We all know that there is nothing better than a good Lifetime movie. They are known to be dramatic, usually swirling in secret, and have long been hailed as the ultimate guilty pleasure. But that's not all they can be. Some of these kinds of movies, especially lifetime movies based on real stories, tell harrowing real tales of perseverance, tragedy, romance, and even surviving life or death situations. At best, they can give us a glimpse into some of the most exciting tales of our time. Below we've put together some of Lifetime's best movies that are rooted in reality. Of course, it should be noted that not all of them were created in tandem with the real people they portray, because with all the dramatized true stories, take their narratives with distrust. But even if you just use them in addition to existing knowledge about these stories, they are definitely worth it. Most of this list is available to watch from Lifetime's Movie Club, which offers a seven-day free trial and allows you to pay a few bucks a month after that to access their new and classic movies. It's a small price to have a whole library of fascinating projects to keep you busy. Take a look: Natalie Holloway's story is still, unfortunately, a mystery. Her disappearance while on vacation in 2005 shocked the world, and almost 15 years later, the case continues to run a dead end. This terrifying story is based on the life of Colleen Stan. According to investigators, 20-year-old Stan was kidnapped in 1977 during a hitchhiking. Her captors raped and tortured her and held her captive in a box under her bed. In 2008, a group of 18 teenage girls allegedly contracted with each other to keep everyone pregnant at the same time. The real events of Lifetime's The Pregnancy Pact are still being discussed, but they are rooted in that Gloucester, Massachusetts scandal. Flint is investigating whistleblowers who show the world how contaminated drinking water is in Flint, Michigan, and how harmful it is to people in the city. Today, work remains to be done. Before she starred in Good Place, Kristen Bell had her on-screen siblings saviors on this Lifetime Original. According to Reader's Digest, Kristen's character, Amy, was a real 19-year-old girl who supported her family and took legal custody of her three brothers when their home life fell apart. Kidnapped: Carlina White's story This harrowing story begins when Carlina White is kidnapped as a newborn from a New York hospital, and follows her into adulthood as she is raised by her captor, Anne Pettway. Real events are just as shocking - Pettway was sentenced to 12 years in prison in 2012. Oscar Pistorius: Blade Runner Killer Oscar Pistorius, double and the former Olympic athlete is currently serving a 15-year sentence for the murder of his girlfriend, Reeva Steenkamp. According to NPR, he shot Steenkamp four times Door in 2013, later claiming he thought she was an intruder in their home. According to Inside Edition, Girl Fight is based on the true story of Victoria Lindsey, a cheerleader from Florida. The publication reports that six of Lindsay's classmates brutally beat her for the night to flaunt the attack on YouTube. The Real MVP: Wanda Durant Story Here's reprieve from all the doom and gloom of some of these other movies! We all remember NBA star Kevin Durant's heartfelt speech about his mother, found above. This Lifetime movie follows his mom, Wanda, while she works hard as a single mother to make sure her children's dreams come true. Cocaine Godmother: Griselda Blanco's Story Griselda Blanco, portrayed by Catherine zeta-Jones in this Lifetime film, was a real woman who was reportedly very involved in Colombia's cocaine wars. She was murdered in 2012. JonBenet Ramsey's story is one of the most tragic cases of our time. A six-year-old girl was murdered at her family's home in 1996 under mysterious circumstances, and events continue to unfold. Elizabeth Smart herself actually collaborated with Lifetime for this project, which outlines the ways she was abducted from her bedroom at the age of 14 and escaped nine months later. Angela Bassett and Mary J. Blige star as Coretta Scott King and Dr. Betty Shabazz, respectively, in this Lifetime movie. When Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Malcolm X were both killed, the lives they left behind leaned on each other as the civil rights movement moved on. While some aspects of Betty and Coretta are disputed by the families of the two women, the friendship between these extraordinary women has reportedly been true. Fab Five: The Texas Cheerleader Scandal Newsweek reports that in real life the Fab Five were stereotypical middle girls, one of whom was the principal of their Texas school. Their alleged scandalous behaviour will eventually lead to a $40,000 investigation into whether the principal gave the girls preferential treatment, the exit continues. The Cleveland kidnapping tells the story of Michelle Knight, who disappeared at the age of 21 and was later found more than 10 years later at a house in Cleveland along with two other women. Homeless at Harvard: Liz Murray's Story Liz Murray has long been vocal about her story, which is portrayed in this film. She was homeless at 16, according to the Guardian, but beat his chances and graduated from one of the Most Coveted Ivy League schools. She also published a memoir about her experience. This film, starring Christina Ricci, follows the true story of its titular character. In 1892, Lizzie Borden allegedly killed her stepmother and father with an axe. She was reportedly acquitted of the crime but remains infamous for their murder, according to the DC Crime Museum. Jodi Arias: Dirty Little Secret Jodi Arias convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to life in prison in without parole after she allegedly killed her boyfriend in the shower. According to NBC, Arias claimed self-defense, while prosecutors alleged she killed him in jealous rage. Versace's House stars Gina Gershon as Donatella Versace, following her as she struggles to take on the role of chief designer in the company of her brother Gianni following his untimely death. While this is certainly an unofficial account of events, Versace has done just that in real life. Harry and Meghan: Royal Romance, after all these deep, dark Lifetime movies, here's a palette cleanser for you. Lifetime Harry and Meghan: A Royal Romance dramatizes a story you probably already know well - Meghan Markle's affair with Prince Harry. The pair are more loved than ever, and although these events have not been confirmed by the royal couple, it's a dreamy enough choice to settle in for the night. It's just a sampling of many Lifetime movies that have taken their inspiration from real events, and they show no signs of stopping. The network will probably continue to have all of us fascinated by new, incredible stories for some time to come. From unique gadgets to old backup products, these products are the ones many of us have become reliant on, and they have lifelong safeguards to make life easier. 1 of the 25 Lodge Cast Iron 11-inch red frying pan, $45 BUY NOW Cookware in the company's Enameled collection, i.e., covered with a smooth porcelain finish-covered limited guarantee of the company's life.
