Easy for custom blends to match with anything. As a wooden flower for over forty years, Minwax Stains has always been in my shop and will always be. Thank you for helping me make things I madeWritten by minwax.com customers. Help? November 7, 2018We use oil-based minwax penetrating dirt, because if the color is rich it brings out in the wood! The furniture we painted and dirty for our customers got nothing but the best! When used correctly with pre-dirt minwax the product shows color even throughout the ProjectWritten by minwax.com customers. Help? November 7, 2018I has a 100+ year old colonial house and my beloved pet peeve those who paint on natural woodwork. Last winter, I decided to start refining some of the interior doors. I finished five so far and got great results using mean wax pre conditioner. Mean Dirt Wood candles and of course Mean candles Mmm. Wooden dirt brings out all natural cereals at the door and then 3 liberal coats Mean candlestick polyurethane gloss. OMG, I Can see my reflection in finishing. I would like to strictly state for the record that I am an amateur wood worker and just follow the instructions on the product label. To close my review Min wax has opened a whole new world of rehabilitation projects around my home. Over the past spring, I started taking all banners and had completed the recovery at 7 out of 8 and they looked great and then stripped and refined the top of the bar in my basement. Thank you for creating some amazing products for public wood fans. Drew ModicWritten by minwax.com service. Help? November 7, 2018I's refined wooden furniture, part-time for nearly 25 years, as a hobby. I've always used minwax, it never lets me down and I'm always proud and happy with the results. Written by minwax.com account. Help? November 6, 2018I has been using this product for more than 30 years and will not use something other than minwax for all our products. I have done the floor all my life this product never lets us be written by our minwax.com. Help? November 6, 2018Easy to apply and much less smell than Cabot. I apply it with a foam brush and wipe it with a clean cloth. Written by minwax.com account. Help? October 5, 2020I uses Cherry 235 Wood Finished dirt on a Pine stick that was pre-treated with Prause Dirt that seemed to give me a very light color compared to real cherry sticks even after 2 or 3 passes so I was Decided to try Cherrywood Gel Stain on the same board under similar conditions and preparations and better and different results although both products did not match the color as Cherrywood Gel Stain was much richer and had a yellow actor that I liked plus had more saturated. I hope I can achieve the same color results using Wood Finish Dirt instead of the Gel version just because in my opinion it is easier to use and for some reason drying time seems faster and doesn't get the final cereal of the board too darker like gel. Written by minwax.com account. Help? Helo. We are sorry to hear that you are not satisfied with the color of our Wooden Neat Cherry. Pores in wood can alter penetrating dirt more than topical dirt, such as our Gel Stains. Sincerely, Minwax Customer SupportJune 29, 2020I buy to stain the stick we use to build our wedding arches. I wanted a grey blue color that looked a bit old. All I wanted was all out so I got my second choice instead of the navy. Above can it look perfect. When I opened it was SO. dark, not close to what I want. I hope Once it got on the stick it wouldn't look so dark and my boy was wrong. Written by minwax.com account. Help? Helo. We're sorry to hear that you have no success with the colours of our Navy Wood Finish Stain. Greetings, Minwax Customer SupportApril 22, 2020I always loves special walnut color dirt, but recently I tried new semitransparent stains and it barely absorbed it into a stick even with a wooden conditioner it looked uneven and cushioned. Adding another coat does not improve the situation. So disappointed because there is no dirt color of the comparable gel. Written by minwax.com account. Help?
