We are using our smartphones more and more on our daily activities, so there is an urgent need for good security on Android devices. You don't want your system to be attacked by malware or viruses because they can steal or corrupt your important data. And to fight these saboteurs, it is important to have a good antivirus application installed on your devices. This will make your phone safer and also functioning properly. That being said, AVG AntiVirus PRO Android Security for Android should be your first priority to fight malware and viruses. Find out all about this amazing security app with our review. By giving it certain permissions, the app will give your phone full protection against various attacks. AVG helps you monitor your devices and scan the system frequently to detect threats. Therefore, you will be protected if he notices any suspicious activity. In addition, the app also provides a variety of management options that allow you to take control of the entire system. The app requires you to give it final permission to monitor the activities of other apps. If you are not prepared to give it up, you will not be able to use the maximum potential of AVG AntiVirus. On the other hand, the application is pretty lightweight and won't require a lot of hardware to perform properly. So you're unlikely to run into trouble installing it on your devices. There are reasons why this is considered one of the best antivirus apps on Android devices. The app not only works great at keeping your phone safe from intruders, but also provides amazing opportunities to improve performance as well as use the battery. Here's what you'll definitely find interesting: For those who often spend most of their time using their smartphones, chances are that you're exposed to many threats from unreliable apps and files. Therefore, it is very important to have an Android app to protect your phone from harm. AVG AntiVirus scans all applications and files in your system frequently, making sure you are well informed and protected in the event of potential threats. Aside from the files and apps that are already present in your system, there are also threats when browsing websites online. That's why AVG also scans every website you visit to make sure you're protected. In addition, the app is also able to control the Wi-Fi connection to make sure that it is protected and no one uses it without your permission. Also, if you mostly spend your time chatting online, you, want to have good protection of your personality. Therefore, having built-in VPN protection on your AVG should be extremely helpful. Another thing about the app is that it does a wonderful job of keeping your devices and fully used. It will perform frequent scans of your system to check for unnecessary applications that drain your battery. In this process, unused apps that slow down the device will also be forced to switch off. So that makes your Android phones a lot faster than it used to be. In addition, you can scan redundant files that consume limited storage space for your devices and get rid of them to make room. Garbage files are usually ads, browsing data, sketches, and likes. All they do is slow down your devices, hence it would be good to be able to get rid of them. It sucks to have an unstable internet connection when you are doing your important things, like downloading or downloading an important file. AVG AntiVirus will help monitor your Wi-Fi connection to see if it is still stable or if there are any applications that consume resources. You can get rid of violations to increase the speed of the internet. Most of the time when your phone is lost, you probably think it's forever gone and won't think of any solution to get it back. However, with AVG installed on your devices, you can easily find a lost phone using GPS and Google Map. Even when the phone is off, it will immediately send you a signal after it is turned on. This way you can find the current location of your devices. To protect you from distressed guest users who are always trying to look at your personal belongings, you can hide your personal data and set encrypted passwords to protect it. So no one could ever know where your files are if you don't tell them where. In addition, users can create a lock screen with different backgrounds depending on their preferences. And inside the screen, you can create text messages on it to inform the thief that your phone is well encrypted to discourage them. And if the thief persists to open the device, the app will secretly capture his photos through the front camera and send it to email. Not only photos, the app is also capable of using the recording feature to capture videos and sounds, making it extremely easy to find a thief. In case your phone is lost forever and you don't want the data to be extracted by other people. You can choose a self-destruct feature that will stop all the data in your system within a few seconds. This way, your phone will be back in production and your data is securely stored on your Google online drive. To ensure your privacy when using your phone and browsing the Internet, all your passwords will be encrypted so no one can see them, even if they are stolen phone or data. On top of that, you can block your important apps from guest users if you want to. And one of the most annoying with mobile phones is that users tend to spam advertising or harassing a phone phone To handle this, AVG allows its users to block phone calls or any type of messages from certain people. Even when you use the incognito viewing feature, you will still be seen under the eyes of ISPs as they can track your activities through your IP address. The only way to remain anonymous online is to use VPN servers. And AVG AntiVirus Pro offers just a thing for you. With the feature enabled, you can clean up your internet activities without any traceable clues. To keep your online identity safe, you can also clear your content clipboard and browsing history to make sure no one knows what you are doing online. The app provides an effective method of monitoring your activity on the device. You can calculate your active time on the phone to find out how many hours you spent on your phone. In addition, to control the amount of Internet data used, you can always count on AVG to do the job. It often monitors your used internet data and gives you a daily report to show how much data you spent online to come up with the most appropriate data plans. And to ensure the functionality and performance of the app, the developer introduces updates to versions of apps on a weekly basis. This ensures that the app stays up to date and any new threats are updated so that your system stays secure for many years. For those who use AVG AntiVirus in Google Play, chances are you won't be able to enjoy the full version of the app because the developer has stopped supporting the version. However, if you want, you can still check out the AVG Pro APK on our website. It's extracted from the original app on Google Play, so there's nothing to worry about about legitimacy.
