The main download URL for the app now has a new version, I was able to upgrade to a new version using this. I can't find a link to download the latest img. Changelog for img says it improves wireless stability, so this will hopefully fix the problem that I've been with since May 20, 2019, 01:00 pm #654 More quote: Originally published by dchuraman I just tried to update from the app and it actually updated the APK to the last normal, but the update window won't work. I'd hold off until the next firmware tbn sent from my iPhone via Tapatalk on May 20, 2019, 01:06pm #655 senior member of Bristol Read more Quote: Originally published by Ravijordan1 This is the message I received from a carlinke seller today today Wireless Key: Friend, I read your post and thank you for the update. There is a way to make the product work, you can remove Apk, and re-install the first (APK you install until very early). please try, thank you very much Yes, they suggested that to me, but I've tried that and it didn't matter. I passed this information back to them that it didn't restore functionality, but there was no response from them yet. I was just trying the updated APK that was mentioned above, and installing what it told me was a BOX update. I clicked the updated one and it updated the key and now I have wireless back features No idea if it would disable as I haven't been to drive yet with it, but glad it's working again. Now I have the APK 2019 version.05.20.1041 and the BOX version 2019.05.17.1321 May 20, 2019, 01:13 PM No #656 Junior Member More Yes I also just managed to update both of these versions now. Let's see that stability as May 20, 2019, 01:27 pm No #657 Junior member More on May 20, 2019, 01:54 pm #658 junior member More what's the difference between autoplaybox.apk and autokit.apk? Are they both working on a Carlinke box? And if this image is correct for the Carlinke box? I'm confused with the differences between the different programs Different dongles use different apps. My old white wired key is used to use autoplaybox. Black wired ones I think used autokit and as far as I know, only autokit supports wireless. They're both pretty comparable in terms of features and attitude, but they don't support everything. Since manufacturers use autokit for this, I don't think it will ever change to tbn autoplaybox. I reinstall the old version (2019.10.30.1332) and is currently running. Anyone with the same problem? Any recommended solution? Page 2 23 comments comments
