Diagnostic information: Block at germany.shtml Your IP address: 88.198.48.21 Referring URL (if available): Browser Mozilla/5.0 (Windows NT 6.1) AppleWebKit/537.36 (KHTML, Like Gecko) Chrome/41.0.2228.0 Safari/537.36 Date: Saturday, 07-Nov-2020 15:45:10 GMT Why did this block take place? A court in Germany ordered that access to certain items in the Gutenberg Project collection from Germany be blocked. Project Gutenberg believes Bagetz has no jurisdiction over the matter, but until the issue is resolved, he will comply. For more information about German law, and the reason for blocking all Germany rather than individual items, visit the PGLAF information page about the German prosecution. For more information about the legal advice the Gutenberg Project has received on international issues, visit the PGLAF International Copyright Guidelines for Project Gutenberg This page is automatically translated into German (via Google Translate): translate.google.com How do I unblock it? All IP addresses in Germany are blocked. This block will remain in place until the legal guidelines are changed. If checking your IP address is incorrect use a Maxmind GeoIP demo to verify the status of your IP address. Project Gutenberg updates its list of IP addresses to approximately $200 million. Occasionally, the site wrongly applies a block from a previous visitor. Because blocks are applied for a moment, you should try again later to visit if Maxmind shows your address as being outside Germany.If your IP address is displayed by Maxmind being outside Germany and you are blocked for a moment, another problem is that some web browsers accidentally store the block. Trying another web browser might help. Or, clear the history of your visits to the site. I have other questions or I need to report an error please email the diagnostic information above to help2020@pglaf.org (removing the profits around @) and we will try to help. The software we sometimes use false positive flags - so, blocks that shouldn't have happened. I apologize if this happened, because human users outside Germany who use e-books or other website features should almost never be blocked. Last Updated: January 28, 2020. Change your mind, change your life Most of the most contemporary writers and teachers of personal development credit this little book for providing a foundation for their principles. It's a set of philosophical reflections on the power of our thoughts. Earl Nightingale, considered the father of modern personal development in his bestselling recording, called the ideas in this book, The strangest secret. The secret, he said, is we become what we think of him. Vic Johnson is a AsAManThinketh.net, dear friend, hello, I'm Vic Johnson and I appreciate you stopping by our site. I know what it's like to look. I know what it's like. Between 1994 and 1997, I experienced more days of character-building than at any other time in my life. Because my previous success in life was based on misguided principles, I have now faced serious personal challenges on several fronts in my life. During that time I moved in and out of deep depression. Even though I never gave up completely, she knocked on my door. Now I understand what a saint meant by the dark night of the soul. When I picked up as a man to think about my bookshelf and started reading it, I couldn't put it down. I read it in one session, and it's not too hard to do. The first time I emphasized the key thoughts. On the second reading, I began to underline other passages that suddenly jumped off the page. At the third reading it was a marked mess, to attest to the distillation of the immense wisdom that Alan leaves with us. There's an expression of when the student is ready, the teacher will show up. No doubt I was ready, and there's no doubt that James Allen was supposed to be my teacher. I had a childlike sense of discovery. That feeling, satisfaction, that comes with an encounter with something new and delicious. In short, it came together. I dramatically turned my life in an exciting direction. I've enjoyed more success and happiness in the last few years than in my entire life together. All the recommended resources on this site have been used by me personally and are resources that have brought me to this point in my journey. I hope Adam thinks it will have an impact on your life and I hope you will often return to our site. I look forward to walking the road together. Best regards, Vic Johnson Mark Victor Hansen, co-creator of Chicken Soup for the Soul I personally read as a thinking person over 25 times. This book brought my soul to it. Eternal stuff. Bob Proctor, the secret star in a very short book, has a library of material there. I believe that anyone who reads this book every day for a month will change their life by doing so. Oprah Winfrey, founder, OWN Network We're not pulling what we want, but what we are. Not in love with your life? Create something new. Change yourself, and then you'll notice that everything changes. Dennis Whatley, 16 times an international bestselling author beyond the New Testament, the Old Testament and other books documenting the beliefs of the world's greatest religions, has one small book that dramatically affected my life during my formative teenage years. The book is as a thinking man. Despite his book, as a person It has inspired millions around the world and had a major impact in the self-improvement industry, little is known about its author, James Allen. Born in Leicester, England in 1864, he worked as personal secretary of a major English corporation until 1902. At the age of 38, he retired to writing and moved with his wife to a small cottage in Ilfracombe, England. He wrote more than 20 jobs before suddenly being thy owned at the age of 48. As a thinking person he influenced many contemporary writers, including Norman Vincent Pyle, Earl Nightingale, Dennis Whatley and Tony Robbins, among others. His small volume, as he called it, has been translated into five major languages, inspiring millions of readers to acknowledge this and human visions can become a reality, simply through the power of thought. Click here to see more works by the proverbian James Allen, as a thinking man in his heart as well, not only straining one's entire being, but is so comprehensive as to reach any situation and circumstances of his life. A man is literally what he thinks, his character being the full amount of all his thoughts. As the plant derives, and cannot be without, the seed, so that every act of man derives from the hidden seeds of thought, and could not appear without them. This applies equally to these so-called spontaneous and unplanned acts as to those, which are deliberately committed. An act is the blossoming of thought, and joy and suffering are its fruits; Sign up you control your thoughts and fate. Think big, Lead, believe, create. Be a force for good. Pick up your life.
