He continued to own and operate a lobster fishing business in Massachusetts for more than 50 years. At the height of his career during the 1970s and early 1980s, Michael was known as an innovator, pioneer and industry leader. In addition to his water experience, Michael was an avid legislator, conservationist and industry advocate. He served as a member of the Massachusetts Lobstermen's Association, Atlantic Lobstermen's Co-Operative and the MA Lobster Committee Management Team. Above all, Michael's proudest achievement was to be the father of his three children – Peter, Christopher and Courtney – whom he loved and spoke to in the highest regard. >there is click to read< 09:24 The Obama administration exceeded its authority in 2016 when it designated the Northeast Canyon and Sea Mountain Marine National Monument and cut off access to key fisheries, Massachusetts Lobster Association attorneys, and other groups argued in its petition filed with the Supreme Court yesterday.
