His secret? It's actually a little more than a shortcut to the web version of Google Maps, which will actually open directly in our Google Chrome browser (actually, you should have it installed). Like the standard Google Maps app, this Google Maps Go lets you find anywhere in the world from your Android device's screen. And if we want to know how to get to the place, we just have to specify what our current location is and what vehicles we want to use. From Google Maps Go you can also check all relevant information about any trade or government building in the city. You can quickly see their schedules, their phone number, exact address, etc. you can also quickly check the schedule and stop or station of any bus, subway or tram. Google Maps Go is a very interesting alternative for users who slow down the standard version of Google Maps. Thanks to this version of 'GO', you will be able to have almost identical experience, taking up much less memory on your terminal. The ten best Android apps of the month (January 2018) We're looking at the most outstanding Android apps for the first month of 2018.
