A graduate of Bryn Maur College, who has a degree in biology at Haverford College, she participated in a combined VMD/PhD (immunology) program at the University of Pennsylvania before doing her post-doctoral scholarship with Dr. Alfred Singer at the National Institutes of Health. She has received numerous teaching awards at Haverford College, as well as the American Association of Immunologists Distinguished Service Award for learning and assistance in developing their introductory course curriculum. Sharon Strangord received her doctorate in microbiology and immunology from Hahnemann University (now Drexel) in Philadelphia, where she studied autoimmune studies with Elizabeth Blankenhorn. After graduating from university, she spent three years as a graduate student at the University of Oxford in England, studying transplant immunology, and then three years at the University of California, San Francisco, working on HIV/AIDS with Dr. Jay Levy. In 2001, she was hired as Claire Booth Luce Associate Professor at Mount Holyoke College, a small college of humanities for women in South Hadley, Massachusetts, where she is now an adjunct professor serving in the Department of Biological Sciences and Program in Biochemistry. Patricia Jones is Dr. Nancy Chang Professor in biology at the School of Humanities and Sciences. In 1974, she received her Doctorate in Biology/Immunology from Johns Hopkins University, and in 1978 she entered the Faculty of Stanford University. Among the various administrative appointments, she currently holds the position of Deputy Vice-Chancellor for The Development and Diversity of Faculties (since 2000). Judith Owen - Has been working at Haverford College, Pennsylvania since 1981, where she is the first recipient of Elizabeth Ufford Green's Department of Natural Sciences. Judith received her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Cambridge, England, and continued her doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania with the late Dr. Norman Klinman, followed by a postgraduate degree at the Vistar Institute with Dr. Peter Doherty. Judith served on the Education Committee of the American Association of Immunologists (AAI) and chaired the AAI Membership Committee. Want more? Advanced embedding details, examples and help! E-BOOK DESCRIPTION The only textbook written for students course, this bestseller presents the most relevant concepts in an experimental context, conveying the excitement of scientific discoveries, and emphasizing the achievement, while providing unrivalled pedagogical support for the first-time student. The new edition is carefully updated, including, above all, a new chapter on innate immunity, a chapter on immune reactions in time and space, and many new focus boxes, drawing attention to exciting clinical, evolutionary or experimental compounds that help bring the material to life.
