Jim Campbell's Microsoft Windows operating system comes with several options, and one of these options is to customize the language of the operating system. Changing the language switches all dialog window operators from one language to the chosen language. This is achieved in the Settings Windows configuration system. You can change Windows to display the most common languages, including changing from French to English. Click on Windows Start Orb at The Challenge Bar. In the pop-up menu, click the Control Bar button. This opens a new window. Click the Watch, Language and Region button in the control panel. Click Regional and Language Options to open a new configuration window. Click on the Keyboard and languages tab. In the drop-off box, choose English as a display language. Click THE Good button to save the change. 5 Languages of Love were first presented as a book by Dr. Gary Chapman. The guide has sold nearly 11 million copies over 20 years. The website includes a test that will help you discover your language of love. With Valentine's Day just around the corner, everyone has one thing on their minds: L-O-V-E. However, not everyone has the easiest time with the holiday. If you are single, in a relationship, married, or otherwise confused, love can be a tricky thing to win and celebrate. Enter: 5 languages of love. The self-help book, written by Dr. Gary Chapman, has spanned the country for more than 20 years. It defines the love languages of people who help uncover truths, ideas, and complexities that aim to improve the way you communicate with yourself or your partner. Still not quite sure what that means? Here we break down the most common burning questions about the concept: What are the 5 languages of love and what are their definitions? According to the website, they are: Words of approval: This language uses words to confirm other people. Acts of service: For these people, actions speak louder than words. Receiving gifts: For some people, that makes them feel most loved to receive a gift. Time quality: This language is all about giving the other person your close attention. Physical touch: For this person, nothing speaks more deeply than the appropriate touch. What is the 5 language love test? The official score is an online series of 30 paired statements from which you choose the answer that best suits your personality. It will take about 10-15 minutes to complete, and in the end you will get everything you ever wanted to know about your basic language of love and how it translates altogether to your life and relationship.
