Along with Spotify, Apple Music, Tidal, etc., is JOOX Music, streaming service that comes from Tencent Mobility Limited. More importantly, it's not the first successful product that its developer has ever made, which proves its solid quality. By the end of 2019, JOOX Music had received a hundred million downloads on the Google Play Store alone. This app has a promising future in years because of the rapid growth in the number of users each month. Streaming any of your favorite music songs with JOOX Music is easy as a piece of cake. The user can download the app and broadcast the music immediately if they connect their device to the Internet. More than a limited source of music, the app offers a giant music library with billions of songs in different genres. From pop songs to indie tracks, there's nothing that the user can't listen to. There is no obligation to indicate that the user must share songs that they like on the Internet. JOOX Music allows the user to upload/save music to their account for offline demand. Songs of the highest quality will lie in the user's library, and they will disappear only when the app is no longer available on the device. Not only audio, but the app also offers streaming video, with a source of more than two million different music videos. Professional music player there are three different parts in the layout of the JOOX Music player. The first part is an image of the artist, or album cover, which allows the user to know which artist dominates his musical experience. Each song in the app has full text up and coming with it, and the user can read it with a synchronization feature. Every time a line in a song appears, the app will emphasize that same part in the texts, more or less, like the karaoke version. At the bottom of the layout is several tools that help the user download, star sign, comment on the song, or shuffle the playlist. What distinguishes JOOX Music from other apps of the same type is that the user won't hear the audio ads. In addition, the app allows the user to play their songs on demand, without any restrictions. Trends MusicThe user can trust the music charts JOOX Music. Several diagrams are available in the app to show the user what the world is listening to. For example, if a user approaches the English Top Hits chart, they will be able to listen to the most popular English songs in a certain period. Musical taste in the world varies from day to day, and JOOX Music plays the role of connecting to users from different regions. The user can easily share songs he loves to his friends and spread the tunes across the continents. Easier than ever, to know about global desire as well as keep up with the heartbeat of the world. Karaoke Time! Music lovers tend to sing well. Unfortunately, there aren't many music apps that allow the user to sing. JOOX Music is a cool app with a singing feature. The user can choose a karaoke version of the song and record their singing on it. The development team constantly updates tons of beautiful tool tracks every day for to have the best karaoke time. Karaoke records are on on My karaoke tab on the user's homepage. What's more, the user can see their rank in the karaoke chart, which praises those who have made the greatest contribution to the karaoke field of this application. More than just a community connection to the app's connective role, JOOX Music allows the user to approach more than fifty different radio stations. In addition to streaming songs that the user wants directly, he can also spend time cooling the breath of life using the radio function. A huge number of songs and hits around the world will surprise the user's ears. Radio stations are listed by themes, categories and musical genres. LoginYou know Joox digital music streaming applications that are being developed by companies from China, China.Now called Tencent Holdings Ltd. is a company that has been successful with the first messaging app WeChat.In in addition, Tencent is currently involved in the world of mobile games. Currently being developed for several also, including Android, Joox iPhone iOS.You can use the Joox from your computer or laptop by entering the opening side of your account or not worrying about a new account because the two devices do not have the above registration requirements. So at least there are a lot of activities you can learn about local and world music, today's development. You can see which song is popular. In the past, we could see through television such as MTV Concerto for global recent music updates. Okay, maybe you're very busy people, now is not the time to watch TV. The solution is to hand over a Czech song to update the app. The latest version of the joox app, I think it's a loss, but it may be longer, or longer for this latest version error waiting for the latest modern version. So my advice is used for VIP credit services you can buy. How to buy a credit JooxYou know Joox telecommunication services, many providers did not work together in Indonesia.For example, triangular, with Ireland and Smartfren. Now you can easily pay for a VIP credit service without having to use a credit card. Joox was identified by the director as tencent app developer. They were made to work on a collaboration that is so important. It is not known in Indonesia as most credit cards. Indonesia, a smartphone that credit cards only 2% to 53%. Impulse buying is the best solution, so the area can be obtained from our residence to make it a little easier. Watch the following video tutorial.
