NOWU. You're talking to a military romance crook. I received an email from the U.S. Army directly answering your question pasted below please continue reading. I believe you are the victim of a Military Romance scam, while the person you are talking to is a foreign national posing as an American soldier claiming to be stationed abroad on a peacekeeping mission. This is the key to the fraud they always claim to be on a peacekeeping mission. Part of their scam says they don't have access to their money that sending them is extremely dangerous. If your friend friend/future spouse/spouse asks you to do the following or has experienced this behavior, it is more likely a scam: It moves to a private messaging site immediately after your meeting on Facebook or Snapchat or Instagram or some dating or social media site. Often times they delete the site you met them immediately after they asked you to move to a more private messaging siteProfesses love to you very quickly and seem to quote poems and song lyrics along with using their own kind of broken language as they profess their love and devotion quickly. They also showed concern for your health and love for your family. He promises marriage just get on the state for the license they asked you to pay for. They ask for money (bank transfers) and Amazon, iTunes, Verizon, etc gift cards, for medicine, religious practices, and lets him come home, internet access, full work assignments, help sick friend, get him out of trouble, or whatever sounds suspicious. The army provides all soldier needs including food medical care and transportation for leave. Believe me, I've lived it, they're probably deceiving you. I'm just trying to show you examples that probably deceive you. Below is an email response I received after I sent a survey to the U.S. government when I found out I was scammed. I received this wonderful response back with many useful links on how to find and report your crook. And how to learn more about Romance Scams. Right now you can also copy the image you gave and do a google image search and hopefully you will see images of the real person imitating it. This doesn't always work and take some digging. If you find the real you can direct their message and warn them that their image is being used for fraud. Good luck, and I'm sorry this is happening to you. please continue reading the government response I received below is very informative. You've been contacted by an email tracked by the U.S. Army Criminal Investigation Command. Army, this is a common concern. We assure you that there is never any reason to send money to anyone who claims to be a soldier online. If you've only spoken to this person online, it's possible that he's not a U.S. soldier at all.
