I strongly condemn the proclamation of Urdu as a means of training Murad Ras, Minister of Education of the Punjab Government. I demand the immediate reversal of this extremely unjust decision. Announcing his decision, the Minister referred to the so-called poll report, in which the majority of schoolchildren, parents and students voted for Urdu. Accepting the right to education in his native language, the worthy minister categorically denied the existence of the Punjab language in Punjab and very clearly mentioned Urdu as the language of Punjab. He believed that Punjabi was not the only representative language in Punjab, since there were small language units in Punjab that were different languages. He frankly showed his complete ignorance that every widely spoken language has a significant number of dialects and this kind of diversity does not affect the same language. The rejection of Punjabi and its exchange with Urdu as The Native Language of Punjab is not only an open disgrace for the twelve Punjabi crore, whose native language is Punjabi, but also a violation of basic human rights related to the language of man or nation. He may not know that, despite all such intrigues, Punjabi is Pakistan's most common language. According to the report of the 2017 census in Punjab, Punjabi is the native language of 75% of the population, while 20% of the population of Sariski like their native language, which is actually the multani dialect. We cannot understand that the government will be naked to grant Punjabis the right to education in their native language, when Pakistan's constitution and the UNESCO manifesto also grant the right to education in their native language. We firmly believe that neither the quality of education nor the level of literacy has improved without the Punjabi language in schools. We demand the immediate reversal of the decision to make Urdu a means of learning and the establishment of Punjabi language education in Punjab. It should also be noted that on 12 February 2019, the Lahore Supreme Court also ruled in favour of Punjabi and ordered the Government to take the necessary measures to implement the decision. But it is regrettable that instead of carrying out a decent High Court verdict, the government went its own way in contempt of court. In his release, SAD spokesman and senior vice president Dr. Daljit Singh Chima said that we all know that native language plays a big role in human development. However, by depriving our young minds of the privilege of learning Punjabi, the Government of Congress is doing the opposite. I wonder about the wisdom of the congressional government, which suggests that changing the only means of learning will lead to better quality education in the state, he added. Criticising the unsouhustle of rushed by the state government to start secondary English in 400 schools in the first phase, the SAD leader said he had not hired a single English teacher for the purpose. How will this ensure quality education in the absence of a competent faculty? In addition, there were not enough Punjabi teachers in those schools in 1953 where the government intends to start English classes. This exercise will certainly have a cascading effect on students studying in Punjabi environment as well, he added. The SAD leader said that even Punjabi scholars and writers had completely refused to buy this anti-Punjabi language theory. Dr Chima said the story was largely about conspiracies by successive congressional governments to work against the interests of the Punjabi and Punjabi language. His latest attempt to introduce English as a means of teaching in schools aims to demolish the rich Punjab, pushing Punjabis away from their culture, he added. -PTC News Multibhashi's Punjabi-English Dictionary will help you find meaning of different words from Punjabi to English, like the meaning of Saradar.
