is there any way to put Android OS on to a passport or another BlackBerry device that now supports the BlackBerry os? Can it be done? 10-13-18 08:11 AM as 0 Will there be any way to put Android OS on your passport or another BlackBerry device that now supports BlackBerry OS? Can it be done? It's an icebreaker issue. iOS cannot be delivered to Android devices, and Android OS may not be on BB10. They just can run pretty ok on the exotic OS. 10-13-18 08:13 AM as 0 Will there be any way to put Android OS on to a BlackBerry passport or other device that now supports the BlackBerry os? Can it be done? No. Buy KEY2 or KEY2 LE. Patrick Waugh, the_boon and Ellisdeslan like this. 10-13-18 10:19 as 3 Geez, how many times this question has to be asked? Yes I know.... Just one more time. Can it be done? What is preferable with the design of the passport physically over KEYone, Key2 or Key2 LE design available now? 10-13-18 04:21 PM How 0 What is preferable to designing a passport physically over KEYone, Key2 or Key2 LE design available now? Personally, I still prefer the form factor, and my red passport is the legal beautiful phone I've ever owned. The keyboard is great for my giant thumbs and I loved the square screen. Key2 (especially the silver edition) looks like a stretched version of the Passport SE, but I'd like to see one made in the style of an OG passport (especially red). To be honest, if they ever had something of a magical update to all the passports with Android I would probably never buy another phone. 10-14-18 12:34 PM How 0 What is preferable with passport design physically over KEYone, Key2 or Key2 LE design available now? My guesses are a 3-row keyboard, great speakers, and a Work Wide display. In addition, not another device if you could just download an OS that wasn't announced by EOL. Also, you don't need to buy another device if you could just download an OS that wasn't declared EOL. Published via CB10/ATT/No. 10 STL100-3/10.3.3216 yes, the wide screen is awesome. Passport feelings are so good, solid build, great sound, it's a combination of things that makes the passport unique. I'm sure I won't see another device like this, for me at least. Published via CB10 10-14-18 12:48pm As 0 C'mon, you guys already know what we're going to say. Yes now is a good time to say goodbye to these favorite passports and switch to KEY2/LE. And then gone will be the hours of finding the best APK workers for each application, battery discharge, etc... 10-14-18 01:25 PM As 0 Personally I still prefer the form factor and my red passport is the legal beautiful phone I have ever owned. Someone has to pay for the janitor to the CEO and the rest of the infrastructure. 10-14-18 01:34 PM How 0 My guesses are a 3-row keyboard, great speakers, and a Work Wide display. Also, you don't need to buy another device if you could just download an OS that wasn't declared EOL. Published via CB10/ATT/No. 10 STL100-3/10.3.3216 I carried a passport for 12-18 months and it is uncomfortable in the front pocket, even if not a double carry. Key2 and Key2 LE seem to be the extra height that I wanted the passport was when fighting to get out of pocket to answer the call. Unconventional PCB also annoys me. The 4th row of the PKB would have been just fine as it would have added a bit of height. 10-14-18 01:42 PM How 0 Yes, the wide screen is awesome. Passport feeling so good, solid build, great sound, it's these things that make your passport unique. I'm sure I won't see another device like this, for me at least. Published through CB10 Unique (both OS and Form Design) was its problem and the reason is lacking core sales.... We can't expect OEMs to make devices that mainstream consumers won't consider for any reason.... 10-14-18 01:45 PM As 0 And then gone will be hours of searching for the best APK workers.... and spend hours and hours searching for the best apk for your new device. 10-14-18 01:51 PM As 0 I carried a passport for 12-18 months and it is uncomfortable in the front pocket, even if not double carry Pockets are too small. 10-14-18 01:53 PM AS 0 your pockets are too small. The largest pockets are available in the Garanimals line. You don't think I'm going to walk on incompatible, do you? 10-14-18 01:54 p.m. like 1 . . . and spend hours and hours searching for the best apk for your new device. What do you mean? On KEY devices, you just download the latest version from the game store 10-14-18 02:53 PM Like 0 What do you mean? On KEY devices, you just download the latest version from the game store just referring to the amount of time I spent finding/testing/rejecting apps for my android device that replaced my BB10 apps for my passport. As an example, I literally spent 15 hours to find a stock market app that was suitable/likeable/not full of ads/etc like the one that still works great on my passport. Due to the fact that I do not use many applications, I still very much prefer to use my passport and will continue to do so for the foreseeable future. Don't be afraid when the time comes, I'll know when to put it forever, lol. 10-14-18 03:13 PM As 0 I always thought the passport was too big. The classics are just the right size, and the instruments and trackpad rock. Classic 2! 10-14-18 03:28 PM Like 0 Just referring to the amount of time I spent searching/testing/denying etc etc apps for my Android device that replaced my bb10 apps for my passport. With Android, you have to sort out a lot of gems to get to the gems. Sometimes, the less, the more! 10-14-18 03:29 p.m. as 0 agree. With Android, you have to sort out a lot of gems to get to the gems. Sometimes, the less, the more! With BB10, you also have to sort through a lot of stones (different versions of apk) to get to the gems (apk, that actually work) 10-15-18 03:07 AM Like 0 With BB10, you also have to sort through a lot of stones (different versions of apk) to get to the gems (apk's that actually work) wasn't my experience, but it's true that everyone has different requirements/desires that affect rock/gem equations. I had no problem separating the rocks from the gems using BB10, admittedly based in part on the recommendations and conversation found here. Can't say the same about Android as it takes a lot longer for my time researching, and I find it often questionable whether the user ratings found in Google Play can be trusted. With seemingly daily/weekly changes and updates for each Android app on your device, there are also more opportunities to experience problematic software problems (a la Microsoft). Didn't find that so much with BB10. 10-15-18 08:09 HOW 0 0 blackberry passport silver edition android os
