Is there an effective way to farm them? Gambit vs. Gambit Prime? It's literally any medal, so should I try to get things like First Bank? Or is it just for onion-killing-related medals (so try to go for Killmonger)? Any advice would be greatly appreciated. However, earning a lot of medals very quickly can be a little tricky. For those chasing Hush Pinnacle Bow, earning a lot of medals will be key to getting this quest completed quickly. To do this you will need to know all the Gambit and Gambit Prime medals and how to get as much as you can each match. Earn more gambit medals in terms of getting medals in Gambit, it's best to aim for a few things at once. For example, try to quickly clear enemies for the Speed Medal and do so with Super for one of the super medals. Similarly, it can also proc medal process, particularly where you should avoid death. But aim for medals that work for you and make sense in your particular group. It can also help if each player has a role to play. For example, if someone is always an invader, another mote collector, and another tries to track down the invaders. Cycling through these roles so everyone has the opportunity to earn different medals. If you are chasing a Hush Pinnacle Sniper Rifle, the word on the street is that you can claim 600 medals for that percentage to complete. Your best option is to put your head down and try to get as many Gambit medals possible. All Gambit and Gambit Prime Stunt medals in order to earn more Gambit medals, is to first find out what medals you can earn.
