Long considered the gold standard in luxury vinyl boards (LVP) flooring in the UK, Karndean Designflooring is now the emerging brand here on the other side of the pond. Over the past 40 years, the company has built a great reputation for making realistic luxury vinyl overpilla products and was one of the first manufacturers to introduce the free oops concept of LVP. More on that at the moment. Karndean is not a producer of budget funds in the mass market. People looking for a very high-quality design, variety of styles and durability, choose Karndean and do not mind paying higher prices. With this price, however, comes a huge durability and an impressive selection of colors, textures and looks. In fact, Karndean is an established worldwide brand for some of the most demanding commercial landing environments. That says a lot. Sure, there are many brands offering LVP (also called LVT) products, but what makes Karndean Designflooring different? Perhaps, more importantly, do consumers love or hate these differences? Let's take a closer look at Karndean. The key advantages of the Karndean Line vinyl flooring boast all the advantages of flooring the vinyl board as a whole. This: It is easy to keep quiet and warm on your feet Very durable vinyl flooring is softer and warmer on your feet than wood or tiles. It also has some shock and sound absorption quality, so your home will feel quieter and you won't have the creaks and groans of real hardwood or laminate flooring. Cleaning vinyl boards is a breeze only with a mop and a pH-neutral cleaner. Luxury vinyl is also more tolerant of drops, spills and fluctuations in temperature and humidity. By the way, if you are still trying to choose between vinyl board flooring and other flooring class (i.e. wood, tile, laminate, carpet, etc.), finish our recent article on the pros and against vinyl board flooring. Individual product ranges One of the things that makes the Karndean line stand out is its large variety of customizable product ranges. They currently boast eight different product ranges and more than 200 individual product choices. Here's a rundown of the product range currently available: The premium and popular Art Select range features super-realistic wood and stone looks with finishes that mimic the real textures of these natural materials. The Art Select line is also known for offering one of the only options for really realistic wooden parquet vinyl. This line has styles that reproduce the look of oak, hickory, limestone, marble and travertine, among others. The Da Vinci range has thin and sleek wooden boards with beveled edges and wide traditional ceramic and stone tiles. The styles in this line are clearly more rustic and textured in appearance than some other products. Conversely, Van Gogh's product line mimics big wood Re-create the look of real wood, with large planks and fine texture. Van Gogh tiles come in a variety of clean and distressed looks. Michelangelo LVP products are inspired by natural stone and have soft light colors. These unique products have distinctly textured metallic, mosaic and pebble designs. Opus's product range has clean, modern lines in a wide range of wood and concrete textures in grey, brown and white colors, available in the largest format of Karndean boards and tiles. Knight tiles are their most affordable line, but it lacks choice. Knight Tile has both wooden and stone views, and also has a versatile collection of stripes and borders to customize the floor design. Each product range draws inspiration from a variety of natural materials, so the sizes and formats in each product line can vary greatly. In addition, each product line has its own vinyl board thickness and layer wear - some boards are much more durable than others. Keep in mind, boards with thick layers of wear are more durable, so be sure to gauge your durability needs when considering different lines. LooseLay Option They Say: Loose Lay, or LooseLay, is the most versatile and easy to install of all LVP options. Many brands offer a free laying option, but Karndean was one of the pioneers of this system. As the name implies, free lying does not require glue or staples. Instead, it uses its own K-Wave system, which uses a friction clutch to hold the boards on the subfloor. Very cool. Karndean LooseLay can be the perfect solution in small spaces or rooms where you want to reduce noise without having to cost any. In addition, Karndean LooseLay tiles are dimensionally stable so they won't expand or shrink in different moisture levels. This line also includes a wide range of colors and style options such as problematic, gray, chocolate and copper tones in all conventional woody cereal looks. Eco-Friendliest LVP Karndean is one of the most environmentally conscious LVP companies in the world. After hearing years of public complaints about the negative environmental impact of vinyl flooring (e.g. toxic emissions and inability to recycle), Karndean reinfected its products for Global GreenTag certification™. This means that their products have been certified to various environmental air quality standards. The Karndei floors also have a BRE Global Green Guide and are LEED certified. Their products also carry a test certificate from the U.S. Greenguard Environmental Institute and meet for use with children and standard schools, notably LEED Credit 4.3 and CAL 1350. It's like everything. Karndean products were not enough, karndean products are produced in plants certified by the environmental standard ISO 14001 and the ISO 9001 quality standard. What do all these certificates mean to you? Certificates? The floors will never emit volumes of toxic gases that are present in many other brands of lvp floor pads. You may also feel good that when replacing floors in the future, they will not sit in a landfill for all eternity. Easy to maintain according to Karndean, their floors are very resistant to stains and just keep clean, and consumers mostly agree. Their floors cope with spills without deformation and daily drops on the floor will not leave irreversible damage. Unlike carpets, their LVP floors do not act as a breeding ground for dirt, dust and bacteria. Designed to last for many years, each floor carries a lifetime living guarantee. If for some reason one board is damaged, the replacement can be replaced by an installer, so be sure to save some extra tiles after installation. What's more, Karndean recently included an extended PU protective treatment surface in all its floors. This ensures outstanding slip, scuffing and resistance to pollution, turning cleaning and floor maintenance into a simple chore - no more waxing. Some cleaners contain agents that can damage LVP floors, so Karndean supplies its own cleaner (Karndean Clean), specially designed for their floors. It is important to note that in order to maintain a Karndean product warranty, you must use their floor cleaner, which is available in Karndean dealers and internet sites like Amazon. The cost Since Karndean has so many different options to choose from, it will come as no surprise that there are also many different price points. Karndean's budget lines, such as the Knight LVP line and the Opus line, cost between $2.50 and $4.00 per square foot. Mid-range lines such as the Looselay Longboard Series and Korlok Lines Reserve cost between $4.50-$5.00 per square foot. For the top Karndean lines, such as the Art Select line and the Da Vinci line, prices start at $5.00. Also, remember that all Karndean lines have a built-in underlayer that would otherwise have to be purchased separately. While LVP floors are easy to install, it is recommended that you use a professional installer from the Karndean dealer. This ensures that your lifetime warranty is valid and that you will avoid common installation errors that can occur, such as subflora, which is not a level. Karndean has American salons in Las Vegas, Nevada, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and Fort Worth, Texas. Is the vinyl customer's opinion as durable as they say? Some homeowners would say in no way, but Karndean customers are mostly happy. Withering, scratching, dents, and scuffing seem to be common complaints with all the vinyl floors, but these complaints are getting smaller and farther between The Karndei. Their website has verified reviews 4.4/5 rating, and a lot of praise. We have seen consistent praise for Karndean on other online review sites as well, as well, Karndean is not entirely free of critics. From what we've read, most of the negative reviews are the result of (possibly) inevitable accidents or incorrect installations. Frequently asked questions is Karndean Paul worth the money? In our opinion, yes. Karndean flooring is worth the money, especially since this quality flooring is made affordable at a highly affordable point. This flooring is designed to stand up against wear. With the right care, you can expect it to last 35 years at home, much longer than the standard 15-20 years that can be expected for most LVP flooring. Of course, The Karndean LVP flooring doesn't have a life expectancy of hardwood, and it doesn't add value to your home in the way that hardwood does. But if you are looking for the convenience and durability of vinyl, it is worth every penny. Does Karndean Scratch Easily? Like most LVP flooring options, Karndean flooring is more resistant to scratches than wood and many other flooring options, but this doesn't mean it never scratches. Heavy and sharp objects can cut through vinyl with ease. Karndean does its best to protect against scratches by combining a sturdy layer of wear (thickness depends on the line), which is then layered with K-Guard Surface Protection as an additional layer against dirt and bacteria. Karndean also recommends applying Karndean Refresh to the floors as soon as they are laid. This acts as another level of protection. If the floor gets scratched, you can use Karndean Remove to wash the upgrade layer and most scratch with it. The Update layer can then be re-given. In the case of deep scratches, the entire board should be replaced. But it's relatively simple if you install with the Karndean LooseLay system. How long does the Karndei flooring last? Karndean is so confident in the durability of their product that they offer a lifetime warranty on their livingboards, and guarantees of 10 to 20 years in commercial terms, depending on the product line. Of course, this only covers the structural integrity of the floor and does not guarantee that your floor will not become faded or scratched. With the right care, your floor should continue to look good for 15 to 20 years. Can dogs scratch Karndean flooring? The Karndei floors are very resistant to scratches, and thanks to its additional K-Guard layer, it should not be overly dependent on pet nails. However, owners should also take responsibility and keep pet nails at reasonable lengths to make sure they don't make deep potholes or scratches on the surface. Can you Mop Karndean? Yes, you can mop your Karndei floors with a wet mop and pH balanced cleaning solution. However, in order to keep your warranty intact, it is best to use Karndean cleaners that are specially designed to work with their floors. It's This. It is also possible to pair clean Karndei floors without damaging them, although the manufacturer suggests that this should be done with caution and that it is best to use their cleaning system designed specifically for their floors. Can you vacuum the Karndei flooring? Although sweeping is recommended as sufficient to clean the dirt and debris on the Karndei floors, they can also be vacuumed. But make sure you have a vacuum cleaner with attachments suitable for vinyl flooring to protect against damage caused by a head brush, etc. The Karndei floors are designed to be easy to install, so anyone with a reasonable DIY experience should be able to do the job themselves. However, if you decide to enlist the services of a specialist, you should expect to pay between $1.50-$3.00 per square foot to install. Can you remove scratches from the Karndei floor? If you have applied Karndean Refresh to the floors, it is relatively easy to remove light scratches. You just use Karndean Remove to remove the refresh layer, which should take any small scratches with it. You can then apply the new Refresh layer. If you don't have a layer of updates and the scratch hasn't penetrated beyond the wear layer, polishing the area around scratch can help reduce its visibility. But for any scratches that have penetrated for wear later, the only way to remove them is to replace the board. It's relatively easy to do without having to lift most of the floor, but make sure you always buy extra boards when installing flooring in order to have some in reserve. Does Karndean floor disappear in sunlight? Yes, like most floors, the Karndei floors will disappear with regular exposure to direct sunlight. Flooring uses a UV inhibitor to reduce the effects of exposure, but as a sunscreen, this has limited effectiveness. Manufacturers recommend using stock blinds to minimize exposure to the sun's floor, that is, if you are willing to sacrifice your beautiful sunny look. Verdict If you are looking for a high-quality LVP flooring that looks like real wood or tile and is still affordable, Karndean is a great range to investigate. They offer some of the best-quality LVP flooring on the market and by far the largest selection of LVP stone and wood flooring type selections. All LVP flooring has its drawbacks, in particular, it won't do anything for the resale value of your home, and it can be susceptible to fading and dent. But while much LVP flooring also comes with a range of environmental and health risks, Karndean has worked hard to reduce these. They now offer some of the most environmentally friendly and safe LVP overbed options available anywhere. If you are looking for LVP flooring, we highly recommend you include Karndean your list of brands to consider.
