Workshops for children (1-3 years): JUPI baby! Jupi's a baby! encourage the development of workshops for all children between the ages of 1 and 3 years, where the child and parent participate together and calmly. Based on: Workshops are designed for all children between the ages of 1 and 3. This programme encourages the overall development of the child. Game and entertainment encourage the development of the child's speech and communication skills, and the predisposition to reading, writing and computing, creative expression and strong development of intelligence. We solve problem situations, practice perception, concentration, attention, coordination of eyes and hands, stimulate the construction of muscle strength, conduct rough and fine motor skills, stimulate social development, slowly develop patience, creative adaptation, find new solutions to achieve the desired goal and self-discipline, preserving children's joy, spontaneity and enjoyment. Parent and child, through this kind of work, then come together and create a special bond that builds for life. New experiences of parenting are being created, and conventional educational problems are treated differently, contributing to greater ease and happier upbringing. In order for a child to grow into an independent, safe person capable of healthy social emotional relationships, it is necessary to encourage the constant inclusion of as many different activities as possible that will enable them to interact with the social environment in a healthy manner. It is also important to give him the opportunity to discover, explore, play roles only and collaborate with other children. AIM OF THE CHILDREN'S WORKSHOP PROGRAM: Through communication and play with peers without whom childhood is unimaginable, to allow the child to develop their emotional, social, conversational and cognitive skills, and strengthens self-esteem. Include: experience of a sense of satisfaction, comfort provided by the game; awareness of emotions and their correct expression, playing different roles; Learn to follow the rules, wait your turn, collaborate, share; through learning and developing relationships in childhood to promote later successful social interaction and friendships; the development of critical thinking, linking the causes and consequences, reasoning, stimulating imagination, creativity and problem-solving; incitement to express through various activities. Goals: Improving the intellectual abilities of all students participating in the program. ABILITIES. PHASE 1 - STIMULATION OF NEURAL CONNECTIONS AND PHASE PATHWAYS EMPHASIZES THE IMPORTANCE OF DEVELOPING MOTOR AND GRAPHOMOTOR ABILITIES THAT HELP CHILDREN'S PHYSICAL AND INTELLECTUAL DEVELOPMENT. Through a range of activities, children find the best solutions to overcome obstacles and develop their coordination as well as a sense of space. In our school system, games such as rotation, jumping and graphotos are unfairly ignored at the expense of children and their overall development. With the NTC system, Dr. Radovic provides simple, effective and, above all, useful graphomotor exercises that stimulate the physical, and according to the latest research, and the mental development of the child.2 phase - STIMULATION DEVELOPMENT OF THOUGHT PROCESSESIn the second stage is shown in several levels, from the recognition of abstract concepts to their connection and skillful handling through abstract classification, serialization and association. Most children spontaneously recognize abstract symbols, but eventually lose interest because parents do not know how to bring them to a higher level, which is extremely stimulating in the development of thought processes. It is the NTC that finds the transitions to more complex forms of abstract classifications and series, which is the basis for the development of mathematical/logical intelligence3. phase - STIMULATION UPDATE FUNCTIONAL THINKINGDevelopment of functional thinking is an imperative to keep up with the education system of more developed countries. The NTC encourages the development of functional thinking through puzzling questions and stories that children are happy to solve.
