How to get chatterbox score 250

04-06-2019 #1 Apparently I need an extra 250 variant to upgrade my 490 Chatterbox OF Liberty or to make it 500. Why?... Actually it looks like I need a 250 variant for all exotics to upgrade one of them. Never mind, just move to bug reports. It's a UI bug SCORE 250. I had the chatterbox fitted in the image to show that I had it, but with it unequipped after letting me craft. 04-06-2019 #2 break down your chatterbox for exotic materials and then retrieve the 3 parts of hyena cashes and after you've created a new lvl 490, you can use the materials of deconstructing your first one to upgrade it to lvl 500 and since you need to receive 2 exotic materials, you should have enough to upwire a second exotic. the upgrade requires an exotic of minimum score 250 to upgrade (you don't upgrade the lvl 1 preorders) 04-06-2019 #3 I suppose that makes sense for the upgrade score minimum. It could be communicated much better though, to avoid confusion The Division 2 will have different events in the game. You have the main story campaign, side missions, settlement projects and the best of all the much of the endgame content to grind through. The world tier is one of many end game content. there are a total of five of these layers and the requirement for them is to get a specific acceleration score that is very high. How To Increase and Improve Gear Score For World Tier In The Division 2So below is a guide, on how to achieve 275 Gear Score and more to progress across different world levels and other events. Complete The dropped missions To increase the level of your Gear score and also move on to the required world level. You have to do the invaded missions as they are a requirement for the World Tier progression and doing them will also reward you with high tier gears that allow you to get your Gear Score. Upgraded Superior Crafting Bench Another way to get high-level acceleration is to make them. but you don't get the high-level items of a basic Crafting Bench. so you have to raise the bench level. Once you do that you will be able to use it to high-level gears that will eventually let you get high Gear Score. Buying From Suppliers When you cross level 30 and reach World Tier 1. You will be able to easily buy the high Gear Score items from the vendors. The vendors will have several items that will have a very high level score. There are a total of three vendors in the game. one at the base of the operation, one on campus settlement, and the last in the Theater settlement. Obtaining Sweet Dreams in World Tier 4 means that the gun will handle more than 130k of damage per shot as long as you get close enough. It has an RPM of 70 and you fire eight shells before you have to reload. It also deals +144% melee damage which is just insane, especially if you take a look at the Sweet Dreams talents: Sweet Dreams: Landing a melee attack on an enemy after swapping this weapon grants 35% bonus armour and fits the Sandman debuff. Killing an enemy with the Sandman debuff re-adjusts this bonus armor. Sandman: This debuff prevents the enemy from using armour kits and from receiving healing from any source. Evasive: While rested, reloading dodges 1% of the magazine of your current weapon. Sweet Dreams is definitely a close range shotgun... Not that there are other types, really. Blast people in the face and punch them to treat insane damage, especially since you prevent them from healing. It's not great if you like to sit back with a sniper, but if you adapt your playing style to Sweet Dreams then it can be a very useful weapon. You don't need to get parts to make it. Instead, you have to kill Outcast bosses and cross your fingers it drops as part of their booty. Increase your chances of receiving Sweet Dreams by playing Outcast missions hard and challenging difficulty, but in the end it becomes a roll of the dice. Some good Outcast missions to farm for Sweet Dreams are the Roosevelt Island stronghold and Event Center mission. Run both of these a few times and kill the named Outcast bosses at the end, then cross one of them drops Sweet Dreams. When you've got it, why not search for the hunters who make the 12 Division 2 masks? Getting exotic components in The Division 2 is a tricky and costly process that you never explained in the game. Once you've reached the maximum level and find yourself slipping through the five world levels and completing missions and stronghold invaded along the way, you'll probably have found your first The Division 2 Exotic weapon. There are currently six of these rare weapons that you make or find for yourself, but if you continue to the max gear score of 500 you will find that the first Exotics you have created are now obsolete. So, how do you upgrade your Division 2 Exotic weapons? Well, you need the corresponding gear score upgrade blueprint for the weapon you plan to modify, which you should be able to buy from the main supplier in your Base of Operations. Then you need a fully improved crafting bank - making exotic weapons is resource-intensive, so you don't want to do this any more than you need to. The final part of the puzzle is getting all of the crafting materials to build a better version of your Exotic. As an example of The Division 2 Chatterbox Exotic, you'll need a number of materials: 36 polycarbonate, 26 titanium, 85 receiver components, 1 Division 2 Exotic Component and a Chatterbox SMG with an acceleration score of 250 or higher. How do you get Exotic Components in The Division 2? Those Division 2 Exotic Components are the hardest crafting material to collect, but getting them is actually pretty simple: they'll just fall from deconstructing exotic weapons. It should be clear that you don't just deconstruct the weapon you want to upgrade, because then you have to grind for another copy of that gun. Instead, you want to deconstruct your least favorite or easiest to grind Exotic from your collection. For us, that weapon is The Division 2 Pestilence as it can be grown with relative ease by farming landmarks in the DZ, plus the Pestilence is by far the worst Exotic in the game. More Division 2 of us to you: Division 2 resources Division 2 Exotics list Division 2 Merciless unlock guide Deconstructing this should give you two Exotic Components, which is enough to make each Division 2 Exotic upgrade. As you can see, that's still a hefty price to pay for an Exotic upgrade, so choose carefully and don't upgrade your Chatterbox too regularly. Massive Entertainment/Ubisoft via Polygon The Division 2 already has a powerful arsenal of Exotic weapons. Guns like The Chatterbox, Liberty and Merciless are powerful tools many different builds. But they're also hard guns to come by. Some require long quest lines, while others require long hours of same mission. Fortunately, you don't have to repeat the gravel to get a more powerful version of your favorite weapon. This guide will teach you how to upgrade all the Exotics in your arsenal. This will increase that Exotic to the current maximum Gear Score. Step 1: Buy the Massive Entertainment/Ubisoft blueprint through Polygon When you first walk into the White House, there are two vendors in the front hall. On your left is the Quartermaster, responsible for your subclass upgrades and skill purchases. On the other side of the room is a more traditional seller. Once you have unlocked an Exotic - either by making it or picking it up from the ground - the inventory of this supplier will change. The seller will start selling an upgrade blueprint for every Exotic you own. You can buy these blueprints for 1,010 E credits. Once you have the blueprint, you are almost ready to start crafting again. Step 2: Upgrade your table Now that you have access to the blueprint, you can upgrade the Exotics you already have. However, you do not create a max level exotic without a max level crafting table. Use the various resources in the world of The Division 2 to upgrade your table before moving on. If you hit a chopping - like running out of polycarbonate, for example - explore the open world. Take over lost checkpoints and use the resource farm buff to make your life a little easier. Once you've upgraded your bank, it's time to move on to the final step. Step 3: Build your Massive Entertainment/Ubisoft upgrade via Polygon Now it's time to upgrade your Exotic. You have an assortment of crafting materials, the old version of the Exotic, and an exotic component. The Exotic Component will be the hardest thing to find. To get one, you have to dismantle an Exotic. When you have all the materials, use the workbench to create your fully upgraded Exotic. Exotic.
