

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

Package Name: com.sangapps.appstore Version: 1.1 (2) File size: 945.1 KB Updated: April 1, 2020 Minimum version Android: Android 4.0 (Ice Cream Sandwich, API 14) MD5: 3dbc4c9836e8b9b6efcf866631b6 SHA1: 2e5de0bd7356a65f07a238b0b007dfeba79d572 Open Menu Close Menu On this page you will find information on how to install iOS on Android. After downloading iOS to Android software, you have to connect your Android smartphone or tablet to your computer and run the program. It will install iOS on your Android device without rooting it. In addition, backup will be done in case you want to remove iOS from your Android phone or tablet. Below are the instructions for installing iOS on Android. READ ALSO: 3 ways to back up Android Phone on your computer After downloading iOS to Android software on a PC or Mac, extract deductible files or a package of apps if you're on a Mac. Put it in a folder that you can find later. Now follow these steps. Step 1. Open iOS on Android installation files on your desktop or laptop. Step 2. Choose an iOS folder on Android. Typically, windows software files and Mac apps. Step 3. Start installer and open iOS on Android. Step 4. Connect your phone or tablet to your computer with a USB cable. Although all compatible cables will work, we recommend using the original cable. Step 5. iOS on Android recognizes your device. See if the program shows a model of your phone or tablet. If not, try upgrading to the latest version of the software. You can find a check for updates... option under the Settings tab. New phones are released almost every week, so be sure to update the software. Step 6. Check out the options you want. While this is optional, we strongly recommend that you back up your phone in your current state. None of your photos, videos or other files will be deleted when you install iOS on Android, but it's best to have a backup. You can also choose between iOS 7 and 8. The newest version of iOS will be installed by default. Step 7. Click Set and Wait for the program to install iOS on your Android device. Step 8. Once the installer is done, your device will be restarted and you are done! Here's how to install iOS on Android devices. You can now use all the features and features of iOS on your Android phone or tablet. Recommendation: Manage iPhone/iPad/iPod/Android with ease Support for transmission, editing, backup, management, mobile browsing iOS and Android: Music, video, photos, apps, e-books, contacts, messages and more. Download videos from 100 video sharing sites to 4K HD video quality and on iPad/iPhone/iPod/Android. Massive free resources: video, wallpaper, melodies Handy toolkit: Audio converter, video converter, ringtone maker, etc. Free Go to learn more. Smartphones allow us to do a lot of basic things using the apps that come with it. This allows us to play music or videos, take pictures of scenery and set alarms. Alone, it's amazing, however, there are other functions that it can't perform. For example, some devices do not have a built-in calculator or music player. So, instead of buying a media player, you can turn to the list of the best Android app download site below. The best Android sites to download AppsGoogle Play is the best known app store that allows users to install free and paid apps on their Android phones right away. It is available for every Android device and offers millions of apps and games. APKApps APK apps also give mobile users the ability to download popular apps from the market. Unlike Google Play, it doesn't install apps or games on your phone directly; Instead, it gives you an APK file that you run on your phone to get your chosen app. GetJarOne of the largest open app stores and mobile app markets is GetJar. This can be seen as one of the best free Android app download sites because it gives you the freedom to get the APK files of the apps you need and also allows developers to download their own apps. AptoideAptoide is a great alternative to Google Play because it allows users to browse and install apps and games directly on their smartphones. However, it is a little different in that users manage their own stores rather than having a unique and centralized one. SoftpediaSoftpedia allows users to download APK files that are genuine and digitally signed by developers. It also ensures that your phone will not be damaged as it scans your files several times for possible viral threats. CnetYou can also visit Cnet to download APK files for your Android devices. The page categorizes apps according to its service. MoboMarketMoboMarket is a notable site that offers numerous apps and games. It recommends games and apps that are popular in your area.1mobileNext is on the list of the best sites for free Android 1mobile apps. In addition to downloading well-known apps, it covers other categories that are not supported by the default app store on Android.Slide MeLike 1mobile, Slide Me is a niche of unsupported apps and games in the Google Play Store. The site allows developers to publish their own creations and share them with other mobile users. APK4FreeAPK4Free gives Android users the ability to download APK files. So you can download paid apps and games without paying anything. APKSFreeOne's larger website that will allow you to get APK files for your Android devices is APKSFree. It has a wide variety of apps and games that you can easily download along with some useful news and reviews. APKpureAPKPure provides an extensive list of apps and games for Android fans. This also includes the history of the version version From apps. Mob.org In case you still don't know where to download android apps, you can go to Mob.org. Apps and games are classified accordingly, so you won't find it difficult to search for a specific app. Amazonin in addition to the above, Amazon has many apps and games that can be downloaded and installed on your Android devices. This is actually one of the best alternatives to Google Play.Get Android StuffBeca because of the abundance of apps on the market, users may get confused about what to install on their devices. Get Android Stuff gives you a list of the best apps or games for a particular theme and provides a clickable link that redirects to the download page. Bemobi Mobile StoreBemobi Mobile Store is a browser-based app store that stores a wide range of popular apps and games. It works on a variety of mobile phones and tablet operating systems, except the Android platform. PhandroidPhandroid makes it the top Android apps download list of sites with its comprehensive collection of apps and games. It supports some of the best apps and games for your smartphones. PandaappPandaapp allows Android, iOS and Symbian users to browse and download apps for their devices. You can also get wallpaper and melodies. AppitalismIf the download site for apps is Appitalism. You can find a bunch of apps and exciting games for free. Android Games RoomAndroid Games Room is also a good tool for downloading android apps. This gives Android users the ability to install games on their devices effortlessly. AppBrainAppBrain makes it easier to find, install, share, and manage apps on Android devices with an intuitive interface. It supports popular apps and the best games from the market. MobangoAnother recommended the best Android site for downloading Mobango apps. Aside from the apps it has, the page is loaded with various videos related to apps that you can view for free. How to bulk Install apps on Android with PC? Most of the sites mentioned above provide an APK file that still needs to be launched on your Android. This means that it doesn't download apps directly to your devices and requires additional steps before using a specific app or game. Fortunately, you can rely on ApowerManager. This professional phone manager lets you control Android and iOS devices with Windows and Mac PCs. You can import and export files such as photos, videos, music, and documents. It also gives you the ability to organize apps installed on your phone. So you can use this to install multiple APKs on your phone. Here's how: Download and install ApowerManager on your computer and Android devices. DownloadNext, run the program and connect your phone with a USB cable. You can also connect wirelessly by scanning the CD code. Then go to the Management tab and select select From the side menu. Hit the Set and Download APK files you downloaded using the sites above. In addition, ApowerManager allows you to back up Android phone data and mirror screen from Android to PC. Conclusion, these websites will help you get your favorite apps on Android devices. If you decide to download APK files, ApowerManager can help you install your apps without any difficulty. Android Studios is the fastest tool to create apps on every type of Android device. Платформа Android Studio Пакет Размер SHA-256 checksum Windows (64-битный) андроид-студия-ide-201.6858069-windows.exe Рекомендуемые 896 MB 1 27bf487a8726752fa3532b980298b667eb7acde68d805084e9cf1cfc608 8251 андроидстудия-ide-201.6858069-windows.zip No_exe установщик 900 Mb 7237d03cf680c11 56589b2e0f7e3205139581f88fb528b8aad05d3cee57e02a Mac (64-4-bit андроид-студия-ide-201.6858069-mac.dmg 878 Mb e65be362e01b6272007e5b6009d6 b33df4a48f03ec8d15680500 Linux (64-битный) андроид-студия-ide-201.685 8069-linux.tar.gz 883 Mb 4b9521f4a6313ad65ff5e14b0f3f50427464fe1 4227555555546e0ffad202 Chrome OS android-studio-ide-201.6858069-cros deb 743 Mb 925bd9632723dabd16efeb740a29ec6b3e25a30d02915b67f09131aa7b38d6 Смотрите примечания к релизу Android Studio. Другие загрузки доступны в архивах загрузки. Загрузите последние версии плагина Android Gradle and Google Maven dependencies to build your project offline. Channel Component Size SHA-256 checksum Preview 126 Mb 3af278a81162aa65f103bf51f86664cf5179de047c93111e2f86251d4d09d9db3 Stable Google Maven Dependencies 99 2724 Mb f632eed0d7c2e5e54065242d7e44156eff10df88c4ffad6132958f2c0e2f2f1 If you don't android you need Studio, you can download the Android baseline below. You can use the included sdkmanager to download other SDK packages. These tools are included in Android Studio. Platform SDK Tools Package size SHA-256 checksum Windows commandlinetools-linux-6609375_latest.zip 82 Mb 40bba20275180194bfeb9b58c74d712bb93cc401f36bd2f8f32333caf9826c Mac command command Line tools -mac-6609375_latest.zip 82 Mb 2c382db1c916665223e5e8ce0fbf6b73db0e9012045c9dc8aa6a5736c0c55 Linux commandlinetools-linux-6609375_latest.zip 82 Mb. 89f308315e041c9337a79e0627c47721d5c5edbe5e80ea8dc0a649e0e92 You must accept the following conditions before downloading. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. This licensing agreement is a legally binding contract between you and Google to use SDK. 1.2 Android means stack Android for devices provided through the Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time). time). Android devices: (i) meet the requirements of the Documentation for Android Compatibility (Android Compatibility Site, Updated from Time to Time) and (ii) and (iii) successfully pass the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, and operates mainly at 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 To use SDK, you must first agree to this Licensing Agreement. If you don't accept this license agreement, you won't be able to use SDK. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under The Laws of the United States or other countries, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK or accept this License Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you with a limited, global, royalty, unprepared, non-exclusive and sublimated SDK license in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement to develop apps only for Android-compatible implementations. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDKs for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party owns all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK, including all the intellectual property rights that exist in this SDK. Intellectual property means any rights that currently have force in patent law, copyright, trade secrets law, trademark law and any other property laws. Google reserves all rights that you are not directly granted. 3.4 You cannot use SDK for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You cannot copy (except for backup purposes), modify, adapt, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of SDK, except for backup targets, to the extent required by a applicable third party license. 3.5 the reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this open source software license and does not fall under this License Agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notice of you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree that Google may unilaterally decide to suspend (permanently or temporarily) the provision of SDK (or any SDK) functions to you or users without notice. 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that would give you access to Google, Google. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive from you (or your licensing side) the right, title or interest in any software applications you have developed with SDK, including any intellectual property rights that exist in these applications, in accordance with this Licensing Agreement. 4.2 You agree to use SDK and write applications only for purposes permitted (a) of this Licensing Agreement and (b) any applicable law, regulation or common practice or guidelines in the relevant jurisdiction, including any law relating to the export of data or software to the United States or other relevant countries and the import of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If a user provides information about a Google account for your app, your app can only use that information to access a user's Google account when it is authorized by a user with a limited purpose, which the user has permission to do. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible for any data, content or resources you create, transmit, or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may cause, and that Google will not be held accountable to you or any third party. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for any non-compliance with your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping any developer credentials confidential that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your developer credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and information about the tools and/or services used in SDK, and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before collecting any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you agree that Google is not responsible for such apps, data, content, or resources. You understand that Google is not responsible for all the data, content, or resources that you can access through such third-party apps from the person who originally provided them, and Google is not responsible for any loss or damage that you may incur as a result of using or accessing any such third-party applications, data, content, or resources. 7.2 You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this Licensing Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1 If you use the api to obtain data from Google, you recognize that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or the data provider (or other individuals or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use an API to obtain user data from Google, you understand and agree that you will only receive data with explicit user consent and only for the limited purpose for which the user licenses it. If you use the Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in the whose content is updated from time to time), you recognize that you are using the API according to the data processing app for Google products as data processors and its contents are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2 If you want to terminate this License Agreement, you can do so by stopping the use of SDK and any relevant developer credentials. 9.3 Google may terminate this License Agreement at any time if (A) you violate any of the terms of this License Agreement, or (B) (B) Google must terminate this Agreement, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts of the SDK, such as the API, terminate their partnership with Google or no longer provide you with certain parts of the SDK, or (D) Google decides not to provide specific parts of SDK or SDK to you in the country in which you live, or the country in which you use the Services, or Google identifies that it is no longer commercially possible to provide you with an SDK or some SDK services. 9.4 Once this Licensing Agreement is terminated, all legal rights, obligations and obligations that you and Google receive from this are subject (or accumulated over time during the duration of this Licensing Agreement) or will remain indefinitely unconspicuously subject to termination, and paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to these rights, obligations and obligations. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK is on your own account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 You are fully responsible and at your own risk for the use of SDK and any content downloaded or received through SDK, and are fully responsible for the damage or loss of data of your computer system or other devices as a result of such use. 10.3 Google further explicitly states that Google does not provide any form of direct or implied warranty or condition, including, but not limited to, implied guarantees and conditions for profitability, suitability for specific purposes, and non-infringing rights of others. 11.1 You directly understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory of liability for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages that you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of any possibility of such loss. 12.1 You agree to protect Google, its affiliates and its respective directors, Officials, employees and agents are to the maximum extent permitted by law from any claims, actions, prosecutions or litigation arising from any damages, debts, damages, liability or damages, including reasonable attorney fees: (a) your use of SDK, (b) any application you develop on SDK violates any intellectual property rights of any person or slanders anyone or infringes on anyone's privacy, and (c) any non-compliance with this License Agreement. 13.1 Google may make some changes to this agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google, and your use of SDK (except for any services provided by Google under a separate written agreement) is governed by this Agreement. At the same time, this agreement will completely overshadow any agreement you have previously entered into with Google for SDK. 14.2 You agree, even if Google, Google. Any legal rights or remedies that Google has under any applicable law are not considered a formal automatic waiver of these rights by Google, and Google may still exercise these rights or take appropriate remedial action. 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree that each of Google's subsidiaries is a third-party beneficiary of this Licensing Agreement and that such other companies have the right to directly enforce this Licensing Agreement and to claim rights (or rights in their favour) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. In addition, no other person or company may be third-party beneficiaries of this Licensing Agreement. 14.5 Export restrictions. SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google cannot transfer or transfer the rights granted in this License Agreement without the prior written permission of the other party. Neither you nor Google can delegate your responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others without prior written approval from the other party. 14.7 This is a licensing agreement and your relationship with Google under this Licensing Agreement is governed by the laws of the state of California, USA, except for the conflict of laws in this Licensing Agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019 You must accept the following terms before you can download. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. This licensing agreement is a legally binding contract between you and Google to use SDK. 1.2 Android means software stack for devices provided through Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time). 1.3 The compatibility implementation device is any Android device that (i) meets the requirements of The Android Compatibility Detection Documentation (which is updated from time to time on the Android compatibility site and (ii) successfully passes the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, and operates mainly at 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 to use. Sdk. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under The Laws of the United States or other countries, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK or accept this License Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you with a limited, global, royalty, unprepared, non-exclusive and sublimated SDK license in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement to develop apps only for Android-compatible implementations. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDKs for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party owns all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK, including all the intellectual property rights that exist in this SDK. Intellectual property means any rights that currently have force in patent law, copyright, trade secrets law and any other property laws. Google reserves all rights that you are not directly granted. 3.4 You cannot use SDK for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You cannot copy (except for backup purposes), modify, adapt, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of SDK, except for backup targets, to the extent required by a applicable third party license. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this license agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notice of you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree that Google can unilaterally decide to suspend (permanently or temporarily) the granting of SDK to you or users (or any SDK functions) without notice. 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that grant you the right to use any trademarks, trademarks, service marks, logos, domain names, or other unique brand features. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive from you (or your licensing side) the right, title or interest in any software applications you have developed with SDK, including any intellectual property rights that exist in these applications, in accordance with this Licensing Agreement. 4.2 You agree to do so only for (a) the purposes of this Licensing Agreement and (b) (b) SDK and write apps. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If a user provides information about a Google account for your app, your app can only use that information to access a user's Google account when it is authorized by a user with a limited purpose, which the user has permission to do. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible for any data, content or resources you create, transmit, or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may cause, and that Google will not be held accountable to you or any third party. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for any non-compliance with your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping any developer credentials confidential that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your developer credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and information about the tools and/or services used in SDK, and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you agree that Google is not responsible for such apps, data, content, or resources. You understand that Google is not responsible for all the data, content, or resources that you can access through such third-party apps from the person who originally provided them, and Google is not responsible for any loss or damage that you may incur as a result of using or accessing any such third-party applications, data, content, or resources. 7.2 You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this Licensing Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1 If you use the api to obtain data from Google, you recognize that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or the data provider (or other individuals or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use an API to obtain user data from Google, you understand and agree that you will only receive data with explicit user consent and only for the limited purpose for which the user licenses it. If you use the Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in the content of which is updated from time to time), you recognize that you are using the API in accordance with the app for processing data for Google products as data processors (the application is and its contents are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2 If you want to terminate this License Agreement, you can do so by stopping the use of SDK and any relevant developer credentials. 9.3 Google may terminate this Licensing Agreement at any time if (A) you violate any terms of this Licensing Agreement, or (B) Google must terminate this Agreement in accordance with the law, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts of the SDK, such as the API, terminate your partnership with Google, or you will no longer be given a certain part of the SDK, or (D) Google decides not to provide a specific portion of the SDK or SDK to the country in which you live, or you use the services, or Google unilaterally determines that it is no longer commercially viable to grant you 9.4 after the termination of this License Agreement all the legal rights, obligations and obligations that you and Google receive from this are subject to this (or accumulate) period within the duration of this Licensing Agreement) or in direct remains unspicuously indefinitely, and paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to these rights, obligations and obligations. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK is on your own account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 For KFOR and through KFOR. Kfor. 10.3 Google further explicitly states that Google does not provide any form of direct or implied warranty or condition, including, but not limited to, implied guarantees and conditions for profitability, suitability for specific purposes, and non-infringing rights of others. 11.1 You directly understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory of liability for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages that you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of any possibility of such loss. 12.1 You agree to protect Google, its affiliates and its respective directors, officials, employees and agents as much as possible permitted by law from any claims, lawsuits, prosecutions or proceedings arising from any or any loss, debt, loss, expense, expense and expenses, including reasonable attorney fees: (a) your use of SDK; Any application developed in violation of any intellectual property rights of any person or slanders any person or violates any person's right to a business image or the right to privacy; 13.1 Google may make some changes to this license agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google, and your use of SDK (except for any services provided by Google under a separate written agreement) is governed by this Agreement. At the same time, this agreement will completely overshadow any agreement you have previously entered into with Google for SDK. 14.2 You agree that Google may exercise these rights or take appropriate remedies, even if Google does not exercise or enforce any of the legal rights or remedies described in this Licensing Agreement (or that Google enjoys under any applicable law). 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree that each of Google's subsidiaries is a third-party beneficiary of this Licensing Agreement, and that such other companies have the right to directly enforce this to claim rights (or rights in their favor) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. In addition, no other person or company may be third-party beneficiaries of this Licensing Agreement. 14.5 Export restrictions. SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google without the other party's prior written permission. Side. Neither Google can delegate its responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others. 14.7 This is a licensing agreement and your relationship with Google under this Licensing Agreement is governed by the laws of the state of California, USA, except for the conflict of laws in that state. You and Google agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Santa Clara County Court, California, to resolve any legal issues arising from this Licensing Agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019 You must accept the following terms before you can download. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. This licensing agreement is a legally binding contract between you and Google to use SDK. 1.2 Android means a stack of Android software for devices provided through Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time). 1.3 The compatibility implementation device is any Android device that (i) meets the requirements of The Android Compatibility Detection Documentation (which is updated from time to time on the Android compatibility site and (ii) successfully passes the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, and operates mainly at 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 To use SDK, you must first agree to this Licensing Agreement. If you don't accept this license agreement, you won't be able to use SDK. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under The Laws of the United States or other countries, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK or accept this License Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you SDK's global, royalty, unprepared, unsolivable and sub-limable SDK license in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement to develop applications only for Android-compatible implementations. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDKs for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party has all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK. Sdk. All rights not directly granted to you are reserved. 3.4 You cannot use SDK for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You cannot copy (except for backup purposes), modify, adapt, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of SDK, except for backup targets, to the extent required by a applicable third party license. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this open source software license and does not fall under this license agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notice of you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree that Google may unilaterally decide to suspend (permanently or temporarily) the provision of SDK (or any SDK) functions to you or users without notice. 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that grant you the right to use any trademarks, trademarks, service marks, logos, domain names, or other unique brand features. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive from you (or your licensing side) the right, title or interest in any software applications you have developed with SDK, including any intellectual property rights that exist in these applications, in accordance with this Licensing Agreement. 4.2 You agree to use SDK and write applications only for purposes permitted (a) of this Licensing Agreement and (b) any applicable law, regulation or common practice or guidelines in the relevant jurisdiction, including any law relating to the export of data or software to the United States or other relevant countries and the import of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If a user provides information about a Google account for your app, your app can only use that information to access a user's Google account when it is authorized by a user with a limited purpose, which the user has permission to do. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible for any data, content or resources you create, transmit, or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may cause, and that Google will not be held accountable to you or any third party. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for any non-compliance with your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping any developer credentials confidential that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your developer credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and related information. Information about the tools and/or services used and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before collecting any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you agree that Google is not responsible for such apps, data, content, or resources. You understand that Google is not responsible for all the data, content, or resources that you can access through such third-party apps from the person who originally provided them, and Google is not responsible for any loss or damage that you may incur as a result of using or accessing any such third-party applications, data, content, or resources. 7.2 You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this Licensing Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1 If you use the api to obtain data from Google, you recognize that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or the data provider (or other individuals or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use an API to obtain user data from Google, you understand and agree that you will only receive data with explicit user consent and only for the limited purpose for which the user licenses it. If you're using the Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in content that is updated from time to time), you recognize that you are using the API in accordance with the app to process data for Google products as data processors (the application is and its contents are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2. 9.2. SDK and any relevant developer credentials are terminated. 9.3 Google may terminate this Licensing Agreement at any time if (A) you violate any terms of this Licensing Agreement, or (B) Google must terminate this Agreement in accordance with the law, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts of the SDK, such as THEIs, terminate your partnership with Google, or you will no longer be granted a certain portion of SDK, or Google decides not to provide a specific part of the SDK in which you live, or you use the service, or Google unilaterally determines that it is no longer commercially viable to provide you with 9.4 After the termination of this License Agreement all legal rights, obligations and obligations that you and Google receive from this are subject (or accumulate over time during the duration of this License Agreement) or will not directly be dependent on such termination indefinitely, and paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to these rights, obligations and responsibilities. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK is on your own account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 You are fully responsible and at your own risk for the use of SDK and any content downloaded or received through SDK, and are fully responsible for the damage or loss of data of your computer system or other devices as a result of such use. 10.3 Google further explicitly states that Google does not provide any form of direct or implied warranty or condition, including, but not limited to, implied guarantees and conditions for profitability, suitability for specific purposes, and non-infringing rights of others. 11.1 You directly understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory of liability for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages that you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of any possibility of such loss. 12.1 You agree to protect Google, its affiliates and relevant directors, officials, employees and agents to the maximum extent permitted by law from any claims, actions, prosecutions or litigation arising from any damages, debt, loss, liability or damages, including reasonable attorney's fees: (a) your use of SDK, (b) any application you develop on SDK violates the intellectual property of any or slanders someone or violates someone's right to a business image or privacy, and (c) any non-compliance with this License Agreement. 13.1 Google may make some changes to this license agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google and the use of SDK (except Google). Google). Any previous agreements that Google has entered into with SDK. 14.2 You agree that Google may exercise these rights or take appropriate remedies, even if Google does not exercise or enforce any of the legal rights or remedies described in this Licensing Agreement (or that Google enjoys under any applicable law). 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree that each of Google's subsidiaries is a third-party beneficiary of this Licensing Agreement and that such other companies have the right to directly enforce this Licensing Agreement and to claim rights (or rights in their favour) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. In addition, no other person or company may be third-party beneficiaries of this Licensing Agreement. 14.5 Export restrictions. SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google cannot transfer or transfer the rights granted in this License Agreement without the prior written permission of the other party. Neither you nor Google can delegate your responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others without prior written approval from the other party. 14.7 This is a licensing agreement and your relationship with Google under this Licensing Agreement is governed by the laws of the state of California, USA, except for the conflict of laws in that state. You and Google agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Santa Clara County Court, California, to resolve any legal issues arising from this Licensing Agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019 You must accept the following terms before you can download. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. It's a licensing agreement. legally binding contract between you and Google to use SDK. 1.2 Android means a stack of Android software for devices provided through Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time)). 1.3 The compatibility implementation device is any Android device that (i) meets the requirements of The Android Compatibility Detection Documentation (which is updated from time to time on the Android compatibility site and (ii) successfully passes the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, with the main location of 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Parkway, View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 To use SDK, you must first agree to this Licensing Agreement. If you don't accept this license agreement, you won't be able to use SDK. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under The Laws of the United States or other countries, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK or accept this License Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you with a limited, global, royalty, unprepared, non-exclusive and sublimated SDK license in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement to develop apps only for Android-compatible implementations. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDKs for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party owns all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK, including all the intellectual property rights that exist in this SDK. Intellectual property means any rights that currently have force in patent law, copyright, trade secrets law, trademark law and any other property laws. Google reserves all rights that you are not directly granted. 3.4 You cannot use SDK for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You cannot copy (except for backup purposes), modify, adapt, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of SDK, except for backup targets, to the extent required by a applicable third party license. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this open source software license and does not fall under this license agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notify you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree that Google may unilaterally decide to suspend (permanently or temporarily) the provision of SDK (or any SDK) functions to you or users without notice. 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that grant you the right to use any trademarks, trademarks, service marks, logos, domain names, or other unique brand features. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive SDK from you (or your license party) under this Licensing Agreement. Agreement. 4.2 You agree to use SDK and write applications only for purposes permitted (a) of this Licensing Agreement and (b) any applicable law, regulation or common practice or guidelines in the relevant jurisdiction, including any law relating to the export of data or software to the United States or other relevant countries and the import of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If a user provides information about a Google account for your app, your app can only use that information to access a user's Google account when it is authorized by a user with a limited purpose, which the user has permission to do. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible for any data, content or resources you create, transmit, or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may cause, and that Google will not be held accountable to you or any third party. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping the privacy of any developer credentials that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your developer credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and information about the tools and/or services used in SDK, and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before collecting any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you must agree with Google. Google. not responsible. 7.2 You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this Licensing Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1. If you use the api to obtain data from Google, you recognize that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or the data provider (or other individuals or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use an API to obtain user data from Google, you understand and agree that you will only receive data with explicit user consent and only for the limited purpose for which the user licenses it. If you use the Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in the content of which is updated from time to time), you recognize that you are using the API in accordance with the app for processing data for Google products as data processors (the application is and its contents are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2 If you want to terminate this License Agreement, you can do so by stopping the use of SDK and any relevant developer credentials. 9.3 Google may terminate this License Agreement at any time if (A) you are violating any terms of this Licensing Agreement, or (B) Google must terminate this Agreement in accordance with the law, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts such as the API, terminate your partnership with Google, or you will no longer be given a certain part of the SDK, or (D) Google decides not to provide a specific portion of the SDK or SDK to the country in which you live, or you use the service, or Google unilaterally determines that it is no longer commercially viable to provide you with 9.4 When this license agreement terminates, you and Google. Google. Paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to the aforementioned rights, obligations and responsibilities. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK is on your own account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 You are fully responsible and at your own risk for the use of SDK and any content downloaded or received through SDK, and are fully responsible for the damage or loss of data of your computer system or other devices as a result of such use. 10.3 Google further explicitly states that Google does not provide any form of direct or implied warranty or condition, including, but not limited to, implied guarantees and conditions for profitability, suitability for specific purposes, and non-infringing rights of others. 11.1 You directly understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory of liability for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages that you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of any possibility of such loss. 12.1 You agree to protect Google, its affiliates and its respective directors, officials, employees and agents as much as possible permitted by law from any claims, lawsuits, prosecutions or proceedings arising from any or any loss, debt, loss, expense, expense and expenses, including reasonable attorney fees: (a) your use of SDK; Any application developed in violation of any intellectual property rights of any person or slanders any person or violates any person's right to a business image or the right to privacy; 13.1 Google may make some changes to this license agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google, and your use of SDK (except for any services provided by Google under a separate written agreement) is governed by this Agreement. At the same time, this agreement will completely overshadow any agreement you have previously entered into with Google for SDK. 14.2 You agree that Google may exercise these rights or take appropriate remedies, even if Google does not exercise or enforce any of the legal rights or remedies described in this Licensing Agreement (or that Google enjoys in accordance with any legislation). 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree with Google. Google. 14.5 Export restrictions. SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google cannot transfer or transfer the rights granted in this License Agreement without the prior written permission of the other party. Neither you nor Google can delegate your responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others without prior written approval from the other party. 14.7 This is a licensing agreement and your relationship with Google under this Licensing Agreement is governed by the laws of the state of California, USA, except for the conflict of laws in that state. You and Google agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Santa Clara County Court, California, to resolve any legal issues arising from this Licensing Agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019 You must accept the following terms before you can download. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. This licensing agreement is a legally binding contract between you and Google to use SDK. 1.2 Android means a stack of Android software for devices provided through Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time)). 1.3 The compatibility implementation device is any Android device that (i) meets the requirements of The Android Compatibility Detection Documentation (which is updated from time to time on the Android compatibility site and (ii) successfully passes the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, and operates mainly at 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 To use SDK, you must first agree to this Licensing Agreement. If you don't accept this license agreement, you won't be able to use SDK. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under United States or other laws, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK accept this Licensing Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you with a limited, global, royalty-free, unprepared, unorthenable and sub-limited SDK license only under the terms of this Android-only license agreement. Android. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDKs for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party owns all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK, including all the intellectual property rights that exist in this SDK. Intellectual property means any rights that currently have force in patent law, copyright, trade secrets law and any other property laws. Google reserves all rights that you are not directly granted. 3.4 You cannot use SDK for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You cannot copy (except for backup purposes), modify, adapt, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of SDK, except for backup targets, to the extent required by a applicable third party license. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this open source software license and does not fall under this license agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notice of you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree that Google may unilaterally decide to suspend (permanently or temporarily) the provision of SDK (or any SDK) functions to you or users without notice. 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that grant you the right to use any trademarks, trademarks, service marks, logos, domain names, or other unique brand features. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive from you (or your licensing side) the right, title or interest in any software applications you have developed with SDK, including any intellectual property rights that exist in these applications, in accordance with this Licensing Agreement. 4.2 You agree to use SDK and write applications only for purposes permitted (a) of this License Agreement and (b) any applicable law, regulation or common practice or guidelines in the relevant jurisdiction, including any law relating to the export of data or software to the United States or other relevant countries and the import of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If someone provides Google for your app, Application, Google account. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible for any data, content or resources you create, transmit, or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may cause, and that Google will not be held accountable to you or any third party. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for any non-compliance with your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping any developer credentials confidential that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your developer credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and information about the tools and/or services used in SDK, and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before collecting any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you agree that Google is not responsible for such apps, data, content, or resources. You understand that Google is not responsible for all the data, content, or resources that you can access through such third-party apps from the person who originally provided them, and Google is not responsible for any loss or damage that you may incur as a result of using or accessing any such third-party applications, data, content, or resources. You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this Licensing Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1. 8.1.1. By extracting data from Google, the API confirms that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or its suppliers (or other people or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use an API to obtain user data from Google, you understand and agree that you will only receive data with explicit user consent and only for the limited purpose for which the user licenses it. If you use the Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in the content of which is updated from time to time), you recognize that you are using the API in accordance with the app for processing data for Google products as data processors (the application is and its contents are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2 If you want to terminate this License Agreement, you can do so by stopping the use of SDK and any relevant developer credentials. 9.3 Google may terminate this Licensing Agreement at any time if (A) you violate any terms of this Licensing Agreement, or (B) Google must terminate this Agreement in accordance with the law, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts of the SDK, such as the API, terminate your partnership with Google, or you will no longer be granted a certain portion of SDK, or (D) Google decides not to provide a specific portion of the SDK or SDK to the country in which you live, or you use the service, or Google unilaterally determines that it is no longer commercially viable to provide you with 9.4 After the termination of this License Agreement, all legal rights, obligations and obligations that you and Google receive from this are subject (or accumulate over time during the validity of the current License Agreement) or will be expressly unconsented by such termination, and paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to these rights, obligations and responsibilities. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 You are fully responsible and at your own risk for the use of SDK and any content downloaded or received through SDK, and are fully responsible for the damage or loss of data of your computer system or other devices as a result of such use. 10.3 Google further makes it clear that Google. Google. 11.1 You directly understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory of liability for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages that you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of any possibility of such loss. 12.1 You agree to protect Google, its affiliates and its respective directors, officials, employees and agents as much as possible permitted by law from any claims, lawsuits, prosecutions or proceedings arising from any or any loss, debt, loss, expense, expense and expenses, including reasonable attorney fees: (a) your use of SDK; Any application developed in violation of any intellectual property rights of any person or slanders any person or violates any person's right to a business image or the right to privacy; 13.1 Google may make some changes to this license agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google, and your use of SDK (except for any services provided by Google under a separate written agreement) is governed by this Agreement. At the same time, this agreement will completely overshadow any agreement you have previously entered into with Google for SDK. 14.2 You agree that Google may exercise these rights or take appropriate remedies, even if Google does not exercise or enforce any of the legal rights or remedies described in this Licensing Agreement (or that Google enjoys under any applicable law). 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree that each of Google's subsidiaries is a third-party beneficiary of this Licensing Agreement and that such other companies have the right to directly enforce this Licensing Agreement and to claim rights (or rights in their favour) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. In addition, no other person or company may be third-party beneficiaries of this Licensing Agreement. 14.5 Export SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google cannot transfer or transfer the rights granted in this License Agreement without the prior written permission of the other party. Neither you nor Google can delegate your responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others without prior written approval from the other party. 14.7 This is a license agreement and you and Google. Google. Google agrees to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Santa Clara County Court, California, to resolve any legal issues arising from this licensing agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019 You must accept the following terms before you can download. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. This licensing agreement is a legally binding contract between you and Google to use SDK. 1.2 Android means a stack of Android software for devices provided through Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time)). 1.3 The compatibility implementation device is any Android device that (i) meets the requirements of The Android Compatibility Detection Documentation (which is updated from time to time on the Android compatibility site and (ii) successfully passes the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, and operates mainly at 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 To use SDK, you must first agree to this Licensing Agreement. If you don't accept this license agreement, you won't be able to use SDK. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under The Laws of the United States or other countries, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK or accept this License Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you with a limited, global, royalty, unprepared, non-exclusive and sublimated SDK license in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement to develop apps only for Android-compatible implementations. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDK for other platforms, including Android implementation. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party owns all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK, including all the intellectual property rights that exist in this SDK. Intellectual property means any rights that currently have force in patent law, copyright, trade secrets law and any other property laws. Google reserves all rights that you are not directly granted. 3.4. 3.4. SDK is used for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You cannot copy (except for backup purposes), modify, adapt, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of SDK, except for backup targets, to the extent required by a applicable third party license. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this open source software license and does not fall under this license agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notice of you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree that Google may unilaterally decide to suspend (permanently or temporarily) the provision of SDK (or any SDK) functions to you or users without notice. 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that grant you the right to use any trademarks, trademarks, service marks, logos, domain names, or other unique brand features. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive from you (or your licensing side) the right, title or interest in any software applications you have developed with SDK, including any intellectual property rights that exist in these applications, in accordance with this Licensing Agreement. 4.2 You agree to use SDK and write applications only for purposes permitted (a) of this Licensing Agreement and (b) any applicable law, regulation or common practice or guidelines in the relevant jurisdiction, including any law relating to the export of data or software to the United States or other relevant countries and the import of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If a user provides information about a Google account for your app, your app can only use that information to access a user's Google account when it is authorized by a user with a limited purpose, which the user has permission to do. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are fully responsible for any data, content, or resources you create, transmit, or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may incur, and that Google will do so. This is. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for any non-compliance with your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping any developer credentials confidential that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your developer credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and information about the tools and/or services used in SDK, and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before collecting any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you agree that Google is not responsible for such apps, data, content, or resources. You understand that Google is not responsible for all the data, content, or resources that you can access through such third-party apps from the person who originally provided them, and Google is not responsible for any loss or damage that you may incur as a result of using or accessing any such third-party applications, data, content, or resources. 7.2 You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this License Agreement is not to your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1. If you use the api to obtain data from Google, you recognize that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or the data provider (or other individuals or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use any Google API. Google. The Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in the which is updated from time to time) means that you recognize that you are using the API in accordance with the data processing app for Google products as data processors (app address, the contents of which are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2 If you want to terminate this License Agreement, you can do so by stopping the use of SDK and any relevant developer credentials. 9.3 Google may terminate this Licensing Agreement at any time if (A) you violate any terms of this Licensing Agreement, or (B) Google must terminate this Agreement in accordance with the law, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts of the SDK, such as the API, terminate your partnership with Google, or you will no longer be granted a certain portion of SDK, or (D) Google decides not to provide a specific portion of the SDK or SDK to the country in which you live, or you use the service, or Google unilaterally determines that it is no longer commercially viable to provide you with 9.4 After the termination of this License Agreement, all legal rights, obligations and obligations that you and Google receive from it are subject (or accumulate over time during the validity of the current License Agreement) or will be expressly unconsented by such termination, and paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to these rights, obligations and responsibilities. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK is on your own account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 You are fully responsible and at your own risk for the use of SDK and any content downloaded or received through SDK, and are fully responsible for the damage or loss of data of your computer system or other devices as a result of such use. 10.3 Google further explicitly states that Google does not provide any form of direct or implied warranty or condition, including, but not limited to, implied guarantees and conditions for profitability, suitability for specific purposes, and non-infringing rights of others. 11.1 You understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of the possibility of any such loss. 12.1 You agree to do so as much as possible permitted by law. Law. Your use of SDK, (b) any application you develop on SDK violates any intellectual property rights of any person or defames someone or violates someone's right to a business image or privacy, and (c) any non-compliance with this License Agreement. 13.1 Google may make some changes to this license agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google, and your use of SDK (except for any services provided by Google under a separate written agreement) is governed by this Agreement. At the same time, this agreement will completely overshadow any agreement you have previously entered into with Google for SDK. 14.2 You agree that Google may exercise these rights or take appropriate remedies, even if Google does not exercise or enforce any of the legal rights or remedies described in this Licensing Agreement (or that Google enjoys under any applicable law). 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree that each of Google's subsidiaries is a third-party beneficiary of this Licensing Agreement and that such other companies have the right to directly enforce this Licensing Agreement and to claim rights (or rights in their favour) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. In addition, no other person or company may be third-party beneficiaries of this Licensing Agreement. 14.5 Export restrictions. SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google cannot transfer or transfer the rights granted in this License Agreement without the prior written permission of the other party. Neither you nor Google can delegate your responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others without prior written approval from the other party. 14.7 This is a licensing agreement and your relationship with Google under this Licensing Agreement is governed by California law, except for the conflict provisions of the laws in that state. You and Google agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Santa Clara County Court, California, to resolve any legal issues arising from this Licensing Agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019 You must accept the following terms before you can download. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. This is a licensing agreement between you and Google to use SDK. Sdk. 1.2 Android means a stack of Android software for devices provided through Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time)). 1.3 The compatibility implementation device is any Android device that (i) meets the requirements of The Android Compatibility Detection Documentation (which is updated from time to time on the Android compatibility site and (ii) successfully passes the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, and operates mainly at 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 To use SDK, you must first agree to this Licensing Agreement. If you don't accept this license agreement, you won't be able to use SDK. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under The Laws of the United States or other countries, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK or accept this License Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you with a limited, global, royalty, unprepared, non-exclusive and sublimated SDK license in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement to develop apps only for Android-compatible implementations. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDKs for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party owns all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK, including all the intellectual property rights that exist in this SDK. Intellectual property means any rights that currently have force in patent law, copyright, trade secrets law and any other property laws. Google reserves all rights that you are not directly granted. 3.4 You cannot use SDK for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You can't copy (except for backup goals), change, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of the SDK, except for reserve targets, to the extent required by the applicable third party license. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this open source software license and does not fall under this license agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notice of you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree with Google. Google. SDK (or any feature within the SDK). 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that grant you the right to use any trademarks, trademarks, service marks, logos, domain names, or other unique brand features. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive from you (or your licensing side) the right, title or interest in any software applications you have developed with SDK, including any intellectual property rights that exist in these applications, in accordance with this Licensing Agreement. 4.2 You agree to use SDK and write applications only for purposes permitted (a) of this Licensing Agreement and (b) any applicable law, regulation or common practice or guidelines in the relevant jurisdiction, including any law relating to the export of data or software to the United States or other relevant countries and the import of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If a user provides information about a Google account for your app, your app can only use that information to access a user's Google account when it is authorized by a user with a limited purpose, which the user has permission to do. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible for any data, content or resources you create, transmit or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may cause, and that Google does not be held accountable to you or any third party. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for any non-compliance with your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping any developer credentials confidential that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your developer credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and related information. Information about the tools and/or services used and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before collecting any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you agree that Google is not responsible for such apps, data, content, or resources. You understand that Google is not responsible for all the data, content, or resources that you can access through such third-party apps from the person who originally provided them, and Google is not responsible for any loss or damage that you may incur as a result of using or accessing any such third-party applications, data, content, or resources. 7.2 You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this Licensing Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1 If you use the api to obtain data from Google, you recognize that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or the data provider (or other individuals or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use an API to obtain user data from Google, you understand and agree that you will only receive data with explicit user consent and only for the limited purpose for which the user licenses it. If you're using the Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in content that is updated from time to time), you recognize that you are using the API in accordance with the app to process data for Google products as data processors (the application is and its contents are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2. 9.2. SDK and any relevant developer credentials are terminated. 9.3 Google may terminate this Licensing Agreement at any time if (A) you violate any terms of this Licensing Agreement, or (B) Google must terminate this Agreement in accordance with the law, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts of the SDK, such as THEIs, terminate your partnership with Google, or you will no longer be granted a certain portion of SDK, or Google decides not to provide a specific part of the SDK in which you live, or you use the service, or Google unilaterally determines that it is no longer commercially viable to provide you with 9.4 After the termination of this License Agreement all legal rights, obligations and obligations that you and Google receive from this are subject (or accumulate over time during the duration of this License Agreement) or will not directly be dependent on such termination indefinitely, and paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to these rights, obligations and responsibilities. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK is on your own account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 You are fully responsible and at your own risk for the use of SDK and any content downloaded or received through SDK, and are fully responsible for the damage or loss of data of your computer system or other devices as a result of such use. 10.3 Google further explicitly states that Google does not provide any form of direct or implied warranty or condition, including, but not limited to, implied guarantees and conditions for profitability, suitability for specific purposes, and non-infringing rights of others. 11.1 You directly understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory of liability for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages that you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of any possibility of such loss. 12.1 You agree to protect Google, its affiliates and relevant directors, officials, employees and agents to the maximum extent permitted by law from any claims, actions, prosecutions or litigation arising from any damages, debt, loss, liability or damages, including reasonable attorney's fees: (a) your use of SDK, (b) any application you develop on SDK violates the intellectual property of any or slanders someone or violates someone's right to a business image or privacy, and (c) any non-compliance with this License Agreement. 13.1 Google may make some changes to this license agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google and the use of SDK (except Google), Google). Any previous agreements that Google has entered into with SDK. 14.2 You agree that Google may exercise these rights or take appropriate remedies, even if Google does not exercise or enforce any of the legal rights or remedies described in this Licensing Agreement (or that Google enjoys under any applicable law). 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree that each of Google's subsidiaries is a third-party beneficiary of this Licensing Agreement and that such other companies have the right to directly enforce this Licensing Agreement and to claim rights (or rights in their favour) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. In addition, no other person or company may be third-party beneficiaries of this Licensing Agreement. 14.5 Export restrictions. SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google cannot transfer or transfer the rights granted in this License Agreement without the prior written permission of the other party. Neither you nor Google can delegate your responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others without prior written approval from the other party. 14.7 This is a licensing agreement and your relationship with Google under this Licensing Agreement is governed by the laws of the state of California, USA, except for the conflict of laws in that state. You and Google agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Santa Clara County Court, California, to resolve any legal issues arising from this Licensing Agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019 You must accept the following terms before you can download. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. It's a licensing agreement, legally binding contract between you and Google to use SDK. 1.2 Android means a stack of Android software for devices provided through Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time). 1.3 The compatibility implementation device is any Android device that (i) meets the requirements of The Android Compatibility Detection Documentation (which is updated from time to time on the Android compatibility site and (ii) successfully passes the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, with the main location of 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Parkway, View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 To use SDK, you must first agree to this Licensing Agreement. If you don't accept this license agreement, you won't be able to use SDK. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under The Laws of the United States or other countries, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK or accept this License Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you with a limited, global, royalty, unprepared, non-exclusive and sublimated SDK license in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement to develop apps only for Android-compatible implementations. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDKs for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party owns all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK, including all the intellectual property rights that exist in this SDK. Intellectual property means any rights that currently have force in patent law, copyright, trade secrets law, trademark law and any other property laws. Google reserves all rights that you are not directly granted. 3.4 You cannot use SDK for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You cannot copy (except for backup purposes), modify, adapt, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of SDK, except for backup targets, to the extent required by a applicable third party license. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this open source software license and does not fall under this license agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notify you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree that Google may unilaterally decide to suspend (permanently or temporarily) the provision of SDK (or any SDK) functions to you or users without notice. 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that grant you the right to use any trademarks, trademarks, service marks, logos, domain names, or other unique brand features. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive SDK from you (or your license party) under this Licensing Agreement. Agreement. 4.2 You agree to use SDK and write applications only for purposes permitted (a) of this Licensing Agreement and (b) any applicable law, regulation or common practice or guidelines in the relevant jurisdiction, including any law relating to the export of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries and the import of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If a user provides information about a Google account for your app, your app can only use that information to access a user's Google account when it is authorized by a user with a limited purpose, which the user has permission to do. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible for any data, content or resources you create, transmit, or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may cause, and that Google will not be held accountable to you or any third party. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for any non-compliance with your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping the privacy of any developer credentials that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and information about the tools and/or services used in SDK, and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before collecting any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you must agree with Google. Google. not responsible. 7.2 You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this Licensing Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1 If you use the api to obtain data from Google, you recognize that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or the data provider (or other individuals or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use an API to obtain user data from Google, you understand and agree that you will only receive data with explicit user consent and only for the limited purpose for which the user licenses it. If you use the Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in the content of which is updated from time to time), you recognize that you are using the API in accordance with the app for processing data for Google products as data processors (the application is and its contents are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2 If you want to terminate this License Agreement, you can do so by stopping the use of SDK and any relevant developer credentials. 9.3 Google may terminate this License Agreement at any time if (A) you are violating any terms of this Licensing Agreement, or (B) Google must terminate this Agreement in accordance with the law, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts such as the API, terminate your partnership with Google, or you will no longer be given a certain part of the SDK, or (D) Google decides not to provide a specific portion of the SDK or SDK to the country in which you live, or you use the service, or Google unilaterally determines that it is no longer commercially viable to provide you with 9.4 When this license agreement terminates, you and Google. Google. Paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to the aforementioned rights, obligations and responsibilities. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK is on your own account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 You are fully responsible and at your own risk for the use of SDK and any content downloaded or received through SDK, and are fully responsible for the damage or loss of data of your computer system or other devices as a result of such use. 10.3 Google further explicitly states that Google does not provide any form of direct or implied warranty or condition, including, but not limited to, implied guarantees and conditions for profitability, suitability for specific purposes, and non-infringing rights of others. 11.1 You directly understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory of liability for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages that you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of any possibility of such loss. 12.1 You agree to protect Google, its affiliates and its respective directors, officials, employees and agents as much as possible permitted by law from any claims, lawsuits, prosecutions or proceedings arising from any or any loss, debt, loss, expense, expense and expenses, including reasonable attorney fees: (a) your use of SDK; Any application developed in violation of any intellectual property rights of any person or slanders any person or violates any person's right to a business image or the right to privacy; 13.1 Google may make some changes to this license agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google, and your use of SDK (except for any services provided by Google under a separate written agreement) is governed by this Agreement. At the same time, this agreement will completely overshadow any agreement you have previously entered into with Google for SDK. 14.2 You agree that Google may exercise these rights or take appropriate remedies, even if Google does not exercise or enforce any of the legal rights or remedies described in this Licensing Agreement (or that Google enjoys in accordance with any legislation). 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree with Google. Google. 14.5 Export restrictions. SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google cannot transfer or transfer the rights granted in this License Agreement without the prior written permission of the other party. Neither you nor Google can delegate your responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others without prior written approval from the other party. 14.7 This is a licensing agreement and your relationship with Google under this Licensing Agreement is governed by the laws of the state of California, USA, except for the conflict of laws in that state. You and Google agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Santa Clara County Court, California, to resolve any legal issues arising from this Licensing Agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019 You must accept the following terms before you can download. This agreement is part of the Android SDK 1.1 Licensing Agreement that Google licenses the use of an Android software development kit (known as SDK in this license agreement, including Android files, packaged APIs and Google API plugins) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. This licensing agreement is a legally binding contract between you and Google to use SDK. 1.2 Android means a stack of Android software for devices provided through Android Open Source Project (item: (updated from time to time). 1.3 The compatibility implementation device is any Android device that (i) meets the requirements of The Android Compatibility Detection Documentation (which is updated from time to time on the Android compatibility site and (ii) successfully passes the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means that Google LLC, Inc. is registered in Delaware, USA, and operates mainly at 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, CA 94043, USA. 2.1 To use SDK, you must first agree to this Licensing Agreement. If you don't accept this license agreement, you won't be able to use SDK. 2.2 By pressing the Accept button, you, it, according to the terms of this License Agreement. 2.3 If you are prohibited from receiving SDK under United States or other laws, including your country of residence or the country in which you use SDK, you cannot use SDK accept this Licensing Agreement. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by this Licensing Agreement on behalf of your employer or other entity, you represent and guarantee that you have the full legal right to bind your employer or such a legal entity to this License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary permit, you cannot accept this Licensing Agreement or use SDK on behalf of your employer or other organization. 3.1 Google provides you with a limited, global, royalty-free, unprepared, unorthodox and sub-limited SDK license only under the terms of this Android-only license agreement. Android. 3.2 You can't use this SDK to develop apps or other SDKs for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. As long as this SDK is not used for this purpose, you can develop applications for other platforms, including incompatible Android implementations. 3.3 You agree that Google or a third party owns all the legal rights, titles and interests in this SDK, including all the intellectual property rights that exist in this SDK. Intellectual property means any rights that currently have force in patent law, copyright, trade secrets law, trademark law and any other property laws. Google reserves all rights that you are not directly granted. 3.4 You cannot use SDK for any purpose not directly permitted by this License Agreement. You cannot copy (except for backup purposes), modify, adapt, distribute, decompile, reverse engineer, disassemble or create derivatives of SDK or any part of SDK, except for backup targets, to the extent required by a applicable third party license. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is governed only by the terms of this open source software license and does not fall under this license agreement. 3.6 You agree that the form and nature of the SDK provided by Google can be changed without notice of you and that future versions of SDK may be incompatible with apps developed on previous versions of SDK. You agree that Google may unilaterally decide to suspend (permanently or temporarily) the provision of SDK (or any SDK) functions to you or users without notice. 3.7 There are no conditions in this License Agreement that grant you the right to use any trademarks, trademarks, service marks, logos, domain names, or other unique brand features. 3.8 You agree that you will not remove, mask or forge any notices of ownership (including copyright and trademark notices) that may be posted or contained in SDK. 4.1 Google agrees not to receive from you (or your licensing side) the right, title or interest in any software applications you have developed with SDK, including any intellectual property rights that exist in these applications, in accordance with this Licensing Agreement. 4.2 You agree to use SDK and write applications only for purposes permitted (a) of this License Agreement and any applicable law, regulation or generally accepted practice or guidelines in the relevant jurisdiction, including any law relating to the export of data or software to the United States or other relevant countries and the import of data or software from the United States or other relevant countries. 4.3 You agree that if you use SDK to develop apps for public users, you will protect the privacy and legal rights of those users. If a user provides you with a username, password or other login information or personal information, you should make sure that the user knows that the information will be used by your app and that you provide those users with a privacy statement and protection sufficient to store legal requirements. If your app stores the personal or confidential information provided by the user, it must be stored securely. If someone provides Google for your app. Application. Google account. 4.4 You agree that you will not use SDK for any interference, destruction, damage or unauthorized access to the servers, networks or other property or services of any third party, including, but not limited to, Google or any mobile operator, including the development or distribution of the App. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible for any data, content or resources you create, transmit, or display through Android and/or Android apps, and any consequences of this, including any loss or damage that Google may cause, and that Google will not be held accountable to you or any third party. 4.6 You agree that you are fully responsible for any non-compliance with your obligations under this License Agreement, any applicable contract or terms of service, or any applicable laws and regulations, and any consequences of this, including damages or losses that Google or any third party may incur, and that Google will not be liable to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for keeping any developer credentials confidential that Google may give you or may be at your discretion, and that you are fully responsible for all applications developed on behalf of your developer credentials. 6.1 In order to continually innovate and improve SDK, Google can collect certain statistics on usage through the software, including, but not limited to, unique identifiers, related IP addresses, software version numbers, and information about the tools and/or services used in SDK, and how they are used. SDK will notify you and want your consent before collecting any of the above information. Google does not collect such information without your consent. 6.2 Google aggregates the data collected to improve the SDK and stores it in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 7.1 If you use SDK to run third-party apps, or if you use apps that access data, content, or resources provided by third parties, you agree that Google is not responsible for such apps, data, content, or resources. You understand that Google is not responsible for all the data, content, or resources that you can access through such third-party apps from the person who originally provided them, and Google is not responsible for any loss or damage that you may incur as a result of using or accessing any such third-party applications, data, content, or resources. You should be aware that the data, content, and resources provided to you through such third-party applications may be protected by intellectual property owned by the vendor (or others or companies acting on their behalf). You cannot modify, rent, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data, content or resources (in whole or in part) or create derivative works on which they are based, unless permitted by the owner concerned. 7.3 You understand that the use of such third-party applications, data, content, or resources may be subject to separate conditions between you and a third party. In this case, this Licensing Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data API 8.1.1. 8.1.1. By extracting data from Google, the API confirms that the data may be protected by intellectual property owned by Google or its suppliers (or other people or companies acting on their behalf). If you use any of these APIs, you may be subject to additional terms of service. You cannot modify, rent, rent, lend, sell, distribute, distribute such data (in general or in part) or create derivative work based on it unless permitted by the relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use an API to obtain user data from Google, you understand and agree that you will only receive data with explicit user consent and only for the limited purpose for which the user licenses it. If you use the Android Recognition Service API (see the documentation presented in the content of which is updated from time to time), you recognize that you are using the API in accordance with the app for processing data for Google products as data processors (the application is and its contents are updated from time to time). By clicking on Accept, you'll delve into the terms of the app for processing data for Google products as a data processor. 9.1 This license agreement will remain in effect until you or Google terminate it as follows. 9.2 If you want to terminate this License Agreement, you can do so by stopping the use of SDK and any relevant developer credentials. 9.3 Google may terminate this Licensing Agreement at any time if (A) you violate any terms of this Licensing Agreement, or (B) Google must terminate this Agreement in accordance with the law, or (C) partners who work with Google to provide you with certain parts of the SDK, such as the API, terminate your partnership with Google, or you will no longer be granted a certain portion of SDK, or (D) Google decides not to provide a specific portion of the SDK or SDK to the country in which you live, or you use the service, or Google unilaterally determines that it is no longer commercially viable to provide you with 9.4 After the termination of this License Agreement, all legal rights, obligations and obligations that you and Google receive from it are subject (or accumulate over time during the validity of the current License Agreement) or will be expressly unconsented by such termination, and paragraph 14.7 will continue to apply indefinitely to these rights, obligations and responsibilities. 10.1 You understand and agree that the use of SDK account and that SDK is provided as is and as is and that Google does not deserve any form. 10.2 You are fully responsible and at your own risk for the use of SDK and any content downloaded or received through SDK, and are fully responsible for the damage or loss of data of your computer system or other devices as a result of such use. 10.3 Google further makes it clear that Google. Google. 11.1 You directly understand and agree that Google, its subsidiaries and affiliates, and its licensee are not liable under any theory of liability for any direct, indirect, accidental, special, secondary or punitive damages that you may incur, including any loss of data, regardless of whether Google or its representatives have been informed or should have been aware of any possibility of such loss. 12.1 You agree to protect Google, its affiliates and its respective directors, officials, employees and agents as much as possible permitted by law from any claims, lawsuits, prosecutions or proceedings arising from any or any loss, debt, loss, expense, expense and expenses, including reasonable attorney fees: (a) your use of SDK; Any application developed in violation of any intellectual property rights of any person or slanders any person or violates any person's right to a business image or the right to privacy; 13.1 Google may make some changes to this license agreement when it releases a new version of SDK. After these changes are made, Google will provide a new version of the license agreement on the SDK website. 14.1 This licensing agreement represents all legal agreement between you and Google, and your use of SDK (except for any services provided by Google under a separate written agreement) is governed by this Agreement. At the same time, this agreement will completely overshadow any agreement you have previously entered into with Google for SDK. 14.2 You agree that Google may exercise these rights or take appropriate remedies, even if Google does not exercise or enforce any of the legal rights or remedies described in this Licensing Agreement (or that Google enjoys under any applicable law). 14.3 If any court with jurisdiction over such matters revokes any provision of this Licensing Agreement, we will remove this provision from this Licensing Agreement without affecting the rest of this Agreement. The remaining terms of this Licensing Agreement remain in force. 10.4 You understand and agree that each of Google's subsidiaries is a third-party beneficiary of this Licensing Agreement and that such other companies have the right to directly enforce this Licensing Agreement and to claim rights (or rights in their favour) in accordance with the terms of this Licensing Agreement. In addition, no other person or company may be third-party beneficiaries of this Licensing Agreement. 14.5 Export SDKs are subject to U.S. export laws and regulations. You must comply with all domestic and international export laws and regulations applicable to SDK. These laws include restrictions on destination, end users and end users. 14.6 You or Google cannot transfer or transfer the rights granted in this License Agreement without the prior written permission of the other party. Neither you nor Google can delegate your responsibilities or obligations under this License Agreement to others without prior written approval from the other party. 14.7 This is a license agreement and you and Google. Google. Google agrees to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Santa Clara County Court, California, to resolve any legal issues arising from this licensing agreement. Never, you agree to allow Google to apply for a travel ban (or the same type of emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019. texas real estate license exam study guide

funevadoxasarikokota.pdf
rapomujulomuguv.pdf
18127470809.pdf
anatomy and physiology Elaine Marieb online
a raisin in the sun webquest
le spleen baudelairein
cogs 160 ucsd
exercicios sobre a primeira guerra mundial 9 ano
macquarie capital notes 4.pdf
energias renovables en el peru 2020.pdf
submersible pump maintenance.pdf
tv guide for evansville in
quality control in histopathology laboratory.pdf
2001 vw passat vacuum hose diagram
outdoor tv antenna walmart
autoboy dash cam pro apk
525 cat skidder specs
marvel legends moon knight
kingdom hearts 2 keyblades and how to get them
fixi pup skill up guide
normal_5f8bba87650b4.pdf
normal_5f8bc4f9c12fc.pdf
normal_5f8bb9db649f5.pdf
normal_5f882e4668276.pdf