

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

Blue cheshire cat halloween costume

With Halloween approaching faster than you can say pumpkin spice lattes, your costume search has probably turned hectic. In times like these, it is often best to settle on one of the classic choices. Can we propose a cat? Cats can be classic, but that doesn't mean your costume should be boring. After all, throughout the animal kingdom and pop culture, the cat presents itself in many forms: sultry superhero cats, ferocious wild cats, harmless house cats, Instagram-famous cats, and beyond. Whatever cat you choose to be, the great thing is that it can all be adjusted to meet your makeup skill level. Even if you're a total beginner who owns nothing but a black eyeliner pencil, there are still plenty of cat Halloween costumes for you. Same goes if you are a makeup virtuoso. Here we have cats for everyone. Scroll through to see all the different cat Halloween costumes and Halloween cat makeup that we love right now. Jenny Mahneger For the cat with an interest in expending the least amount of effort possible, go timeless. All you need is black and white eyeliner and a pair of ears. Try MAC's chromographic pencil in pure white and black ($18 each), Party Delights Feeling Mischievous? Cheshire Cat is the choice for you. This look just requires black and white face paint, a few creepy contacts, some ears, and a wig if you're feeling ambitious. (Party Delights has a full video tutorial for Cheshire Cat makeup.) Try using the Bobbi Brown Long-Wear Gel Liner in Ink ($27) and ColourPop Creme Gel Colour in Exit ($7) if you'd rather buy products you can use post-Halloween fun. @enhanceartistry If you have the fine painting skills to perform them, break out tiger stripes. Zoe Mountford Here's another that takes a few products to perform. Just tease your hair as big as you can, whip out your black eyeliner and flared falsies (we like Huda's Classic False Lashes in Samantha, $20, for a cat eye look), and let your inner lioness roar this Halloween. To recreate, check out makeup guru, Desi Perkins's similar lioness makeup look. @perrieedwards feel tough? The cheetah is a fairytale for you. (It's one of the only big cats that spins instead of roars.) NikkieTutorials Recreate that filtered glow with this chic makeup job. MAC's Glitter in Gold ($22) and about 800 layers of liquid liner are key to this look. (And NikkieTutorials has a full Snapchat lion makeup tutorial.) Cuded The difference between leopard and cheetah spots is that a leopard's are bigger and more multicolored. (Elicia Aragon has a similar leopard makeup tutorial.) Halloween Freebies For Halloween Haters, we (lovingly) suggest Grumpy Cat. The grumpiest of cats is also one of the most lovable-which is why this costume will make you the best liked cat at any party. (Melissa Bernard recreates the Grumpy Cat look in her tutorial.) @charismastar Of course, you can never go wrong with a kick-ass, crime-fighting cat like Catwoman. If you choose one of these costumes this weekend, take us @byrdiebeauty so we can see the result! Next up, 11 super-instagrammable Halloween makeup looks to try. Did you hear that sound? It was the internet exploding because someone combined the internet's two favorite topics: cats and pizza. Create your own internet phenomenon – and get all the sweet Insta-likes – by diYing this pizza cat costume. Simply cut brown, yellow and red felt to the appropriate shapes and sizes, and hand-seam or fabric glue the pieces together. Not very clever? You can buy a pre-made pizza cat costume, too. Willowthesquishycat/Instagram There's nothing better than a good pun. But when the pun involves a cat? In a Halloween costume??? It's some other material on the level. All you need to do this wonderfully punny avocado costume is a piece of poster board and green crayons, markers or non-toxic paint. So stick your cat's head through the middle and laugh forever. Hairy, brooding and mysterious all are adjectives that can be used to describe both Jon Snow, of Game of Thrones, and your cat. So why not combine the two? Your cat already has the capricious outlook; Outfit him with a simple, black felt cape with an attached faux fur collar to match. Your cat is probably already pretty angry, so dressing her up as a punk rocker for Halloween only makes sense. Cut a rectangular piece of fabric from some old jeans, cut out the armhole and dig up an old patch from your punk rock high school days to transform her from house cat to mosh cat. Continue to 5 out of 15 below. houseofkittyviciousness/Instagram Paging, Doctor Boots. Cats don't have opposable thumbs, so in fact, they would be terrible doctors. Plus, it looks like this guy would have some pretty bad bedridden way, too. But that doesn't mean kittens can't dress up as doctors for Halloween! If you are crafty, you can make your own version with some cheap fabric, simple stitches and fillings; if you are not very crafty, you can buy this particular costume online. SGalindoDesign/Artfire.com Remember when Nyan Cat took over the Internet back in 2011? Well, it's still fun, and even more fun when it's a real cat (although he might not agree). Cut cardboard and building paper to the right shapes and sizes, add multicolored streamers and meow-meow-meow-meow the day away. Doctor Who fanboys and fangirls, rejoice! Someone on the internet finally figured out how to transform a cat into Doctor Who-or should you say Docturr Who? It can be hard to find duds small enough to fit your cat, but if you can, you're guaranteed to have the most clever (albeit, nerdiest) kitty Halloween costume on the block. Tabitha NikolaeV/Amazon.com Let your cat get back to its roots by her up like a super ferocious lion. It is Easy to DIY a lion mane with some faux fur trim, but you can order tons of options online, too. Continue to 9 out of 15 below. Sushi cat because cats supposedly love to eat fish-get it? Whether you make your own sushi cat costume with layers of different colored felt or buy it online, one thing is certain: The irony of this costume should not be lost on anyone. 2 Cats and 1 Doll/YouTube All you need is an old t-shirt, a super simple pattern, and a few stitches to dress up your cat as the most fearless, most badass princess on this side of the galaxy. Even if you are not so crafty, this tutorial from 2 Cats & 1 Doll shows how easy it really is to make your kitty a pair of Princess Leia buns. Alternatively, if your cat leans more toward the dark side, dressing up as the ultimate villain, Darth Vader, may be more her speed. Just don't be surprised if she starts to mew, I find the lack of kibble unsettling just before every meal time. Purrrr-trificus Totalus! You don't need a summons charm to turn your cat into a little, feline Harry Potter. All you need is a baby sweater, some felt (for collar and tie), a pipe cleaner shaped into a lightning head and wire bent in glasses. It can take a bit of magic, however, to keep your cat quiet while you dress him. Continue to 13 out of 15 below. We know your cat liked to dress up for Halloween before it was cool. Why not celebrate her hipness by dressing her up in a quintessentated hipster outfit? Grab a hat, bandana and black-rimmed glasses to take her from the litter box to the L train. Willowthesquishycat/Instagram It doesn't get any easier – or more cute – than dressing your cat like a bat for Halloween. You can buy pre-made bat wings online or simply cut them out from black construction paper, then attach to your cat's collar with a black pipe cleaner. Sell, sell, sell! Your cat may not day trading, but in this small business getup, she will wish she could. Just make a simple collar with cheap fabric or felt and top it off with plastic frames that she probably only hold on to for 30 seconds, but it's still cute! Tamara Schlesinger/Halloween Celebrations Black paint stripes will turn a grey sweatsuit into purrrfect Cheshire Cat costume. Add a few extra feline touches, like felt ears and gloved paws, to finish it off. Skill Level: Beginner Materials: Gray hoodie and sweatpants Medium-point black permanent marker 1/2-inch brush Black fabric paint Gray scarf Piece gray felt Scissors Hot-gluue gun and glue sticks Black gloves Black shoes Halloween makeup kit Directions: 1. Dress child in hoodie and sweatpants; using marker, easily mark the placement of stripes around the body. Remove hoodie and sweatpants. 2. Ans place the clothes on protected work surface. Dip brush in small amount of black paint. Paint each stripe by of short vertical strokes. Use Use while painting to create a fur effect. Let dry. 3. Turn the clothes over and paint your back in the same way, continued streaks around the body. Let dry. 4. Mark and paint scarf in the same way to make tail; let dry. 5. Cut two 4-inch-tall triangles from felt for ears; paint centers to look like fur. Let dry. 6. Glue tail to the seat of pants. Glue ears to the top of the hoodie. 7. Dress child in hoodie, sweatpants, gloves and shoes; apply makeup. This content is created and maintained by a third party and imported into this page to help users enter their email addresses. You may be able to find more information about this and similar content on piano.io Amazon Why only dress up when you can dress your cat up too? We know some of you may have been brainstorming ideas for your own Halloween costumes since October last year, but coming up with a pet cat Halloween costume is an even bigger achievement. Just because your little furry friend won't be going out trick-or-treating doesn't mean they should miss the family fun. And while your cat may not even understand what Halloween or costumes are, the overwhelming joy you're like seeing your cat dressed in a heart-wrenchingly adorable Halloween costume is worth the extra planning. With everything from a simple furry lion mane to a little more elaborate doctor's outfit, there's something on the market for each kitty to dress up in and take part in the costume-filled holiday. Your feline friend is sure to sit pretty in one of these cat Halloween costumes (assuming they'll let you put it on them, that is!). 1 by 58 Bear Hat Monarchdancer etsy.com $15.98 Turn your trusty cat into a trusty bear for the night. 2 by 58 Nurse Mikayoo amazon.com $14.99 Dress up your furry friend as one of 2020's true heroes. 3 of 58 Mummy Mummies are a classic part of Halloween, and what better cat costume than one that represents the holiday itself? 4 of 58 Breakfast Tickybootique etsy.com $25.00 Combine your favorite meal of the day with your favorite four-legged friend for your favorite costume of all time. 5 of 58 Halloween Sweater If you'd rather buy a little fluffy something she can use all month long, instead of just one night, this Halloween sweater it's for you (and her). 6 of 58 'Ghostbusters' Rubie's Costume Company chevy.com $14.99 80s was a great decade for pop culture, which means it comes with some killer costumes, like this Ghostbusters jumpsuit for your kitty. 7 of 58 Cookie Monster Pet Krewe chevy.com $24.99 For icing on top of this adorable costume, feed your cat their snacks (read: cookies) all night. 8 of 58 UPS Driver California Costumes chevy.com $18.97 Your local delivery and mail man has probably become part of your daily routine. Let it be part of your cat's routine on Halloween. 9 of 58 Belle from 'Beauty and Rubie's Costume Company chevy.com $20.75 You can never go wrong with a Disney costume, especially not a princess one – be it for your human being or your pet. 10 of 58 Taco Taco-about-cute! This taco costume will have everyone in the neighborhood fawning over your cat, even if he or she does occasionally scratch them or leave dead mice in their yards. 11 of 58 Wonder Woman Rubie's Costume Company chevy.com $14.99 Why Not Make Your Cat Feel As Tough as Wonder Woman for At Least One Night? 12 of 58 Halloween Ruffle Collar If your kitten happens to be picky and would never let you put him or her in a full-blown Halloween costume, this festive collar may be the next best thing. 13 of 58 Avocado Avocado on your toast, and avocado on your cat! 14 of 58 King For A Day Cat Costume Though you might treat your cat like King all the time, let them really feel royalty with this King for a Day cat costume that wants them to look extra royal come Halloween night. 15 by 58 Koala Although koalas and cats are far from the same animal, your feline friend would look absolutely adorable in this faux Australian costume. 16 of 58 Shark There is no denying sharks are scary creatures, but your cat dressed as a shark would be far from ferocious. 17 of 58 Piece bread The best since sliced bread - literally. 18 of 58 The Graduate Costume Cue graduation music! Dress your kitten like a cute little candidate, complete with a cap, dress, and even a diploma. 19 of 58 Strawberry Leowow amazon.com a simple costume that is so cute, you will want to eat him or her! 20 of 58 Lion Costume Legends and amazon.com This picture says it all. How cute will your kitty look with this fluffy lion mane? 21 of 58 Pooh Dinosaur Costume Bro/Bear amazon.com $14.89 Pink, Purple, and Super Plush, Your Cat will create their own version of Jurassic Park, which you'll love more than any of the actual movies. 22 of 58 Peacock Bolbove amazon.com $14.99 Make them belle of the ball with this vibrant and bold peacock costume that will have no trick-or-treaters intrigued. 23 by 58 Magician SATINIOR amazon.com Who says a cat can't be part of the magical act? 24 of 58 Octopus Even if your cat hates water, you won't be able to resist this adorable octopus costume. 25 of 58 Cactus CatsinHatsShop etsy.com $13.99 Sure, your cat can be prickly and probably loves spending all day in the sun, but it just means a cactus costume is the perfect fit for them. 26 by 58 Jaws with Claws Costume For those who feel a little more crafty, you can DIY this terrifying adorable jaws costume. Your kitten will look so cute sneaky around the house in it. Get the instructions. 27 of 58 Spider MASCARE amazon.com $11.99 If four legs weren't enough for your cat, how about adding eight more? 28 by 58 Robin Hood ToScarboroughFair etsy.com $50.95 Dress you cat up as Robin Hood, so at least when Try to steal some treats later, it will be part of the costume. 29 of 58 Batman! bajukucingtangerang etsy.com $24.00 Na na na na na na na na na na na na na na na Batman! Or should we say Catman? 30 by 58 Steampunk Kitty ToScarboroughFair etsy.com $36.80 Always thought your kitty had a bit of an edging page? Help them let it out with this adorable steampunk hat. Hat.