In camp Second Chance, mature and stable residents are committed to helping those who arrive in the camp without resources and without the opportunity to help themselves. The first step is to strictly enforce the rules against drugs and alcohol in the camp. A camper who is drunk not only to disrupt the camp's peace with his behavior out of control is also disrupting the efforts of other campers who may be trying to maintain their sobriety. Alcoholism and drug addiction are among the homeless, but active users are not allowed to live in the Second Chance camp. Some residents come to camp Second Chance completely obeyed, just clothes on their backs and not a penny in their pocket. The camp provides these people with the foundations of stability – bedding and clothing, safe space for sleeping, basic sanitary and hygiene protection and access to food. Working together as a team, camp managers, expert case managers and community volunteers help people to calm themselves down from the continuing crisis of street life so they can focus on solving problems in their lives. This is Trinity. Trinity rescued WoofStock 2 on March 2. Chance Camp of Collin Animal Services. Trinity had surgery to have her broken leg amputated. Trinity also has a fractured heretoid, and gave birth to 5 babies in that state, in a shelter where she was 2 weeks old. Trinity is one brave girl. One of her children went to the Rainbow Bridge this morning, leaving two boys and two girls Faith and Hope, two boys being David and Goliath. A volunteer for feeding the bottles, Nichol Slaughter and her teenagers took all the 5-day-old cubs and kept them at all times. It is an original, signed and framed collectible element. Description: Beautiful personal frame and signed postcard sketch, with TV and movie star (and Fort Worth native) BILL PAXTON. We thank Bill for his generosity and care for Trinity Woofstock 2. Chance Camp. You may remember him in Strange Science, Twister, Terminator, Titanic, Apollo 13, True Lies, Hatfields and McCoys. He's about to play in the Texas Rising and play the role of gen. Sam Houston. Apparently, Bill is also a sketch artist whose inspiration comes from film locations and travel– life experiences. For a work of art, you can relax HERE. Leave your quotes in the comments below the part you want. Woofstock's website is here. For Goliath and Hope, Jack's Natural Gourmet Chicken Snacks, LLC Video courtesy of Adriani, photographer in dogsnaples.com. WoofStock honors and remembers the special friends of the past and present, those who are with us and those who passed– human, furry, feathered or others. If you want a donation in honor of or commemorating a person or animal, you can donate to www.hopedogs.org or send a donation to the CPAA, 180 Walden Way, Mechanicsburg, PA. Please bring a note indicating who you worship or remember so that we can post it on our website. WoofStock: Giving second chances On the biggest Texas Grant Day of the year, North Texas Giving Day, where more than $33 million was don't give to a local nonprofit, we decided to contribute to woofStock's second chance camp in Little Elm. To be fully transparent, we are relentlessly backed. Sandy, whom many of you know and love from our customer care team, is a volunteer there and serves on the board of directors. For the Sandy and WoofStock team, bottle-feeding trash to newborn cubs while their mother (who was hit by a car) at surgery is just another happy day at volunteer work. Trinity (Blue mix in the picture above) is just this dog. Like Trinity Trinity From hip and amputated limb surgery, WoofStock's team even knew that the kitten would be with her, that she would love and rest while her puppies were reared. This is a group that really knows and loves animals - it's a lot of inspiring! Trinity and all her puppies have found their homes with WoofStock's care and assistance. Woof, what are you doing here? Woof, what are you doing here? Woohoo! Our entire team at FarmHouse Fresh is looking forward to Sandy's breeders. They arrive at our FHF ranch, often unannounced, because just last night they found this little girl melting or I stopped traffic in the morning because he was stuck in the middle of an intersection.... We love every little one of them and we are stunned by the time and support that WoofStock members like Sandy contribute to every creature, big or small, to make sure they find the family-love of their lives. If you're ever in Little Elm, check out the super popular WoofStock festival and charity events, and consider being a foster carer! This group likes to put the animals in temporary home environments where they can enjoy a loving family before they line up with their home forever. WoofStock 2nd Chance Camp is a registered organisation 501(c)(3), which means that all care for their animals is based on public donations. Your purchases of FarmHouse Fresh products has made a difference! If you are moved by the efforts of this team, consider a private donation. Donation.
