These days, when we pay more attention to what we eat, what we wear and even our lifestyle, the ingredients we use for skin care are just as important. So what content is good or bad? If you keep a close eye on skin care, you know that parabens are some of the worst ingredients. Parabens, which were first used in 1950, are a kind of preservative. Parabens, used to prolong the shelf life of many health and beauty products, prevent the formation of bacteria and mold in foods. When buying skin care products, you can pay attention to terms such as butylparaben, methylparaben, or propylparaben on they labels or creams. Parabens are harmful not only to the body, but also to the environment. Scientific studies have shown that parabens are found in sea creatures. Paraben-containing means of care from sewers to seas or oceans damage the ecosystem of living things. Should we prefer products without parabens? We have to say that the preservatives in the care products are quite low. Paraben is a very bad substance, but nowadays there are various ingredients used as preservatives. By developing technologies and developing skin care products, many manufacturers are turning to more useful and effective preservatives. Some people believe that paraben-free products are not effective enough. However, the use of natural products for people with sensitive skin is much safer and healthier than turning to paraben products. Labels without parabens are not always a permanent solution. It is important to read the fine print on the back of the products to make sure that there are no synthetic ingredients that won't harm your skin, even with paraben-free Лучший Парабен Бесплатные продукты Avon; Заново Мощность сыворотки MagiX Лицо Perfector Avon True Color Multi-Finish Eyeshadow четырехъядерный новый платиновый крем широкий спектр SPF 25 Avon True Color Glimmersticks Brow Definer Anew Anew Multi-Performance Night Cream Anew Ultimate Multi-Performance Day Cream SPF 25 Ultimate Multi-Performance Day Cream SPF 25 Avon Anew Ultimate Supreme Avon Avon Brochure October 2020 is available now.
