The filter filter by Tommee Tippee Hand Pump Chest is just 10 pounds in the Asda Baby Event - 16 pounds from its 26 pounds. Express yourself with Tommee Tippee's Breast PumpThe Tommee Tippee Breast Pump, apparently the best-selling hand-pumper on the market. It has only three parts to put together, which is great compared to its electric counterpart, which is way more uncomfortable. The set includes a 5oz BPA-free bottle and a slow flow of honeycomb with an easivent valve, a seal cover for storing breast milk, a Steri box for steam sterilization in the microwave, as well as a convenient storage space when not in use and breast pads. Tommee Tippee thrusts that soft touch cup rippling for a lighter and more comfortable expression, but it's certainly a matter of personal opinion. Some users think it actually prevents express. Like most things in parenting, every woman is different, and while this pump may not work for you, the other may - I know I've never gotten with a hand pump - so it's worth trying another pump before giving up. The reviewer here says that the pump is easy to use and clean, and I found it very easy to switch between the chest and the bottle with closer to the nature system. Since then I have tried closer to nature electric pump and medela pump swing, but I'm going to buy the second one as it is by far better for us. Which ironically is the complete opposite of what worked for me. That's why this one only at 10 pounds is great - if it works for you, it's a bargain, and if it's not, you haven't lost much!
