To prevent condensation problems along or inside the trunk leading to mold leakage and growth, our insulation pipelines and backbone use are above industry standard materials and practices. We use: - 1/2 inch thick Armaflex insulation (Brand Isolation, which is the most reputable in Singapore) for 2 copper tubes containing refrigerant. It is thicker than the recommended 3/8 inch thick Armaflex insulation and added condensation protection. - Each of the two copper pipes is insulated individually from each other with two separate pieces of insulation. - 1/4 inch thick Armaflex insulation for drainage pipe. - Litaflex (Made in Singapore) or equivalent matte white trunks contain a pipeline. It's reliable and easy to clean and paint if necessary. - Wacker/Siroflex silicone sealant (Made in Holland) to properly seal all the gaps in the trunk to prevent insects/pests from nesting inside. 2. Copper and PVC pipelines are 22 SWG copper pipes (Singapore brand) in accordance with ASTM B280 standards. It is thicker than the recommended 23 SWG copper pip to contain a refrigerant that is under high pressure. Thick copper piping is added protection against corrosion and leakage in the future. - 16mm The internal diameter of the PVC pipe (Singapore brand) is used to transport condensate from the funkoil unit drainage site. The larger internal diameter of 16 mm is more suitable than the less than 13 mm used by others as it is harder to clog. 3. Transaction standards - 3C70 and 3C40 postings from Keystone Cable (S) Pte Ltd or DNE used (Singapore brand). It is important to use a wire from a reputable manufacturer and with 3 cores instead of 2 cores, as 2 cores lack wire and not as safe as 3 cores. Guarantee information - Equipment malfunctions are covered by a warranty from the manufacturer for one year from the date of installation. - Faults in the compressor engine inside the condensate are covered by a guarantee from the manufacturer for a period of five years from the date of installation. - If we install new trunk and pipelines. Malfunctions in the trunk and piping, such as leaking refrigerant and condensate along the trunk, are covered by a warranty from Adept Industries Pte Ltd for one year from the installation date. - Leaking funky unit, air conditioning is not cold and other issues related to irregular or inadequate maintenance of the air conditioning system are not covered by us unless you take on an annual maintenance contract with us. If a contract for annual service is concluded, we will provide a two-month guarantee for such issues after each service.
