Gerald Kelly Illustrated by Gerald Kelly Featured on Award-winning children's literacy site Storyline Online! Benedict has a pretty sweet life for a bear. Every morning the bees leave a jar of honey on the doorstep, and every day he has honey for breakfast and honey in his tea. It's an important part of his day. But everything changes when the bees go on strike. Now Benedict has to listen to the bees and he realizes that he could have done much more to help them. Will the bees be happy? Benedict lives a very sweet life. Of course, he's a bear, so his needs are pretty simple. The best part of his day is when the bees deliver honey to his door every morning. Gerald loves honey! Honey is most of Gerald's day. He uses it on his toast, he uses it to sweeten his pastries. Gerald puts it in tea before going to bed. That is until the day when there will be no honey. All of a sudden the bees in the yard are all on strike! Benedict tries to go without honey, but his life is not the same. Benedict lives a very sweet life. Of course, he's a bear, so his needs are pretty simple. The best part of his day is when the bees deliver honey to his door every morning. Gerald loves honey! Honey is most of Gerald's day. He uses it on his toast, he uses it to sweeten his pastries. Gerald puts it in tea before going to bed. That is until the day when there will be no honey. All of a sudden the bees in the yard are all on strike! Benedict tries to go without honey, but his life is not the same. Without honey, life is not so sweet. He's getting very sad. That is, when a bee comes to Benedict for the heart to speak. It seemed the bees in Benedict's yard believed they were taken for granted. They in turn took care of Benedict, but realized that he did nothing in exchange for them. They couldn't go the way things were. From bees, Benedict learns what he needs to do to help the bees stay healthy and happy. He learns that bees need certain conditions to make honey, which he loves. Benedict also learns what he can do to help the bees. So Benedict goes to work to make his yard a healthy, happy place for bees. He educates himself on the best flowers for bees. He gets the seeds and plants them, sweats them. He even keeps a garden strait. Benedict also learns about honey and how to collect it. When the bees see the hard work Benedict did to repay them, they are happy again. The strike is over! The bees immediately return to work. Now life is sweet for everyone. It's a sweet book! The message is simple and clear. From the great bear to the tiny bee and flowers, we all share this world. If we care about nature, it will take care of us. I highly recommend this positive book to teach this simple truth to children. Share it with the children in your life, benefit from it, too. ... More details Page 2 Please please bee written and illustrated by Gerald Kelly and read by Rashid Jones. Life is sweet for Benedict. Every morning he wakes up to find cans of fresh honey on the back porch. He makes honey toast for breakfast, bakes honey cake in the afternoon and drinks honey tea before going to bed. But once the banks on Benedict's porch are empty. The bees in his yard went on strike! They're tired of doing all the work around the hive. What can Benedict do to make bees happy and bring back the sweetness in their day? Check out the teacher activity guide here: guide to parenting here: all of our videos on ... Read cheaper...
