Get in touch with us through: MirrorGo for Windows lets you control Android from your computer or laptop. The program is especially convenient for tools or games on your smartphone. First, you need to connect Android and Windows via a USB cable and follow the instructions on the screen. Once both devices are synchronized, you'll see your smartphone and all the available content on the screen. From now on, you can control everything with your mouse and keyboard and navigate the areas of your device endlessly without touching your smartphone at all. The tool differs from Android emulators in two ways: first, you can access all your storages \\\(internal and external\\\) and all other functions via cable connection. Crawl the folders with a few clicks. Second, MirrorGo is much more stable than other tools that emulate the operating system. This avoids typical mistakes. With the program you can control Android on the big screen in HD, take screenshots and record everything. With this feature, you can create tutorials and videos and share them with contacts or social networks. Use all the features of your device on the big screen with this simple, practical tool.
