Table Content Download the latest Netflix (Android TV) 7.3.1 APK Netflix have been here for centuries. Its one of the best known streaming services for on-demand content like movies and TV shows. The streaming service already had a Netflix app in the Play Store. However, they have also recently published a new update to the Netflix Android TV app on the Play Store. This new update is expected to bring bug fixes and compatibility for more TV units and Android Box as well. So here's the latest Netflix Android TV APK v7.3.1 available for download. While you can still update the app from the official Play Store to your Android TV or Box, there are many reasons why you can reboot a separate Netflix APK into your device. The first reason is the notorious This app is incompatible with your device bug in the Google Play Store. Second, if the device does not have Google certification or the Play Store is available. In this case, you can simply download the APK and install it on an Android device. This Netflix Android TV APK takes over the popular Disney and HBO Max services, which both have a separate app for the Android TV platform. In addition, unlike Disney, Netflix APK comes as a standalone APK. So you don't have to worry about multiple APK or Apps. Just grab an APK and sideload via a USB drive or directly open a Google Drive link on your Android device. The latest version of Netflix (Android TV) 7.3.1 is now available for download here. If you install from the Play Store, you will get the full package. However, if the Play Store says that this app is not compatible with your device, then download the APK from below and combine them with the help of the default app manager. Also, download THE APK to download it to an Android device.
