Introduced in a simple and precise language and is associated with knowledge of basic sciences, earlier in the primary cycle. To better understand the terminology, each of them is explained before use. New issues such as environmental protection also considered where they are relevant. Careful and accurate illustrations are widely used to improve the quality of learning. Practical activities are outlined at the end of each topic. They are designed to assist students in investigating at various discussion points and drawing deductions. In addition, at the end of each topic there are issues of revision that help students to evaluate themselves.
