Joan Guimaraes Rosa was born in Cordisburg, Minas Gerais, a Brazilian writer (except for a diplomat, a doctor and a polyglot). His work is recognized as one of the largest in national literature, mainly to combine the author's scholarship and his knowledge of several languages with a deep perception of life in Minas Gerais-hain. The unparalleled aesthetic work of Guimaraes Rosa has created its own vocabulary and bearish university, but is inspired by the sensitive life of Sertanejo oral tradition, local life and its local imagination. Check out below some audio reading of this wonderful writer's stories, including the dramatization of My Uncle Iauaret by Lima Duarte and a beautiful excerpt from Grande sertão: veredas in the voice of Maria Bethany! For example, several authors, such as Jose de Alencar, Graçiliano Ramos and Jose Lears-do-Rego, have already gone the same way. Each of them, in his own way, worked on different resources of the language of Sertanejo. However, they often prefer to mix regional talk with the cultural norm. The innovative proposal of Guimaraes Rosa was to recreate the conversation about sertanejo not only in the lexicon, but also in the organization of the phrase. Thus, talk of a back-up case permeates the entire narrative, also affecting the entire structure of the text. He was the second husband of araki de Carvalho Guimaraes Rosa, known as the Angel of Hamburg. He was also a doctor and diplomat. Stories and novels written by Guimaraes Rosa almost everything takes place in the so-called Brazilian Sertao. His work stands out, first of all, by linguistic innovations, marked by the influence of popular and regional speeches, which, in addition to the author's erudition, have allowed to create countless words from archaisms and popular words, inventions and semantic and syntactical interventions of Magical realism, regionalism, freedom of linguistic inventions and neologisms are among the fundamental characteristics of the literature of Himares Rosa. Guimaraes Rose proves how important it is to have language in the service of a topic, and vice versa, one potentiation of the other. In this sense, the writer from Minas Gerais discovers a metamorphosis in Brazilian regionalism that will return it to the center of Brazilian fiction. In the Brazilian Academy, he is the third occupier of chair 2, elected on August 6, 1963, in the succession of Jo'o Neves da Fontoura and received by the academic Afonso Arinos de Melo Franco on November 16, 1967.
